MORE MASSACRES AT ODESSA

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Odessa correspondent of the Standard, under date of November 5, sends further sensational accounts of the riots there. He says:

"There have been more horrifying massacres and fiendish cruelties, but the districts where they took place are now cordoned by troops. Probably the total killed will number 2,500 and the wounded 12,000. In the suburb of Moldovanka alone 1,000 victims remained in the streets from midnight until noon, when the authorities hastened to the scene and buried the bodies in great pits in order to conceal their numbers. Two private doctors attended more than 300 children of both sexes, who had been horribly gashed about the head and shoulders with sabers.

"Heaping insult on injury, the civil governor today, when the butchery had ended, asked the householders to subscribe $100,000 to pay the police increased wages."

A dispatch from Helsingfors, Finland, to the Reuters Telegram Company says that the strikers at Uleaborg and Kuopio have expelled the governors of those towns.

Massacres in Many Places.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—Fatal encounters between the soldiers and the populace and anti-Jewish excesses are reported from many places in the provinces. Yesterday and today at Kremenchug 20 persons were killed and 80 injured. At Kutais a military train was wrecked and nine soldiers were killed. After the collision the revolutionists opened a rifle fire on the train, and the troops replied in kind. There were several killed or injured on both sides.

At Berdicheff several persons were killed or injured, and at Minsk serious rioting arose through the troops preventing a meeting of citizens. The troops fired volleys into the crowds and there was intermittent firing for a long time. A hundred were killed and 600 wounded. Indescribable horrors are being witnessed every day. The massacre and pillage of the Jews continue at Kishineff.

Anti-semetic rioting is reported to be going on in Kherson, Ekaterinoslov, Vashkoff, Kainga, Ivanovo-Voznesensk, Moghileff, Kosletz and Uman. At Akkerman many were killed and at Rostoff-on-Don about 100 were killed or wounded. The Cossacks assisted in the pillaging. A delayed report from Daku, dated November 3, states that an Armenian having fired upon and thrown bombs at a patriotic demonstration, serious encounters and incendiarism followed, several persons being killed.

Funeral Demonstration Stopped.

Sunday happily passed in St. Petersburg without disorders or bloodshed. The Social Democrats and revolutionists had planned a mammoth demonstration in connection with the funerals of those killed in last week's riots, and it was intended to form gigantic processions representing the various industrial organizations in the suburbs, and, flying red flags, bear the bodies of the "martyrs" in state through the center of the city. These processions were to unite at the Kazan cathedral, where the passions of the crowd might be fired by revolutionary orators.

Late last night, however, when it became known that Gen. Trepoff would not permit a big demonstration threatening disorder, and that the mayor had issued a proclamation saying that the streets were no place for the airing of political grievances, the Socialist leaders called off their plans, declaring that they feared "this demonstration of the people was marked for slaughter, for which they were not prepared at present. The people will give battle when ready, not when Trepoff wants it."

Revolutionists Will Not Quit.

Accordingly the funerals were held in private and workmen attended memorial services in the various mills. Although the demonstration was formally abandoned, tens of thousands of spectators flocked to the Nevsky Prospect. The broad thoroughfare in front of the Kazan theater was blocked by a great crowd of people, but there was no attempt at disorders and no occasion for the use of the squads of Hussars, Cossacks and Cuirassiers held in reserve in the side streets.

The revolutionary leaders here anticipate a period of comparative quiet and speak of the great strike sympathy as a "maneuver" which forced autocracy to make concessions. "We haven't any intention of ending the fight now," said one of them today, "but will organize and arm the people for the final struggle.

SHOOTS DAUGHTER BY MISTAKE FOR THIEF

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Believing he was shooting at a burglar, Hayden R. Craft, a well-known hardware merchant of this place, killed his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Coddington, at their home in apartments over the hardware store in West Main street this morning. Mrs. Coddington and her husband, Charles Coddington, lived with the former's parents.

Mr. Coddington had been ill for the last four days with pneumonia, and at about 1:30 o'clock this morning the wife went to the kitchen to get him some ice. The door closed behind her and locked itself with a spring lock. She started back from the kitchen, and, finding she could not open the door, worked quietly at the lock so as not to arouse any of the other members of the family.

Her father, however, was awakened by the sound, and, going to the door, called twice. Receiving no response, he fired through the door with a 38-caliber revolver. Hearing a body fall on the other side of the door, Mr. Craft ran out into the street in his night clothes and across to the offices of the West Penn Railways Company, where he told Dispatcher Harry E. March he had shot a burglar.

March ran over with Craft to the latter's home and they opened the door leading to the kitchen. There lay Mrs. Coddington on the floor, unconscious, with blood oozing from a wound in the top of her forehead. The father was completely prostrated and fell to the floor, exclaiming, "My God, I have killed my daughter."

Physicians were summoned at once, but it was quickly found nothing could be done for the wounded woman, and she died at 3:15 o'clock without speaking. She would have been 20 years of age this month.

SELECTING SITES FOR CANAL FORTIFICATIONS

Secretary Taft Examines Locations at Panama and One Point Is Chosen.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PANAMA, Nov. 5.—The United States secretary of war, Mr. Taft, accompanied by Col. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs; Lieut.-Col. William M. Black and Lieut. Mark Brooke have examined the location for fortifications at the Pacific terminal of the canal. The Associated Press is informed that the small foothill at Ancon is the point selected.

Regarding the fortifications of an island in Panama bay to protect the canal entrance it was decided to do nothing until the canal is finished.

START FIGHT OF THEIR OWN.

Poles and Russians in Chicago Get Into Murderous Fray Over the Czar's Manifesto.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Frank Youngshek today was probably fatally shot, and four other persons were stabbed during a fight brought about by a discussion of the revolution in Russia. Several Poles and Russians argued over the merits of the czar's manifesto; two of the men defending the government and the other three declaring a republic was the only solution of the question.

During the argument one of the Poles drew a revolver and commenced shooting. The first shot struck Youngshek in the abdomen and as the wounded man fell to the floor the other four men engaged in a general fight.

FALLING WALLS CRUSH THREE CHILDREN

Explosion Wrecks Bank Just as They Are Passing on the Way from Church.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ISHPEMING, MICH., Nov. 5.—Three children are dead and 13 people are injured, one fatally, as the result of an explosion here today, which completely destroyed the Miners National bank.

The dead are: Steven Goodman, aged 12 years; Alice Medico, aged 10 years, and Edward McGrath, aged 12 years.

A gas leakage in the basement of the bank building was primarily responsible for the explosion and loss of life. Gas was detected coming from the building and two workmen went into the basement about 2 o'clock with lighted candles to investigate. The flame evidently ignited the gas in the basement, for a tremendous explosion followed.

The two workmen were blown through a basement window and landed uninjured in an open box car standing on a nearby track. The building was completely wrecked. The three children killed were passing the building on their way from church, and were caught in the falling debris.

All the teams in the city were summoned to the scene and the work of moving the huge piles of debris and extricating those under them was rushed. The explosion broke windows in many stores in the business district and scattered the papers and documents of the bank for blocks around.

Dies on a Train.

UNIONTOWN, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Stefan Rieo, who was on his way from Allegheny to New Salem, died last night on a Baltimore & Ohio railroad train as it arrived in Uniontown. Death was due to apoplexy.

Fatally Burned by Bonfire.

OIL CITY, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. John Landis, 35 years old, was probably fatally burned last night while destroying rubbish. She set a match to the pile and the flames ignited her clothes.

GANG'S TICKET WILL BE SENT TO DEFEAT AT POLLS

Republicans Are Certain of a Great Victory Tomorrow.

WAGER THOUSANDS

LAWLESS ELEMENT AT WORK

It would be impossible for the Republicans to display more confidence in their ability to win this election than they were showing yesterday. Today thousands of dollars will be offered to back their opinions. So far the Citizens have been refusing to make bets, while they chatter about silly predictions of carrying Pittsburgh by a majority of 10,000.

Last night Daniel Olmstead, proprietor of the Antler hotel, announced that he had received a certified check for $10,000 from a Republican. He is authorized to wager the money that the Citizens-Democratic ticket will not be elected. The judge and the candidate for director of the poor are not included in the bet. Mr. Olmstead says he is not at liberty to give the name of the Republican depositing the money with him.

There was no change made in the Republican figures yesterday. They say the whole Republican ticket will be elected. The Democrats had no claims to put out. Director Bigelow placed the fusion majority in Pittsburgh at 10,000, but knew he was joking when he made the statement.

Lincoln Party Vote.

William H. Stevenson says he has been receiving reports from all parts of the county about the strength of the Lincoln party. "Ten wards in Pittsburgh," said he, "will give the Lincoln ticket 6,000 votes. The balance of the wards will add at least 1,500 more. In Allegheny the poll will be about 3,000. From what I have learned the balance of the county will cast 4,500 votes in the Lincoln column. The lowest estimate I give in the county is 15,000, and the total may run to 25,000."

The Republican county candidates are in the Lincoln column. The column is headed by William H. Berry. The Citizens yesterday put out posters advising their supporters to vote in the Democratic column. Privately the orders are to vote wherever they can make a deal to get votes in return for Cunningham, O'Neil and Dempster. James A. Clark, the Democratic candidate for county commissioner, is making his fight to beat Dempster. His friends have raised a pool to wager today that he will defeat Dempster.

Reign of Lawlessness.

Nothing in the way of corruption and lawlessness will be left undone by the fusionists. The police forces and the lawless elements in Pittsburgh and Allegheny have orders to exceed all limits tomorrow in assisting to roll up a big illegal majority for the gang's ticket. It is a life and death struggle with the men who have the two municipalities by the throat. They will use any kind of tactics to jam through their candidates, or some of them.

In the first 17 wards of the city and in many parts of Allegheny, the police and thugs have orders to prevent people who are not for the gang from voting. Fusionists were last night bragging that the police and tough element would be worked to greater advantage this time than ever before. Republican workers and voters will be arrested on imaginary

MARRON'S CHARGES ARE ALL DENIED BY J. I. SHAW

He Makes a Statement Covering All the Allegations Made Saturday Night.

John I. Shaw, who was attacked by John Marron in a speech delivered in the Old City hall Democratic meeting Saturday night, yesterday gave out a complete denial of the charges made by the speaker.

"I am unable to understand why Marron made this attack," said Shaw. "The statements credited to him concerning me are untrue. It would have been easy for him to have ascertained this before he made his speech.

"Marron asks the Mortgage Banking Company to tell what connection there was between the deposit of $200,000 of state funds in the bank and the election of Shaw to the presidency. The bank had state deposits before I was elected president or before even there was a thought of my election. During my term as president the Mortgage Banking Company did not receive a state deposit of $200,000, or any sum approaching that figure.

"Marron said that Shaw and a syndicate of two other men have for 16 months distributed the state's funds in the banks of this city. This is the first intimation that I ever had that a syndicate was handling state money. The charge, so far as I am concerned, is an absolute falsehood. It is also false to say that two politicians or any other persons ever came to me from the state treasurer to assist them in getting a state deposit. During a period of 10 years I have been instrumental in assisting four banks to secure small deposits. One of those deposits was gotten for a bank in which Homer L. Castle was interested financially. I am surprised that Castle has been traveling over this state telling lies about me. I have always been assured by him of his great friendship for me.

"Marron said that at the time the Mortgage company was formed and received its state deposit two state officials had 100 shares of stock made out to them. This is false. I presume he refers to ex-Treasurer Frank G. Harris and ex-Auditor General E. B. Hardenbergh. They did not become stockholders when the Mortgage Banking Company was formed and they were not officials of the state when they did secure stock. It was three or four months after their terms had expired that they bought some stock in the bank. They paid the cold cash for every share they purchased.

"I see that I am also charged with having a note with Senator Boise Penrose in the Enterprise bank for $75,000. There is no more truth in that statement than there is in the other lies they are telling. I never made out a note to Penrose or any other man in this state or any other state for $75,000.

"I am not in politics and have not been for some years. For two terms I represented the people of the Seventh legislative district in the legislature. I would refer my critics to the residents of that district to learn whether I ever misrepresented my constituents."

SLASHES THE BIG DRUM.

Millionaire Cuts Salvation Army's Instrument Into Ribbons and Angry Crowd Pursues Him.

A big crowd of promenaders, gathered to hear the Salvationists sing and preach, resented the action and started after Adams to wreak summary vengeance, and the police were needed to calm the crowd and allow the man to escape. A warrant charging the millionaire with malicious mischief is to be sworn out by the officials of the army tomorrow.

FAVORS NINE-FOOT CHANNEL FOR THE OHIO

Gen. MacKenzie's Report Virtually Indorses the Canalization Project.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Gen. MacKenzie, chief of the United States engineers, in his annual report, calls attention to the importance of a general plan for the improvement of the Ohio river from Pittsburgh to Cairo. He does not go as far as recommending the canalization of the river to the depth of nine feet, but does insist that a nine-foot channel is of very little benefit unless it extends the entire length of the river. In discussing the need of more dredges and snagboats, the general says:

"The nature of the Ohio river is such that its improvement, whether by canalization or open channel, cannot bring full benefit to navigation interests until the improvement shall become more continuous than the past appropriations have permitted. The unimproved portions afford less depth of channel than the improved sections and limit the available draft for the whole river to that required by passing the shoalest parts."

When it is understood that Gen. MacKenzie prepared his report under instructions from Secretary Taft that he should not recommend any new projects his report can virtually be taken as an indorsement of the nine-foot channel from Pittsburgh to Cairo. His statements are in line with the arguments of the advocates of the canalization of the river and seem to indicate a friendly attitude on the part of the government engineers to the proposed improvement.

Continuing his argument for a general improvement of the river, the chief engineer says: "Dredging and snagging operations will be required in many places, even should a more or less complete system of canalization be finally adopted, and for open channel improvement continuous work and simultaneous operations will be absolutely necessary to produce effective results. The government plant should be largely increased in order that any great amount of work may be accomplished during the comparative short period to which effective operations must be limited each year on account of unfavorable river conditions."

MILITIA HAVE PITCHED BATTLE WITH OUTLAWS

Fight in Kentucky Lasts for Two Hours, Two Soldiers Wounded and Two Are Missing.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MIDDLEBORO, KY., Nov. 5.—As the result of a pitched battle this afternoon between a company of state guards and Frank Ball's outlaw band, two soldiers were seriously wounded, two reported missing and Shelby Ball, a brother of the now notorious ex-politician and recent Republican candidate for sheriff, seriously wounded.

Since 6 o'clock the soldiers have been coming into town, fighting as they retreated. The battle, conducted from behind boulders and trees, lasted nearly two hours.

Another attack is to be made tonight. The wires have been cut to Cumberland Gap by the outlaws. Gov. Beckham has been asked to send more soldiers, as the local militiamen are worn out by constant duty of the past three days.

Old River Boat Burns.

WHEELING, W. VA., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The Grace Virginia, plying between New Matamoras, O., and Friendly, W. Va., burned this morning. The boat was one of the oldest in use on the Ohio river, but was in good condition, and was valued at $6,000, partially insured.

Former Crafton Man Fatally Injured.

SUSAN GEARY'S HEAD IS FOUND ON BOTTOM OF BOSTON HARBOR

Gruesome Evidence of Tragedy In Almost Complete Preservation and Easily Recognizable as That of the Chorus Girl.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 5.—Perfectly recognizable and in almost complete preservation, the head of Susan Geary, the victim of the suit case tragedy, was recovered from Boston harbor at 5 o'clock this afternoon by a diver searching the bottom of the ferry path near the East Boston side.

Whatever doubts may have been raised heretofore that the pretty dancer from "The Shepherd King" company was the victim of the tragedy can now be legally allayed with this last gruesome exhibit in evidence.

As was detailed in the confessions of Howard and Crawford, the head was in a Gladstone bag and weighted with shot, the satchel being the same the girl bought a few weeks before to take with her upon the road. It was dragged to the surface very near the point where Crawford and Howard said they dropped it from the stern of an East Boston ferryboat.

Superintendent Pierce of the Boston police, who took charge of the head, stated that there is absolutely no doubt it is that of Miss Geary. Like the torso and the limbs, it was wrapped in a piece of white oilcloth. It had been placed in the satchel face down, with the long, dark hair wrapped loosely around the neck. The drawn features, with the corners of the mouth pulled down hard, contributed to the confessions the fact that the girl died in terrible agony.

The head was taken to Fred Briggs' undertaking rooms, where the other parts of the body preceded it long ago, and will be viewed by the medical examiner in the morning. The girl's family will also probably be called upon to identify it.

The police today continued the search for Mary S. Dean, who is said to have had charge of the Roxbury home in which Miss Geary died after being removed from the Tremont street resort.

The hunt for the woman was without result, and it is believed she left the city as soon as she learned of the arrest of Crawford and Howard. Crawford and Howard will probably remain in New York for several days until the necessary papers for their extradition are approved by Gov. Higgins.

Morris Nathan, the lover of Miss Geary, will be arraigned in court tomorrow on a charge of abortion.

SUDDEN DEATH BY SECOND STROKE

PROMINENT AMONG LUTHERANS

Stricken in the pulpit eight years ago by paralysis, the Rev. John G. Goettman, D. D., pastor emeritus of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church of Allegheny and one of the most prominent ministers of the denomination in the country, died suddenly from a second stroke yesterday morning at 7:20 o'clock at his home, 108 West Stockton avenue, Allegheny.

Dr. Goettman suffered his first stroke while conducting services in St. John's Lutheran church, Forbes street, in May, 1897, and this terminated his labors as pastor of the Trinity church. He spent much of the time afterward at Atlantic City, but recently had been at home, and was able to attend services in the church where he was the active pastor for nearly 35 years. Trinity church developed under his pastorate into one of the most influential in the denomination.

Dr. Goettman was born in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, in 1838, and was graduated from the Gettysburg Theological seminary in 1861. His pastorate of Trinity church in Allegheny began in 1863. He was married to Miss Catherine Yeager, daughter of Christian Yeager, for years one of the leading merchants of Pittsburgh. His wife and daughter, Miss Bessie Goettman, survive him.

Dr. Goettman, during the years of his ministry, was active in charitable work in this city, was identified with many benevolent enterprises and was instrumental in establishing many new missions of the Lutheran church in this vicinity.

For many years Dr. Goettman was an important factor in the directorate of the Lutheran seminary at Gettysburg, was a trustee of the Pennsylvania college at Gettysburg and of the Orphans' home at Loysville. He was also a valued counsellor at the conventions of the general synod. He was intensely devoted to the doctrines and usages of the Evangelical Lutheran church. He possessed a disposition and character that endeared him to all classes of people.

After the regular services in the Trinity church last evening the trustees and the pastor, the Rev. Alonzo J. Turkle, made arrangements for the funeral of Dr. Goettman. Services will be held in the church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, and the body will lie in the church in state from 9 to 10 o'clock. The pastor will conduct the services. The interment will take place in Allegheny cemetery.

AUSTRIAN SOCIALISTS FIRE ON THE POLICE

Many Persons Are Wounded at Prague—Demonstration at Vienna.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PRAGUE, Nov. 5.—Thousands of Socialists held suffrage demonstrations this morning, leading to serious disorders which continued all day long. The morning gathering was at the Wenzels Platz and the crowds hooted and eventually fired on the police. After ineffectual attempts to clear the streets, it was found necessary to summon troops to disperse the mob.

Rioting was resumed in the afternoon. A barricade was erected by the demonstrators, which the troops stormed and destroyed. Mobs driven from one point constantly assembled at another. Rioting continued in the suburbs until late in the evening. The day's casualties were one killed, 47 severely and 180 slightly injured and 130 persons arrested. Fully 50,000 demonstrators took part in the disorders. Quiet has now been restored, and the authorities have resolved to resort to martial law if the disorders are resumed.

VIENNA, Nov. 5.—The Socialist suffragist demonstrations on the Ringstrasse today was attended by 50,000 persons. A strong force of gendarmes was stationed along the streets, but did not interfere with the demonstration, and the Socialists were even permitted to hoist red flags over the reichsrath building. There were no disorders whatever, and similar demonstrations are reported from Lemberg, Gratz, Klengenfurt, Bruenn and elsewhere.

The Neue Freie Presse states that Premier Gautch von Frankenthurn will introduce a universal suffrage bill at the reopening of the reichsrath.

As a result of the demonstrations today the university has been closed until further notice.

WARSHIPS TO BEGIN 18,000-MILE CRUISE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 5.—The British cruisers Scylla, Sappho and Latonia have each embarked 40 Newfoundland naval reservists, and the first two vessels have sailed for Halifax, where the Latonia will join them when the American fishery troubles at Bay of Islands subside. After that the three ships begin an 18,000-mile cruise, occupying six months, visiting West Indian, South American and Southwest African ports, to test their facilities for speedily coaling warships in an emergency.

Col. H. H. Prettyman Dead.

LONDON, O., Nov. 5.—Col. H. H. Prettyman of London died today at Milford, Del., where he went two weeks ago to visit a sister. Mr. Prettyman was a member of the staff of the late Gov. Bushnell and was known in political circles throughout Ohio.

FEAR OF DANGER FOR AMERICANS

Mr. Eddy Appeals to Russian Authorities to Protect Yankee Interests.

AMNESTY NOT SATISFACTORY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—From Riga Consul Bornholdt telegraphed Charge d'Affaires Eddy today that the situation was extremely serious; that considerable American interests were endangered, and demanded military protection. Mr. Eddy immediately saw Count Lamsdorff, the foreign minister, who promised to afford protection. Mr. Bornholdt later telegraphed that a military guard had been placed at the consulate.

A similar appeal arrived today from George R. Martin, the American consular agent at Rustof-On-Don, where also there are American interests. Mr. Eddy dispatched a note to the British, German and Austrian embassies and they are practically united in joint representations to which Count Lamsdorff and Gen. Trepoff promised that all foreign interests would be safeguarded.

Other dispatches received from Odessa say that the Cossacks and infantry fought a regular battle with Jews and revolutionaries, who were concealed in houses, and give the dead at 300 and the wounded as over 2,000.

Press accounts from Odessa give details of horrible atrocities committed. The tongues of Jews were torn out by the roots, nails were driven in the heads of living persons and others were rolled in spiked barrels, but these reports must be accepted with a large amount of caution.

Pillaged by Cossacks.

No authentic figures are available from Rostof-On-Don, but the dead are placed at hundreds, and it seems definitely established that the Cossacks participated in the pillage there.

The amnesty proclamation with its confused phraseology, which even lawyers in the assembly are unable to construe clearly, is not received here with full satisfaction on account of its limitations. The general cry from all quarters is for a declaration on broader lines, which, it is felt, cannot be long delayed.

Even the conservative Novoe Vremya, the government's supporter through thick and thin, calls for a more comprehensive proclamation on amnesty and declares that what was criminal before October 30 became admissable and even praiseworthy after the manifesto was issued, and say that it would be cruel and unjust to punish those who are fighting for it.

Other newspapers and associations speak in no less certain tones. The bureau of the League of Leagues, representing all classes and professions, tonight voices this demand in a formal resolution which was sent to all the papers in Russia for publication.

Though there are many elements in this political medley of Russia, they are without a word of gratitude or appreciation for the granting to the press of freedom. The immense importance of this weapon placed in the hands of the opponents of reaction is understood by all, and it is felt that with the power of an unhampered press behind the emancipation movement it will be impossible for the government ever to turn back from the path marked out by the manifesto and that the abolition of the censorship will guarantee the execution of the pledges of the emperor and Count Witte.

Still Suppressing Newspapers.

In spite of the promised freedom, however, dispatches from the interior report the suppression of journals in several places, even after the issuance of the ukase, notably at Warsaw, where all the papers were ordered suspended by the government. This has been brought to the attention of Count Witte, and it is expected that it will be speedily remedied, though the new premier probably will have trouble for some time to come with the independent local authorities, who, under the old regime, were accustomed to consider themselves little emperors, not responsible even to the government, whose edicts, as in the case of the manifesto regarding religious freedom, they executed or not at their discretion.

From all over Russia comes news of the release of political prisoners under the amnesty proclamation. There were many pitiful incidents connected with the reuniting of families here in St. Petersburg. A relief committee has been organized to furnish clothing and aid the poor wretches. The doors of the Bastile Spalernia, the detention prison on the Viborg side of the river, were opened at 6 o'clock tonight. Notwithstanding the hour and the darkness, several thousand persons congregated about the entrance. The authorities gave to each person released 20 cents to pay his cab fare and turned him loose.

The news of the coming release was known inside the prison walls on the previous night. One woman, as she was set free, shouted "Down with autocracy!" Another who was all ready for her release, but who at the last moment was informed that she did not come within the provisions of the amnesty proclamation, went into hysterics and fainted.

Painter Dies of Fall.

SHARON, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Andrew Mitchell, aged 20 years, was painting the open hearth building of the Carnegie Steel Company at South Sharon yesterday afternoon, when he fell 50 feet from a swing and alighted on his head. His skull was fractured and he died this morning.

Brakeman Dies of Injuries.

CONNELLSVILLE, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—George Decker, aged 28, a brakeman on the Monongahela railroad, died last night from injuries received in being run over by his train. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Decker of Connellsville, and is survived by his widow and baby.

GOTHAM IS IN THE POSSESSION OF A FRENZIED POLITICAL MOB

Mayor McClellan and Tammany Are Scornfully Defied and Hissed—Jerome's Election by an Overwhelming Vote Predicted.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Unprecedented in the annals of Manhattan was the Sunday night conclusion of the municipal campaign. "Rank hysteria" which brought forth the letter of Mr. Cleveland, passed into political frenzy, and the central portion of the city was for hours filled with parading crowds that cheered the nominees of the Municipal Ownership party, jeered and hissed every Tammany banner and derided McClellan, Murphy and Tammany Hall.

There was an ugly and defiant temper on the part of the supporters of Mr. Hearst, and the most scornful defiance of Tammany that the city has known for many years. The police looked on and preserved order, but no attempt was made to restrain the turbulent ardor of the vast throng that howled and jostled its path through the highways.

To all this was a sensational prelude at 2 o'clock this morning in Grand Central palace, where a ball was being held by a Hebrew association. Mr. Hearst was dragged out of bed to attend this ball, and there, two hours after midnight, he spoke to many thousands of men and women from the East Side. It was one of the most remarkable incidents ever known in New York campaigning.

"The maximum number of effective votes, judging from the registration, which will be cast for Ivins, Hearst and McClellan will aggregate 581,000. Mr. Ivins will receive a total vote in the greater city of 217,000. Hearst and McClellan will divide the other 374,000 votes between them, Hearst having 204,000 and McClellan 170,000. Mr. Jerome will be elected by an overwhelming vote."

District Attorney Jerome in a statement issued tonight, expressed himself as confident of the result.

Mayor McClellan and Charles F. Murphy, after going over the sealed reports submitted to Mr. Murphy on Saturday afternoon by the Tammany district leaders, declared that the re-election of Mayor McClellan was assured beyond a doubt.

GANG'S TICKET WILL BE SENT TO DEFEAT

charges. Every effort will be made to keep decent people from getting to the polls.

Here Is One Scheme.

WANTED—One thousand men as poll workers next Tuesday; for right kind of men $10 each will be paid. Apply Monday at headquarters, 420 Third ave.

This is the boldest game ever attempted. One thousand strong-armed men are wanted to assist in "rough-housing" the polls. To secure them the gang is willing to spend $10,000. This money is to be spent to raise an army to keep the decent people of Pittsburgh from getting to the polls. It is odd the advertisement did not add that every man must be supplied with a blackjack or a sandbag. "Workers" will probably not be hired by telephone, but the number is Court, 820.

Here Is Another Scheme.

There are many Greeks in Pittsburgh and Allegheny and the gang hopes to vote them all tomorrow for its ticket. Yesterday two representatives of this race were sent to Youngstown, O., to secure the loan of a number of naturalization papers from the Greek colony in that city. They are to be passed around in these two cities and will be made to do service for many Greeks, if the men who are operating the game are smart enough to put it through.

Alderman S. J. Toole learned of the scheme yesterday afternoon. He traced the two Greeks to a train they boarded for Youngstown. The squire then hurried three men to the Ohio city to keep track of the gang's Greeks. Efforts will be made to catch them with the goods in their clothes. If this is not successful, all of the polling places where Greeks vote will be watched. Election officers should carefully examine any naturalization paper issued in Ohio to a Greek.

Watching for Repeaters.

Robert G. Robinson, chief of the county detectives, last night had men posted at all of the railway stations to closely scrutinize the crowds. The gang is expected to use repeaters, as has been its practice. Officers have been sent out to Toledo and Chicago to get a line on the importations from the west.

There will be 100 additional county detectives on duty tomorrow. "Buck" Wallace, the gang's superintendent of police, is credited with saying that he will lock these pence officers up if he finds them at any of the polling places. He may give his men orders to do this, but he will not have the courage to make an arrest himself. Wallace has dragged a great deal about what he is going to do tomorrow. The election will furnish a great opportunity for learning whether Director Harry Moore or Wallace is the subordinate. Moore claims he is for fair play in the election and he will be given every chance to prove that he means what he says.

Duty of Overseers.

John P. Hunter, attorney for the Republican county committee, has prepared a letter setting forth the powers and duties of the overseers of elections. The letter is in part as follows:

The court of common pleas is authorized to appoint two citizens in each district belonging to different political parties to supervise the proceedings of election officers and make report of the same as they may be required by such court. It will be observed that only two persons can act as overseers and they should bear certificates of their appointment. The law provides that overseers shall have the right to be present with the officers of such election during the whole time the same is held, the votes counted and the returns made out and signed by the election officers; to keep a list of voters if they see proper, to challenge any person offering to vote and interrogate him and his witnesses under oath in regard to his right to suffrage at said election, to examine his papers produced, and the officers of said election are required to afford to said overseers so selected and appointed, every convenience and facility for the discharge of their duties.

Any overseer who shall neglect or refuse to perform any duty enjoined upon him without reasonable or legal cause shall be subject to a penalty of $100. If the election officers shall refuse to permit any overseer to be present and perform his duties, such overseer or officers shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding $1,000, or imprisoned not exceeding one year, or both at the discretion of the court. If any person shall by violence or intimidation drive or attempt to drive from the polls an overseer of election or in any way wilfully prevent an overseer from performing the duties enjoined upon him, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding two years, or both at the discretion of the court.

Look Into the Box.

Being present in a supervisory capacity, it is the duty of the overseer to see that the election is properly conducted according to law and that all officers perform their duties. The overseers shall be prepared, when necessary to prevent illegal voting, to have written warrants sworn out and served. In case of interference or great disorder, prompt report should be made to court. The court, district attorney's office and the sheriff's office will be in readiness and prepared to enforce all laws.

Overseers should be particular to see that the official package containing ballots, tally sheets, etc., is not opened excepting in the presence of the board after the same has been organized. See that the seal is intact, not broken or tampered with, before the package is opened. It would be well also to count and make a record of the number of ballots in each package. This is for the purpose of checking at the close of the polls the number of ballots used.

Also see that the ballot box is opened and empty before the election officers take their oaths of office and kept opened and exposed to overseers and watchers prior to declaring the polls opened for receiving votes.

Policemen, excepting for the purpose of casting their votes as other citizens and when their presence is required to preserve order, have no business to be in or about a voting place. It is the duty of overseers to report the unwarranted presence or interference of the police just the same as in other cases of violations of the law. Ordinarily the election officers determine the necessity for the presence of police.

Voters should not forget to help the Soldiers' memorial tomorrow. By placing an X in the Republican column and another X in the square opposite the word "yes" in the "Soldiers' Memorial Hall" column, the voter will have performed his whole duty.

HEARST IS CHEERED BY 70,000 PERSONS

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—As a consistent climax to an astonishing campaign, the meeting held in Madison Square garden tonight under the auspices of the Municipal Reform Alliance to foster the candidacy of William R. Hearst will go on record as unparalleled in the history of municipal politics. It was unique not only because of the numbers and the enthusiasm, both of which were unprecedented in local contests of the kind, or again because it took place on Sunday night. Its most conspicuous figure, perhaps, was the peculiar, almost paradoxical character of the attraction provided.

It was a classical concert and a political mass meeting in one. Twenty thousand persons gathered within the vast coliseum, the largest number it has held at one time since it was built, listened to the Metropolitan Opera House orchestra swing from the rhapsodies of Liszt to "Everybody Works but Murphy." Twenty thousand voices sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in chorus, while Nathan Franke conducted them from an elevated platform, and a few minutes afterward the same tremendous volume of sound rose to greet the entrance of the nominee and shook the very rafters of the roof for 18 consecutive minutes.

Mr. Hearst spoke briefly on the issues of the battle. It was the only time during the night when there was any approach to silence in the multitude.

They listened to him eagerly and attentively, and with his last word the clamor again began and continued for three more minutes. During all the recurrent demonstrations hats and canes were flung in the air, tin horns blown, cow bells jangled and the tumult was deafening.

At the same time a throng, roughly estimated at fully 60,000 persons, jammed the streets surrounding the garden for more than a block in every direction and kept Capt. Schmittberger and 400 policemen almost at their wits' end trying to maintain order. It was not until a squad of mounted police had charged the crowd that it was driven back. Meanwhile the din had been so great that the services in the French Episcopal church in East Twenty-seventh street were stopped.

HAVE FUN IN DARKNESS.

Suburbanites Find No Light in Allegheny Station of Ft. Wayne Railroad and Have Amusing Experiences.

Suburbanites whose homes are down the Ft. Wayne road stumbled through the make-shift station in Federal street, Allegheny, last night with hands outstretched before them, like so many blind travelers. Collisions were frequent and many peculiar and humorous situations resulted. It was all because the electric light wires burned out and left the place in darkness. The light failed shortly before 10 o'clock, when the church trains were about due. Scores of those living in Sewickley and adjacent towns along the Ft. Wayne got off street cars and hurried into the station to get on the trains. For a while there was not even a brakeman's lantern to dispel the deep gloom. Many seeking the steps leading up to the elevated ran across neighbors and bumped into strangers in their efforts to navigate through the darkness. Finally several kerosene lamps were procured and nailed up on posts. Before midnight the fuss was replaced and the electric light turned on again.

Crossed electric wires set fire to an awning in the store of Kenney & Co., 862 Federal street, Allegheny, last night. An alarm was sent in and the firemen tore down the blazing cloth. The loss was slight.

A three-foot cylinder head blew out at the Monongahela Valley Light, Heat and Power Company's plant at Rankin last night shortly after 8 o'clock, but nobody was injured. The lights of Braddock and that vicinity were out for a couple of hours.

Neither he nor any other man can restore the Citizens party to confidence while it has stolen goods in its pockets. There must be true repentance and that repentance must include restitution by the repeal of the boulevard, bank and water grabs. Until this is done the Citizens party cannot hope to enjoy the confidence of the voters of Pittsburgh.—John B. Larkin, July 25, 1904.

MYSTERIOUS SUIT CASE IS CAUGHT WALKING AWAY

Railroad Detective Has an Interesting Experience Catching a Piece of Animated Baggage Belonging to a St. Louis Traveler.

A "suit case mystery" that had nothing to do with the Boston murder, was run to earth at the Union station yesterday by Detective Albert Swinehart. The local "mystery" dealt with the occult rather than with crime, but nevertheless it furnished just as much excitement until it was solved and properly classified.

The railroad sleuth was standing at one of the gates watching the crowds coming in from a suburban train, when a stranger came up with this exciting bit of intelligence:

"Great Scott!"

The detective hastened down the big waiting room and sure enough, there at the extreme end of the hall he saw a big suit case moving slowly toward the door. Then it went with a jerk and jumped 10 feet clear to the corner of the room. It halted a moment and made another jump.

While Swinehart made his way down the corridor he made these mental notes, from which he later expected to reach his deductions:

"It moves; yet it has neither legs, wheels nor wings. It evidently belongs to a prosperous party, because it must have cost at least $25, and has been well cared for; it presumably has no excuse for running away; I never gave a suit case or any sort of baggage credit for having brains, yet I have seen some baggagemen who did not have as much sense as a suit case. While everything looks all right, yet something tells me that all is not well. There is something at the bottom of this."

Then the detective saw a little black pup outside the door vainly tugging at the strap by which he was tied to the handle of the seemingly automatic, perambulating suit case. Its owner was standing at the Pullman window buying a ticket to St. Louis. The greatest mystery of all would have been left to somebody to fathom had the pup succeeded in hauling his burden through the door.

DR. JITLOWSKI IS COURAGEOUS

JUSTIFIES PLEHVE'S MURDER

A big meeting of Russian Jews, in aid of the Russian revolutionary movement, was held last night in the Forbes street Turner hall. In many respects it was unlike the usual meeting of agitators. The speaker, Dr. J. Jitlowski, an agent of the Revolutionary Socialist party, did not attempt to thrill his hearers and in fact even frowned on the applause that was given. As he said, he realized that their feelings were bitter because of the rivers of Jewish blood spilled during the last few days on Russian soil, but his aim was to give them reasons why they should support the revolutionary movement, not to arouse their resentment against the Russian people.

In another respect the meeting was unusual, for Dr. Jitlowski boldly justified the assassination of von Plehve, the Russian minister of the interior, endeavoring to show by the results of the assassination that good had come of it. A third feature was Dr. Jitlowski's courage in not placing the blame for massacres of the Jews on the peasant and workingmen who committed them, and while inculpating the system of government for the murders, yet saying that the Russian Jews were also to blame for the hatred with which the peasants regarded them. Non-Jewish auditors remarked that no Christian speaker at any meeting yet held in America protesting against the massacres had ever intimated that the Jews were not entirely innocent, and they wondered at Dr. Jitlowski's frankness in distributing the blame and his courage in doing so before an audience of Russian Jews. Dr. Jitlowski is himself a Russian Jew.

Discussed Two Leading Questions.

The speech was in Yiddish, the language spoken by the Jews in Russia. There were two questions to be discussed, the speaker said: Was the Russian revolutionary movement bad for the Jews, to which he gave a negative reply, and did the recent concessions by the Russian autocracy constitute fulfillment of the demands of the revolutionary party, complete political liberty, to which question he also replied no, saying that the fight had now only begun.

Generally speaking Dr. Jitlowski said that the revolutionary movement in Russia contemplated the abolition of the autocracy, not the dynasty, the establishment of entire political liberty and of the equality of all other nationalities in the empire. Of course, eventually, he admitted, the revolutionaries hope that private ownership of the land, the factories and public utilities will be abolished, but that was not their immediate goal.

The population of Russia is 110,000,000, and of these 90,000,000 are peasants, the landowners, the nobility and the urban population making up the remainder. The condition of the peasantry is most miserable, and although the czar might want the land to be distributed among the peasantry the landowners possessed influence enough to prevent him from carrying out that reform. As the peasants formed the great mass of the Russian population complete liberty and suffrage would put the government of the country into their hands.

Deprecates the Ghetto System.

In speaking of the social life of the Jews Dr. Jitlowski deprecated the ghetto system, showing that in every country of the world, not only in the countries in which they are persecuted, the Jews heard together in the ghettoes. Even in Holland, where Jews were emancipated 200 years ago, the 100,000 Holland Jews live in two cities, Amsterdam and Rotterdam, and despite the efforts of the government and of enlightened men of their own race to cause a distribution of their congested numbers, they will not budge from their ghettoes.

He then said that, despite the ghetto proclivities of the Jews, the Russian despotism, in depriving them of all avenues of employment except trade, was largely responsible for the economic life of the Jews in Russia. Jewish economic life has its effect upon the Russian peasant, who, in his ignorance, not being able to argue from cause to effect and recognize that the fault lies in the system of government, takes things as he has found them and blames the Jew.

"Now, what I am going to say," said Dr. Jitlowski, "may smack to you of anti-semitism, and you may say to yourselves that I, a Socialist and a Jew, have joined the ranks of the anti-semites. But it is not anti-semitism; it is the truth that everyone who has studied this phase of life in Russia must admit. I say, then, deliberately, that the economic life of the Jew in Russia is noxious to Russian peasants. For you must remember that the Jew with whom the peasant comes into contact is a small retailer, a peddler; he is the purveyor of the peasant's supplies; in all the economic affairs of his life the peasant rubs against the Jew. The interests of the two classes are dissimilar and the Russian peasant hates the Jew, every Jew.

How the Government Profits.

"Mark you, now, how the Russian government profits by this feeling. To keep the peasant in his sodden dullness, to prevent him from awaking to the cruelty and injustice of the governmental system under which he lives, the government, taking advantage of the fact that in the circumscribed conditions of his poverty-stricken life the Russian peasant finds the Jew, apparently, standing between him and happiness, does its best to lead the peasant to believe that all of his troubles, all the troubles of the empire, are brought about by the Jews.

"In another part of his speech Dr. Jitlowski said, in speaking of the assassination phase of the Russian revolutionary movement:

"To combat the Russian government, which by cruelty has sought to stifle our movement for political liberty, we have had recourse to the red terror. The bomb that killed Plehve awoke the Russian people from a deep sleep. They began to ask one another: 'Why did they kill Plehve? What do these people want, that they commit such deeds?' These questions were upon every tongue, and when our emissaries then went into the rural districts they found the peasants ripe for receiving information. To that successful propaganda I attribute largely the present great movement for the downfall of autocracy."

After the meeting Dr. Jitlowski was asked if he merely meant to say that good had come from an evil deed, or if he intended to justify the murder of Von Plehve.

"To justify it," said Dr. Jitlowski, "I intended completely to justify it."

A collection was taken up during the meeting by several pretty girls in white waists and wearing blood-red badges, the emblem of the Revolutionary Socialist party. The collection amounted to $145. The money will be used to aid the movement.

Dr. Jitlowski will leave Pittsburgh tomorrow morning. Today and this evening he will appear at private meetings of the revolutionaries. Dr. Jitlowski is a doctor of philosophy, having gained his degree at the university in Berne, Switzerland.

RUSSIAN RIOTS CONTINUE

We expect nothing from bureaucracy and only by a popular uprising can we achieve our aim, which is a constituent assembly."

While the news received from the provinces indicates that something like normal conditions are being restored in many regions, the situation continues grave in the Baltic provinces, the Caucasus, Odessa and other places in the south, where the outrages generally have taken an anti-Jewish nature.

Thomas E. Heenan, the American consul at Odessa, has sent a telegram to the American embassy saying that since Tuesday the bloody attacks upon the Jews have continued, and that he estimates the number killed in thousands. Artillery, he says, has been employed to suppress the rioting, and that the Jews have fired from windows upon the troops in the streets. Fortunately, he adds, thus far American interests are unaffected.

Revolting Barbarity at Odessa.

ODESSA, Nov. 5.—The casualties in yesterday's disturbances exceed 140 and those the preceding three days, which have been verified, number nearly 5,600. The plundering continued early this morning in the outlying districts, but today the city was relatively calm, though the population is still anxious.

The latest accounts of the devastation in the Jewish quarter add horror to the situation. Besides numerous mills, all the bakeries, shops and nearly 900 homes have been destroyed. The Jews killed in every circumstance were treated with revolting barbarity. Heads were battered with hammers; nails were driven into the bodies, eyes were gouged out and ears severed. Many bodies were disemboweled and in some cases petroleum was poured over the sick found hiding in cellars and they were burned to death.

It is alleged that the police and soldiers everywhere marched at the head of mobs, inciting them to destroy the Jews by crying: "The Jews have killed our emperor," and similar expressions. While the mobs were engaged in the slaughter the soldiers busied themselves pillaging the cash and jewels, leaving the household goods to the mobs. The owners of many houses got rid of the bandits by payment of a ransom to the police.

Police Fire on Red Cross.

The police prevented anyone from arresting the looters and prevented also the Red Cross workers from aiding the wounded, actually firing upon those engaged in this work. A band of students removed much of the stolen property to the university whither also they took 100 dead bodies of anti-Jewish demonstrators whose relatives today besieged the university, claiming the corpses and demanding the release of those demonstrators who were confined in the university. They threatened otherwise to burn the university and kill the professors. Measures were thereupon taken to transfer these prisoners to the regular prison.

A tour of the city and part of the suburbs today found all quiet. Whole rows of shops that were pillaged have been boarded up. The poorer Jewish quarters suffered worst and the principal streets, with few exceptions, were untouched. Russian shops are marked with crosses painted on the shutters and the private houses with ikons so as to protect them from the mobs.

Peasants armed with knives and scythes tried to enter the city yesterday to loot the places, but they were driven back by the soldiers.

Many Killed and Wounded.

TIFLIS, Nov. 5.—Patriotic demonstrations today were participated in by 20,000 persons. While a procession was passing along Golowinski prospect firing began. Bombs were thrown at the troops, who answered with rifle shots. The dead numbered 16 and there were many wounded. In another place a crowd of school pupils with revolutionary flags collided with a loyal demonstration. The troops fired in the air with a view of dispersing the crowds and a general encounter ensued in which four were killed and 17 wounded.

WARSAW, Nov. 5.—Great patriotic demonstrations were held in the streets today by crowds estimated at 200,000 persons. Processions headed by clergy and singing "God save Poland," paraded the principal streets, which were elaborately decorated. The balconies and windows of the houses were filled with spectators. A citizen guard kept exemplary order, and the military massed in the side streets had no occasion to interfere. An attempt by the Russian Loyalists to organize a procession was a complete failure, barely 500 persons taking part in it.

A Jewish militia, armed with revolvers, is guarding Jewish houses in the outskirts of the city. The militia shot and killed four disguised detectives found trying to provoke disturbance.

The governor yesterday warned the Polish newspapers that unless they submitted to the censorship their offices would be closed. Two papers persisting in their disregard of this order have been shut up and sealed by the troops. The houses of all Polish Nationalists were illuminated tonight. The funerals of the victims of the disorders at Lodz, which were held today, were attended by 40,000 persons. There were revolutionary speeches, but no disorder.

POLE'S LEAP FOR LIFE.

South Side Foreigner Jumps Through Second-Story Window, but Without Injuring Himself.

Joseph Aleck, a Pole, who is said to be demented, jumped from the second story of 3005 Mary street, South Side, last night and alighting on his feet started to run. Policeman Boyle, who saw the Pole's flight, chased and overtook the man. The latter was locked up in a patrol station, where he declared the proprietor of the boarding house had pursued him with a razor and threatened to cut off his head.

Aleck, despite his dangerous jump, was unhurt and appeared unconscious of the fact that he had endangered his life. The police visited the boarding house to investigate Aleck's story and learned that the man had been alone and had evidently imagined he was playing a leap-for-life stunt. The man's mental condition will be examined into today.

SIXTEEN MILLIONS FOR FORTIFICATION

Gen. MacKenzie Makes Estimates for Completion of Engineering Work.

MONEY FOR LOCAL RIVERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Sixteen million dollars will be necessary to complete the engineering work of fortifications of the seacoasts of the United States under the plans of the Endicott board, according to the report of Brig.-Gen. Alexander MacKenzie, chief of engineers. There has already been appropriated for this purpose $8,683,424. Permanent projects at 31 different points have been adopted and most of them are well under way. These points are:

Frenchman bay, Maine; Penobscot river, Maine; Kennebec river, Maine; Portland, Me.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, Mass.; New Bedford, Mass.; Narragansett Bay, R. I.; eastern entrance to Long Island sound, New York; Delaware river; Baltimore, Md.; Washington, D. C.; Hampton Roads, Va.; entrance to Chesapeake bay at Cape Henry; Cape Fear river, North Carolina; Charleston, S. C.; Port Royal, S. C.; Savannah, Ga.; St. Johns river, Florida; Key West, Fla.; Tampa Bay, Fla.; Pensacola, Fla.; Mobile, Ala.; New Orleans, La.; Galveston, Tex.; San Diego, Cal.; San Francisco, Cal.; Columbia river, Oregon and Washington; Puget sound, Washington; Lake Champlain.

The defense of the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river is under consideration.

May Increase Estimates.

The estimate for the completion of these fortifications does not contemplate anything more than the projects outlined by the Endicott board. Modern appliances and additional projects which may be adopted by the Taft board appointed last summer and the fortifications of the insular possessions may increase the estimates when additional work is approved by congress. It is estimated that $4,263,364 will be required to put into execution by the engineer department the schemes of the artillery and signal corps for fire control of the seacoast defenses. The report says:

"While the general principles of the fire control system have been satisfactorily determined and adopted, the actual details on which costs largely depend are still in a condition of experimental development by the artillery, and it is anticipated that the cost of actual construction will probably largely exceed the above sum when such development is complete."

It is stated that the reconstruction of the works destroyed by the storm of 1900 at Galveston are nearly completed, but the barracks and quarters and other post buildings which must be located at Forts Travis and San Jacinto are unprotected, as well as range-finder stations and other engineer accessories. Very heavy sea walls and extensive sand filling will be essential to make the protection complete at those points.

Work at Island Possessions.

Work has been progressing on the fortifications for the defenses of Manila bay and Subig bay, Cuba and on the purchase of sites for fortifications in Hawaii. Negotiations have been continued for the acquisition of one site at the eastern entrance to Long Island sound and of a tract at Mobile, Ala. A tract on the Kennebec river, Maine; one near Charleston, S. C., and on the Columbia river, Narragansett bay and Puget sound, were acquired during the year. The total estimates for fortifications works under the engineer department for the fiscal year 1907 amount to $11,424,153, divided as follows:

Construction of gun and mortar batteries, $4,000,000; modernizing older emplacements, $422,500; sites for fortifications and seacoast defenses, $500,000; searchlights for harbor defenses, $500,000; protection, preservation and repair of fortifications, $300,000; preparation of plans for fortifications, $5,000; supplies for seacoast defenses, $40,000; seawalls and embankments, $215,000; seawalls, defenses of Galveston, Tex., $1,405,653; casements, galleries, etc., for submarine mines, $540,700; preservation and repair of torpedo structures, $59,000.

Defenses of insular possessions: Seacoast batteries, Manila, P. I., $2,000,000; seacoast batteries, Subig bay, Philippine Islands, $500,000; harbor, Hawaii, $536,000; procurement of land for sites for defenses of the Hawaiian islands, $326,100.

Expenditures for Rivers.

An estimate of $75,000 is made for improvements in the Yellowstone National park. Expenditures on river and harbor improvements in the United States reached $3,533,622. This does not include $2,257,053 under the Mississippi river commission and $97,575 for the enlargement of Governors island, New York. No estimates are made this year for river and harbor improvements save those provided for under continuing contracts. This amounts to $17,456,801, to which is added $85,289 to prevent deposits in New York harbor and $15,000 to be expended under the California debris commission, and also an estimate of $2,000,000 for the Mississippi river commission. Among the estimates for the continuing contracts are the following:

Mississippi river, between Missouri river and St. Paul, Minn., $300,000, and between St. Paul and Minneapolis, $289,548; Monongahela river, Pennsylvania, $589,196; Ohio river locks and dams, $1,231,376; Allegheny river, Pennsylvania, $281,226; movable dams, Ohio river, $832,400; St. Marys river at the Falls, Michigan, $600,000; Harbor Lake channel, Michigan, $1,020,000; Detroit river, Michigan, $700,000; Cleveland harbor, $56,000; San Pedro harbor, California, $200,000; mouth of Columbia river, $300,000; Honolulu harbor, Hawaii, $200,000; Galveston harbor, Tex., $250,000, and Galveston ship channel, $500,000; Black Rock harbor and Erie basin, New York, $257,642; Black Warrior and Tombigbee river, Alabama, $503,466; Southwest Pass, Mississippi river, $500,000; South Pass, Mississippi river, $50,000; Bayou Plaquemine, Louisiana, $100,000; Sabine and Neches rivers, Texas, $200,000; Trinity river, Texas, $161,857; Barzos river, Texas, $37,500; Aransas Pass, Texas, $100,000; Cnachita and Black rivers, Arkansas and Louisiana, $182,266; Mississippi river at Moline, Ill., $265,000; Cumberland river above Nashville, Tenn., $50,000; Tennessee river, Chattanooga, Tenn., to Riverton, Ala., $240,000; Big Sandy river, West Virginia, $10,000; Kentucky river, Kentucky, $174,000; harbor at Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., $150,000; Holland harbor, Mich., $110,000; Sandusky harbor, Ohio, $175,000; Huron harbor, Ohio, $200,000; Black river harbor, Ohio, $46,000; Wilmington harbor, California, $106,000; Oakland harbor, California, $250,000; San Pedro bay, California, $81,000; Columbia river at The Dalles, Ore., $250,000; Columbia river, between Vancouver, Wash., and the Willamnette river, Ore., $30,000; Columbia and Lower Willamnette rivers, below Portland, Ore., $125,000.

Fines Alleged Wife Beater.

An alleged wife beater was fined $25 and costs at No. 2 police station yesterday. He was James Meran of 2940 Smallman street, and the evidence tended to show he had knocked Mrs. Meran down and broken her nose.

Sparks from Engine Start Fire.

Fire destroyed the shear shed at Painter's mill, West Carson street, yesterday morning, entailing a loss of about $500. The fire was caused by sparks from an engine.

DOCTOR LOVER IS SUED FOR A JILT

Suit of Miss Duncan, McDonald Belle, Against H. T. M. Ritter of Allentown, to be Tried.

FORTY WARM LOVE LETTERS

All of Washington county is interested in the case of Miss Belle Duncan, a Bryn Mawr girl, and a belle of the county. Society circles in the county knew of Miss Duncan's engagement to Dr. H. T. M. Ritter of Allentown, Lehigh county, for it is said Dr. Ritter was very enthusiastic in telling about his engagement to friends he made on his frequent visits to Miss Duncan's home, during the period his love was warm. Now society circles in Washington county are much interested in the breach of promise suit which Miss Duncan has brought against Dr. Ritter, and which will be tried in a few days in the Lehigh county courts.

Miss Duncan is a highly educated, beautiful girl, not yet 23 years old. Her father, a prominent oil operator, lives at McDonald and is conservatively estimated to be worth between $150,000 and $200,000. It is, therefore, not the desire for money that has led Miss Duncan to sue Dr. Ritter for $10,000 for breach of promise, but rather a wish for vindication.

Dr. Ritter is the son of Robert R. Ritter, a wealthy Pennsylvania German land owner near Allentown. His family is prominent in the county. Everybody who was worth knowing there knew of the Ritter-Duncan engagement, and much surprise and wonder was expressed there and in Washington county when Dr. Ritter suddenly married Miss Lydia A. Smith of Chester county, without, so Miss Duncan avers, previous warning to her.

Reason for Bringing Suit.

She knew nothing of the alleged faithlessness of her swain until the announcement of his marriage reached her, and of course she was much prostrated at the abrupt news. It was only later, when the young lady realized that speculation and gossip would be aroused by this jilting that she decided the law must vindicate her, and retained the Pittsburgh law firm of Robb & Miller, composed of John S. Robb, Jr., first assistant prosecuting attorney of Allegheny county, and Frederick W. Miller, to bring suit in the courts of Lehigh county.

Miss Duncan met Ritter in a social way while he was a student at the Medico-Chirurgical college in Philadelphia, and she was receiving the finishing touches to her education at Bryn Mawr. The acquaintance grew into friendship, then ripened into love and terminated in an engagement, after Dr. Ritter had traveled across the state several times to visit Miss Duncan at her home. Dr. Ritter was graduated in 1904. The suit was brought about a year and a half ago and has been set for trial at this term of the Lehigh county courts.

Two-Score of Love Letters.

Dr. Ritter is said to have written at least 40 letters to his fiancee, and the letters breathe, say those who have read them since the suit was entered, undying devotion and the warmest kind of love. Sweet philanderings stick out all over the missives like currants in a cake, and the documents will make an interesting addition to the tons of love literature published through the courts for many years past.

State Senator Arthur G. DeWalt is the associate counsel for Miss Duncan in Allentown. Allen H. Slager and C. A. Gorman, former prosecuting attorney of Lehigh county, will defend Dr. Ritter. Mr. Gorman said in Allentown that the defense to be produced reflects in no way on Miss Duncan's character.

"Society recognizes the right of a woman to change her mind before going to the altar," Mr. Gorman said. "Conversely why hasn't a man the same right?"

Lawyers say that while society may recognize a woman's right to change her mind, yet the law does not, and a woman who jilts a man is liable under the law for the breach of contract, although it may be hard to find a man to sue a woman, under such circumstances, or a jury to mulct her in damages.

ASKS FOR JAIL SENTENCE THAT HE MIGHT EAT

"Please, judge, give me a two-day sentence to the jail, as I have no money to get anything to eat and can't get work until Monday." This was the plea of John Rooney of Grant street, who was arrested for drunkenness on Saturday night and brought into No. 4 police station. Magistrate Negley complied with his request.

Legislation for the correction and adjustment of these wrongs was promised the people of this city nearly two years ago, and the promises must be kept; either that or those who obstruct and prevent their adjustment should be relieved of their public trust. —Controller Larkin, August 20, 1903.

A Christmas Foreword.

General Opening of German, French and American Toys.

A CORDIAL invitation to every family—the whole family, from the youngest to the eldest—to come and see the most remarkable collection of toys that was ever gathered for any Christmas season.

A sort of an opening time, today, tomorrow and Wednesday.

The East Basement will have on its smartest holiday dress, and there is a study in the collection for everybody—the little child will like the talking dolls and the jumping animals, the girls will go into raptures over the large families of elegantly dressed dolls, the boys will instantly take to the mechanical toys—and the grown-ups will figure out the cost of a Christmas celebration.

This Toy Department of ours is a little different from the mushroom departments that spring up for a week or so at Christmas time—this toy store is carried on throughout the year. Our buyer goes to Europe just as regularly each year as our score of other buyers. Novelties up to the moment can always be found here, and there are very many of these novelties that can be found nowhere except here.

Toyland is solely and wholly for the children—let them come as often as they like. They are always welcome.

Linens for the Thanksgiving Table.

THE President has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation; the last day of this month has been set apart for this American custom, and as every family expects to enoy a great feast on that day, it behooves the housewife who has the greatest pride in her table, to consider the damask to be used on that occasion. The time is none too long in which to get the new tablecloth and the new napkins and the new decorative linens in order—each requires special preparation before using.

Our Linen Store prides itself on a remarkable collection of linens. It is not only remarkable for variety, but it is remarkable for the underprices for which each line of linens is sold. Here is some detail that will be found interesting.

First Showing of Genuine Fur Hats.

Today and tomorrow the Millinery Department will have an opening of genuine fur hats. This will be a great fur season, and the fur hat promises to be in high favor.

We have anticipated the cold weather with this assortment of beautiful confections in fur hats of different kinds.

The collection is representative of the latest Paris ideas—the furs utilized are genuine mink, chinchilla, lynx and ermine—some are trimmed with gold and silver, some are artistically combined with lace, flowers and ostrich feathers.

There are fur hats suitable for every occasion—from the very small creation to the rather large hat.

Every admirer of handsome millinery is invited to attend.

Monday, November 6, 1905.

William M. Ivins is putting up a fight in the New York mayoralty campaign that his antagonists will have cause to remember, at least, and that makes his election possible. Mr. Ivins proved his title as a good fighter when he helped clean out the Tweed ring and in other campaigns. He is recognized as an authority in international law, as well as in municipal practice, and these things will count with thoughtful voters.

Once more the Post appeals to the people to overlook the record of perfidy and plunder of the Democratic-Citizens alliance and fix attention wholly on the good record made by two county officers who were refused a renomination on the Democratic-Citizens ticket. Of course, the Post is much interested in at least one candidate, but it is impossible to ignore the party record, however much any one might desire to humor the Post. The record is one of bad government.

Republican County Chairman Thomas J. Ford has received his reports from every district in Allegheny county and is confident of victory. Not merely that, but he is certain the pluralities of the Republican candidates will be large. Mr. Ford is not a boaster. He has good basis for his claims. And there is good reason why the county should go Republican by larger majorities than ever. The Democratic-Citizens organization record is such that no rebuke can be too severe. The infamy of broken pledges damns it.

Ohio is closing one of the hardest fought campaigns in its history. There will be much crossing of party lines in the voting tomorrow, as a result of a campaign of misrepresentation, but we believe Gov. Herrick will be re-elected by a good majority. He ought to be re-elected. He has been a faithful, upright public official and that is the best possible guarantee he will continue to be so. It is said he will lose many Republican votes in southeastern Ohio. Well, he will gain many Democratic votes in western Ohio. He deserves to win.

While the visit of Prince Louis of Battenberg was not needed to augment the friendship existing between the United States and Great Britain, it affords a pleasant opportunity for the exchange of courtesies. The prince is a representative of England's sea power and the subject of the navy is of special interest to this nation at present. Our visitor is a fine, manly fellow, and he seems to be enjoying the enthusiastic reception extended to him at Washington. He is not making a spectacular tour like Prince Henry's, but will doubtless have just as good a time.

When Robert Cochrane presided over the Republican meeting in Allegheny Saturday night he nailed one Democratic campaign lie and clinched the nail. Mr. Cochrane was defeated in the hottest contest of the Republican primaries in September, but has accepted the result as the will of the voters and is supporting his former opponent, John Fairman, and the whole Republican ticket. This disposes of the Democratic slanders about the conduct of the primaries. And the candidates nominated by popular vote will be elected by popular vote over the appointees of the Bigelow-Verner-Hays-Wyman combination.

Ohio will vote on two proposed amendments to its constitution tomorrow. The one that is exciting the greatest interest provides for exemption from taxation of all municipal, state and county bonds. Public sentiment is opposed to the measure, but there is danger of it passing from lack of attention to detail in marking the ballot. In Ohio the ballot is printed "yes" on constitutional amendments, so the voter who is opposed must write "no" in the space provided, or be counted as favoring it. This manner of putting up the ballot is as unfair as the proposition to shift taxation from bonds to other property. Ohio voters should be alert and mark the bottom as well as the top of their party columns. A vote for Herrick and one against the tax amendment will make a good day's work.

The Wheat and the Chaff.

Just this one day and then comes the voting. This is the day for every voter to give careful thought to the issues of the campaign. This is the day to sift the wheat from the chaff. There has been a good bit of chaff thrown in this campaign. The Enterprise bank has been dragged in as an issue, though it has no connection with any party. Its president and several of its directors are Democrats and the Republican party is not responsible for its failure. It would have been looted just the same if Berry had been state treasurer instead of being a candidate for the place. The worst administration of the treasury the state has seen was that of Amos C. Noyes and Blake Walters, Democrats. There is nothing about William H. Berry, who has been stumping the state with Homer L. Castle, that promises any better.

This bank crash has no bearing on the campaign in Allegheny county. The Enterprise was not among the favored city depositories, which have almost as many millions as are in the surplus funds of this great state, and which pay but 2 per cent interest, though Controller Larkin said he could get 3½ per cent from other banks with just as good security. The effort to make an issue of the Enterprise bank is chaff.

There are real issues before the people of Allegheny county. Three years ago they accepted promises of reform, fair dealing and good government from the Democratic-Citizens alliance. Not one of those pledges have been kept. The Bigelow-Verner-Hays-Wyman outfit has run things for its own advantage, exclusively. The men who served the public best have been refused renomination. The ticket was made up by devious processes, by the bosses, with the sole idea of amalgamating factions by the "cohesive power of public plunder," without consulting any part of the people—without a vote. That ticket represents nothing but the rapacious machine that has stolen franchises, protected vice, dealt in graft, and wofully misgoverned these cities. If it should by any chance be elected, that will be the entering wedge for again obtaining control of the city governments.

On the other side is a ticket composed of men wholly above reproach. It was nominated in primaries open to every Republican—every citizen, in fact, who voted for President Roosevelt. The nominees won after a lively contest by the votes of thousands of their fellow men. As good citizens they are pledged to good government and they are supported by the men who have always stood for better government in this county. They have no broken pledges behind them. Their success means the rebuke of false promises and they ought to succeed. Their election is the first step toward redeeming these cities from graft, plunder and vice, toward securing good government.

Are We All Socialists?

An article on "Socialism in Practice," contributed by Robert Donald to the current number of The Outlook, opens by quoting the late Sir William Harcourt's utterance in the house of commons: "We are all Socialists, now." The writer goes on to illustrate by the extension of governmental functions the spread of what he is pleased to term socialism. Perhaps his reference to the Panama canal will show his line of argument better than anything else. He says:

France tried to join the Atlantic to the Pacific by private enterprise, and failed through incompetent management, fraud, and corruption. The government of the United States undertakes the work as a federal duty, and gives another example of socialistic enterprise.

Mr. Donald's article in its entirety is based upon this fallacy, the pet refuge of socialistic theorizers, that every government undertaking beyond national defense and the enforcement of the laws is a step toward state socialism. They point to the post-office as the most striking proof of their theory's feasibility, and to government supervision of any enterprise as an indication of the need of such control in every field. And so a great many people are lulled into the belief that "we are all socialists, now," even though like Monsieur Jourdain, who had been talking prose all his life, we have never suspected it.

Mr. Donald himself admits that this is not the kind of socialism advocated and recognized by most Socialists. "With them," he says, "as soon as some part of the theory of government or social policy which they advocate is put into practice by others, it ceases to be the socialism which they seek, and they proceed to demand something different." Without pausing to consider that "most socialists" ought to know what socialism really is, he goes on to convince us that we are all socialists, but, like M. Jourdain, we don't know it.

The fallacy upon which Mr. Donald's argument is based has deceived many, but is inexcusable in a countryman of Adam Smith and David Hume. Mr. Donald is confusing collective enterprise with wholesale discouragement of all enterprise. What one man cannot do as well as a partnership, what a partnership cannot do as well as a corporation, what a corporation cannot do as well as a combination, is in each case passed up to the next highest unit of the business world. What none of these agencies can accomplish, providing it be a national need, becomes the duty of the nation. The Panama canal is a national need—to build a railroad from Poughkeepsie to Oshkosh is not.

It is a sound principle of government as of charity not to do anything for people which they can do better for themselves. The functions of government should be restricted as far as possible; where they are extended as far as possible, despotism ensues. The form of socialism Mr. Donald means has been exemplified most markedly in Russia, and by its fruits we may know it. The form which is real socialism, and which constitutes a menace to progress, is the discontent that would even up all inequalities by imposing handicaps upon the more brainy and energetic. That is socialism, and that is what we must guard against.

Allegheny's Chance.

Former Judge Elliott Rodgers and former District Attorney John C. Haymaker discussed the issues of the campaign on Saturday night in a manner that must bring home to the voters of Allegheny their responsibility tomorrow. They painted the conditions in Allegheny under the Bigelow-Verner-Wyman regime in true colors. The North Side city under that regime has become a reproach wherever its name is spoken—the home of protected vice and graft.

Wymanism and Scandrettism is the issue in Allegheny and every vote for the Democratic-Citizens ticket on that side of the river will be a vote for continuance of the disgrace. The Gazette cannot believe that a majority of the people of Allegheny favor the conditions that lead a distinguished resident of the city to refer to it as the "Sodom and Gomorrah of America." The Gazette believes a vast majority of the people of Allegheny are law-abiding, self-respecting and honest. Tomorrow they will have the opportunity to prove their claim to this good opinion and to show the world they do not deserve the obloquy that has been cast upon them.

While the police, the firemen and the public works employes have been ordered to exert their whole strength to produce a majority for the party of graft and plunder, many of them will not obey the mandate. When they rebel it is surely time for the good citizens who are not on the pay roll to repudiate the vicious element so long protected and triumphant.

Russia's Convulsion.

While the czar continues to issue proclamations extending liberties to the people, the tide of bloody disorder and rebellion is not appreciably diminished. The grant of a constitutional government for Finland has not caused any relaxation of the claim of that country to independence, nor has it affected the strike. The proclamation of amnesty for political prisoners throughout the empire has been welcomed by the leaders, but has not apparently affected the riotous populace.

It remains a serious question whether Nicholas withheld too long the concessions that would have satisfied his people. Last spring—last summer even—the grant of a constitution and legislative assembly would have been hailed with joy by all except the reactionaries. Those measures would then have been altogether satisfactory to the students and agitators for liberty. Then the workmen were but half aroused and the reactionaries would have had no material with which to create serious disorder. Now the aroused and vengeful workmen have simply changed from the leadership of the Liberals to that of the reactionaries in riot and pillage.

This movement may exhaust itself with the disgraceful assaults on the Jew in southern Russia; it may grow in volume and overthrow the empire. It is a serious problem that all the world is watching with intense interest.

William Looser of Greenville will soon issue in that place an independent Democratic weekly to be called the "Abolitionist." Speaking of his venture and the campaign, Mr. Looser says: "Every Democrat who places principle above mere office or power should pray till the polls close next Tuesday for the party's defeat." The "Abolitionist" ought to succeed, for Mr. Looser is a terse writer and is a Looser in name only.

After turning down the men who kept the promises of their platform and made a good record in office, the Democratic-Citizens aggregation is asking for the election of the men who put political service first.

No man can restore the Citizens party to public confidence while it has stolen goods in its pockets and has been false to every pledge.

Larkin says the Citizens party has "stolen goods in its pockets." It should be compelled to disgorge.

Every man who believes in breaking his agreements will vote the Democratic-Citizens ticket.

There is not a man on the Republican ticket who is not worthy of confidence and support.

Republicans have every reason to show faith in their party. It is the party of the people.

Look over the Citizens party record, if you please. It will not please you.

Last day for thinking. Action tomorrow.

"I will also secure 3 per cent, not 2 per cent, for all the money this city has, or will have for deposit, from as good banks as the present holders, and will give the highest and amplest security for its safekeeping. I challenge this administration on either or both propositions. If it has the courage of its convictions and is willing to keep any of its pledges to the people let it come to the front and meet the controller, or ever after stand convicted."—John B. Larkin, city controller. The administration was not willing and has not kept a single pledge.

Made Mistake of Their Lives.

The Washington county Citizens made the mistake of their lives when they raised the issue against road improvement under the Flinn law. Permanent improvement of the country roads is one of the greatest issues before the people today, and they are alive to its importance. The Flinn law has proved the only practical means of securing them, and it has been demonstrated, a good thing in this county, where hundreds of miles of good roads have been secured by it, and in Washington county, where it has been tried to some extent.—Elizabeth Herald.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Fit Yourself to the World and the World Will Fit You All Right.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Said Alice, "The world's growing ill
And domestic relations are nil;
I'll set up a school
To train husbands by rule."
Do you think she can do it?

What sort of a man do you want for a husband?

Ask, and you shall receive.

Very few women who are willing to marry, or want to marry, or who ever expect to marry, have well-defined ideas as to the style of man they hope to get.

About all they really know is that they have a kindly feeling for the men and that they would like to have those they could call their own, and theirs only.

And if girls were to tell the plain truth they would say that they each and severally pray simply for a man, a mate.

Possibly some of our girl readers may be inclined to pooh-pooh this. Let these send in the descriptions of the kind of men they want.

This is no matrimonial agency, mind you, but since there seems to be a misunderstanding between marriageable men and women, it may be well to let the men know just what the women want, and expect, in the way of husbands.

That there is a misunderstanding is clear, if we may judge from what young men say. Many of them declare themselves ready to marry if they could find women who are willing to become real wives.

The real man, the only one that will make a good husband, is looking for a woman who is the real thing.

* * *

In all probability every woman will say that she is the real thing, and no doubt she is in her way, but how are the men to know this?

The marriages we read about are mostly among the wealthy set, who can put on a lot of style, take extensive wedding tours, and give fine blowouts upon taking possession of their homes.

This is all well enough for those who have the money to pay for it, but it is setting a killing pace for those who haven't the money to spare.

True, those who haven't it should have sense enough to go their own pace. But, unfortunately, too many of our young people accept as true that old and foolish saying, "You might as well be out of the world as out of fashion."

The correct fashion is to live within your means and pay as you go.

* * *

In some way or other many of our best young men, best because they are self-supporting, enterprising and temperate, have been led to believe that most, if not all, women accept that old and foolish saying as gospel, and are looking for husbands who can afford to keep them in style.

How well founded this belief is only the women who hope and expect to become wives can tell.

There's the rub. They may not want to let the men know what will be expected of them, nor to hint at what they propose doing, at what pace they expect to go in double harness, or on what social level they mean to move.

There is no doubt whatever but many good men are kept from marrying just through fear of being handicapped instead of being helped by wives.

* * *

If young men and women understood each other better they would have more confidence, and there would be more marriages, and happier, and happy marriages, you know, mean prosperous, useful homes.

Too many of those who do marry squander or waste so much on style that they have very little to invest in homes, which is the best investment anyone can make.

And it is commonly believed that it is the woman who insists upon putting on style.

Is this a fact, or is it a libel on woman, a reflection on her intelligence and good sense?

Somebody is at fault, else there wouldn't be so many worthy men and women looking and waiting for mates.

A careful comparison of views concerning this matter might lead to their seeing each other as they really are.

Some women are foolish enough to calculate upon making the men walk a chalk-line of their own marking.

Alice Fisher, a syndicate writer, sends the following note to husbands and wives, but it will be equally interesting to expectant wives and husbands:

"A husband's first duty is to remain the lover after he becomes a husband. He will go to any expense for flowers and bonbons or put himself to any inconvenience to keep an engagement while he is courting. Why should he not do the same after he is married?

"That is just one thing I am cranky about, and Mr. Harcourt knows it. He would no more think of breaking an engagement with me now than he would when we were lovers.

"But, then, how can any one woman make a set of cast iron rules for all husbands? Don't you think the right sort of man sees his duty as it comes to him and does it? I do. All told, it is just a case of 'bear and forbear,' and it is as hard to define the man's duties as it is the woman's, though I am considered rather an authority on the subject, as you may see by these lines, which were sent me a few days ago."

Clearfield Safe and Sound.

The campaign is closing up with much to encourage those who hope for Republican success. County Chairman McCullough, after receiving final reports from all over the county, says safely Republican, and no one need be surprised if the majorities received by some of the Republican candidates make high marks for off-year results.—DuBois Courier.

Republican Prospects Brighter.

As a result of the peculiar campaign tactics of Chairman Cottom and the powerful arguments put forth by some of his band of spellbinders, the prospects of a good-sized Republican majority in the county have visibly increased within the past week.—Uniontown News Standard.

TEACHING PEOPLE TO LIVE DECENTLY

Education First Step in Preparation for Phipps Model Tenements for Gotham.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Inasmuch as plans and specifications are now being completed for the model tenement houses to be erected from the money donated by Mr. Henry Phipps, it has been found necessary to begin to educate the tenement dwellers in the art of living. The sort of homes to which they have been accustomed have not been such as to cause them to be very domestic in their habits. Foul air and even dirt have become a part of their daily lives, and the plan now on foot is designed to teach them how to live.

The majority of the tenement dwellers have very little to do with and they have never learned the art of economy with cleanliness. They have become accustomed to shiftlessly moving through life with the least possible exertion. The result has been that they have accumulated the germs of ill health at a very early age and have been handicapped all the rest of their lives. These are some of the evils it is now aimed to correct by teaching these people ideas of correct living. They are quick to learn, and seem anxious to do those things which are certain to make life more pleasant and easy.

Samples of Model Homes.

Object lessons in model homes are being given in two large tenement houses on the lower East Side. These two apartments are run by the Nurses' Settlement society, and the people of the neighborhood are shown how the greatest amount of comfort can be attained with the least possible outlay and exertion. The scheme is to rent a flat in the poorest and meanest section of the city, furnish it cheaply but comfortably, and keep it going for the inspection of all who may be interested. The plan makes a further utilitarian point of teaching cooking to the women during the day and to the young girls who are in school or are employed in stores or factories at night. These cooking classes are very popular and successful. The cooking lessons are taught with the idea of economy uppermost.

Proves a Great Success.

The first of these model flats was established at No. 226 Henry street, in the section of the city inhabited largely by Russian Jews. The scheme was a success from the very start. The people of the neighborhood showed great eagerness to learn, and the women spent many hours in the model flat, and carried many good ideas home with them. One of the first problems was to secure healthful furniture at a moderate cost. The tendency among the very poor is to buy heavy plush upholstery, which soon becomes frayed, and is quickly filled with dust and germs. For less than $100, the model flat was tastefully and comfortably furnished, and the women in charge were careful to tell their callers the cost of each article in the rooms.

Carpets Are Tabooed.

The average tenement dweller is a great believer in carpets, and naturally cheap ones, which soon wear out and are much worse than bare floors. There are no carpets in the model flats, but the floors are stained and a few decent rugs are scattered about. The kitchen windows are always kept open, and the utensils are few, but that few are kept bright and clean. The visitors to the flat are also taught that it is better to have regular meal times, rather than have the pot filled at all times for the members of the family to run to whenever hungry, as is done in many homes of the poor. System, in fact, is one of the chief ideas inculcated in the minds of the students of these "home schools."

Second Model Flat Opened.

The success of the first model apartment was so great from the start that the Nurses' Settlement society soon established a second, this time in a section of the city largely inhabited by Italians. Those in charge speak the language of nearly every one in the neighborhood, and this is a great drawing card. They are not only taught the art of housekeeping, but are told the value of fresh air and sunlight. This is, of course, with the idea of giving the babies of the tenement a fair show for their lives. In ordinary tenements the very young have little chance, surrounded as they are by foul air and dirt, and the utmost unsanitary conditions.

Expense Is Not Very Great.

To run one of these flats as they should be run by a family of small means, and to give cooking lessons afternoon and evening, costs about $1,200 a year. Without the educational plan it could be run for half the money. And yet, many of the tenement dwellers spend much more than half that sum for very poor and unsanitary accommodations. It is also certain that living conditions in the neighborhood of the two model apartments have been considerably improved in many ways, which prove the value of the experiment. The Nurses' Settlement society is so well pleased with the results obtained in these two flats that they are planning to open others as soon as they can see their way clear to meet the expense.

The Strongest Appeal.

Mr. Ivins was fortunate in having independents like Dr. Lyman Abbott and Horace White to speak at his Cooper Union meeting. He was fortunate in having former Mayor Low testify by letter to his "more competency" for the office of mayor. He was still more fortunate in being able to say to his audience: "No man will own me. I know no boss." That is the issue which is agitating the people of New York more than all others. The man who can look several thousand of his fellow citizens squarely in the face and say "I know no boss" is making the strongest kind of an appeal to a New York audience.

GERMAN STEEL TRUST OUTPUT AND PROFITS

Twenty-Eight Per Cent of Product Exported—Advantages Claimed for Combination.

United States Consul Halstead of Birmingham forwards to the state department an interesting article on the operations of the German steel trust for the last year. The facts condensed from the columns of the Birmingham Post are:

"Although the trust regulates the production of 8,000,000 tons of crude steel per annum, it only sells for its members at present their output of rails and accessories, joists and other shapes, and partly manufactured steel in the form of ingots, billets, blooms and sheet bars. These classes represent about 4,600,000 tons per annum, while the remaining 3,400,000 tons, which are composed of bars, rolled rods, plates and sheets, railway axles and tubes, are disposed of directly by the works themselves, pending the conclusion of arrangements for the sale of those products being also undertaken by the trust.

"The report deals with a period of 13 months ended March 31, 1905, and as a consequence the amount of steel handled is greater than if 12 months only were taken into consideration. During the period in question the trust delivered to customers 4,994,334 tons of partly manufactured steel, joists and other shapes and railway material. As the allotted production of all the works was 4,993,743 tons, it will be seen that the actual sales were only 4,409 tons less than the permissive output, but the turnover would have been much greater than shown if the disastrous coal miners' strike at the beginning of 1903 had not seriously interfered with the trade.

Advantages Claimed.

"Of the total sales the trust exported 28 per cent, while an average of 72 per cent was disposed of in the home market. As the exports before the trust was formed averaged 40 per cent of the total sales, with 60 per cent worked up in Germany, the trust regards the large increase in the inland consumption as illustrating the advantage derived through the establishment of the trust. The whole of the steel delivered to consumers is not booked in the 13 months' financial year, and the balance will presumably appear in the accounts for the second year. The report actually brings into account 3,013,650 tons of crude steel, 2,619,971 tons as calculated in finished steel, and the total sum received for this quantity is given as £12,727,657. After meeting working expenses, which amounted to £63,325, and providing for other charges, the balance represents the payments made to the syndicated works for the above-mentioned tonnage of steel sold on their behalf by the trust.

Earnings and Dividends.

"The report does not throw any further light on the financial results, but those of the companies themselves are interesting as bearing on this point. Thus the dividend of the Bochum Union has advanced from 10 per cent in 1902-3 to 12 per cent in 1904; that of the Phoenix Steel works from 8 to 16 per cent; the Hoerde Mining and Iron Works Company from 8 to 10 per cent; the Saxon Cast Steel works, Dohlen, from 8 to 10 per cent, the Maximilian Iron works from 17½ to 23 1-8 per cent; the Kramer works from 6 to 12 per cent; the Haspe works from 8 to 9 per cent; Van der Zypen and Wissen from 9 to 10 per cent, and the George-Marien works from 3 to 3½ per cent. Those works which have just declared the same rate of dividend for the past two years are the Gutehoffnungs Hutte with 20 per cent in each year; the Hoesch Steel works, 15 per cent; the Kattowitz Mining and Iron Works Company, 10 per cent, the Rhenish Steel works, 9 per cent; the Rombach works, 8 per cent, and the Dortmund Union, 2 per cent. The sole concern which has not maintained for 1904-5 the dividend paid in the previous year is the Hsede Iron Works and Rolling Mills Company, which is the most prosperous undertaking of its kind in Germany. Yet this company complains because its association with the steel trust has reduced its dividend from 52 per cent in 1903-4 to 50 per cent in the past year. More favorable results are anticipated for the current year, as the business of the steel trust is expected to represent at least £20,000,000 of steel products."

True Republicans Are Awake.

Mr. Berry and his cohorts have twice invaded the county at the urgent request of the local enemies of Mr. Plummer and twice they have flaunted their slanders in the faces of our citizens. The very fact that the Republican candidate for state treasurer is a native of this county, has lived here all his life and has made a record as a citizen and a public servant which no man can truthfully assail, intensifies the Republican conviction that there must be a full turn out at the polls on Tuesday to the end that a crushing defeat may be administered to the political adventurers now masquerading in the garb of reform. In every district of the county the true Republicans are awake. They intend to vote the straight ticket themselves and to persuade their neighbors to go to the polls to the end that the real sentiment of the county may be made plain to our neighbors elsewhere.—Altoona Tribune.

What They May Expect.

When an attempt was made by the people of Monongahela to free themselves of the burdensome tollage levied by the bridge corporation at that place, the chief organ of the Citizens party directed the attention of the taxpayers to the proposition in a manner advising them to oppose it. This shows conclusively what the river district boroughs may expect in the event of the defeat of the Republican party in Washington county.—Donora American.

Same Old Party.

In 1887, as now, the Democrats made big promises, but they did not keep them and there is no assurance that amounts to a straw that they would do so this time. At any rate, it is best not to trust them, particularly as their candidate, Berry, doesn't loom up like a man who is fitted by training or disposition to act as custodian of the funds of the great state of Pennsylvania. Vote for Plummer.—Scranton Republican.

It Certainly Will Not.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania are asked to defeat the Republican state ticket because it is alleged that there has been official corruption in Philadelphia. How that may be is not for us to say, because we do not know. But we do know, if there is, the Republican party of Pennsylvania is not at fault and should not be punished. It will not do to chastise Paul for the offenses of Caesar.—Delaware County American.

See That You Give It.

"Plummer will have at least 3,000 majority in Westmoreland county. No, that's hardly enough; make it 4,000." Thus Harry F. Seanor, Republican county chairman, last night predicted the result of the fight for state treasurer on Tuesday to a Press representative.—Greensburg Press.

NOVEMBER.

A weft of leadless spray
Woven fine against the gray
Of the autumnal day.
And blurred along those ghostly garden tors
Cluster of berries crimson as the drops
That my heart bleeds when I remember
How often, in how many a far November,
Of childhood and my children's childhood
I was glad
With the wild rapture of the Fall
Thrilling from me to them, of all
For ruin not to be tolerably sad.
—William Dean Howells.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

"The refugees from New Orleans who fled when the yellow fever appeared in their city did not seem to have had the courage to return until President Roosevelt ran the gauntlet of the deadly mosquitoes," said Dr. Philip L. Morrison of New Rochelle, N. Y., as he left for his home last night. Dr. Morrison spent several weeks in New Orleans and then stopped for a time in St. Louis. He spent yesterday with Pittsburgh friends.

"St. Louis, Hot Springs, Memphis, Cairo and other cities have entertained New Orleans refugees by the hundreds," said Dr. Morrison. "Even after it was seen that the epidemic was conquered, the runaways feared to return. They were surprised when the President announced that he would visit New Orleans, and still more astonished when he went there and made a speech almost in sight of some of the plague-stricken houses. This gave the refugees fresh heart, and when I left St. Louis on Saturday morning the last of the New Orleans people started back home. It is the opinion of many prominent physicians that yellow jack never again will be given an opportunity to scourge this country. Medical science has profited by this experience and can guard against the plague in the future."

Talk of a Lockout Is Foolish.

"Nearly all the prominent coal operators in the country will attend the big Chicago conference on November 22, despite the fact that false reports have been spread to the effect that plans will be laid to lock out the miners next spring," said Edward M. Gohern, a Chicago operator, who passed through Pittsburgh last night.

"The mines in all parts of the country are running in full and the demand for fuel is such that it will be necessary to keep everybody at work in order to maintain the output. To say the operators are planning to bring about idleness for the miners is absurd and the reports are malicious. Chicago just now is experiencing a shortage of cars and the tonnage of our city during the last month has been diminished nearly one-half on this account."

To Curb Incorrigibles.

The Jewish branch of the Juvenile Court Aid society held a meeting last night in the Hotel Anderson. Miss Alice B. Montgomery, probation officer for the local district, made an address and outlined the character of her work, advising the members of the society how they could render the courts valuable assistance in reclaiming incorrigible children. The society's membership reaches over 200.

Same Scale for Bottle Blowers.

D. A. Hayes, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of America, returned to his home in Philadelphia last night after attending the three-days' session of the executive committee at the Seventh Avenue hotel to adjust the scale for the coming year. He declared that a few manufacturers protested against the adoption of last year's scale, but they represented a small minority and the committee would not reconsider its action.

Interested in Pennsylvania Election.

J. E. Powell, managing editor of the Fairmont West Virginian, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Powell says the Republicans in the Fairmont and Monongahela valley sections of West Virginia are intensely interested in the outcome of the Pennsylvania elections and hope for the complete triumph of the "straight ticket."

Had Riots of Her Own.

While the news is bad enough at best, it would be well, before arriving at anything like a settled opinion with regard to the number of killed and wounded in the Russian riots, and all the horrors attending them, to remember some of the stories that were published throughout the world at the time of the Haymarket riot in this city.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

WYMAN ISSUES FINAL ORDERS

Allegheny Police Are Called In and Told What Mayor Expects of Them at Polls.

CAMPAIGN PRIVILEGES EASY

The Allegheny police are to be a big factor at the polls tomorrow if the orders of Mayor Wyman are carried out. Last Wednesday all the police of Allegheny were summoned to city hall ostensibly for review. A bluff at making an inspection in Sherman avenue, in front of the high school, was carried out.

Prior to the gathering of the police R. H. Jackson and Director Scandrett met with Mayor Wyman in the latter's office. Jackson recited to the mayor the little speech he had prepared for the police, and then listened to supplementary remarks by Wyman. After the piece had been sufficiently rehearsed Jackson went down to the cellar where the force was gathered before the "inspection." Each police squad was lined up stiffly by the district lieutenants, and stood while Mr. Jackson told them what they should do to help along the administration that has taken from each man 4 per cent of his annual wages. The gist of the talk was that the police force had been brought up to a high standard of reform and efficiency under Scandrett, and that the mayor expected every patrolman to do everything possible to insure victory for the Citizens ticket on Tuesday.

Will Do Their Own Thinking.

The men listened patiently to the oration and filed out to West Diamond street, thence to Sherman avenue where they were "inspected." Down in the cellar Scandrett gave moral support to the little comedy in which City Chairman Jackson was the chief actor.

After the inspection groups of patrolmen stood about and talked the matter over. What many of them said would not have pleased Wyman or Scandrett. The 4 per cent assessment collected from the men was without exception the most unpopular thing that was ever perpetrated by Allegheny politicians. One policeman said:

"Why don't you newspapermen shoot it into this bunch. There has been a lot printed about the graft that goes on, but the public does not know how rotten things are at city hall. If the police of Allegheny bring in half a dozen votes to the administration it will be a surprise to me. I have not heard any of them say anything favorable to the administration for months past. I'll bet that nine out of every 10 of the men will vote the Republican ticket and will urge their friends to do the same."

The police were not the only employes of Allegheny city that got orders. Director McIlvain had the public works employes at the hall every day during the week and gave them their instructions. On Thursday nearly every employe at the Montrose pumping station was called in and talked to. At Greentree and Howard street orders were given and at the city light plant Wyman gave personal instructions to the men.

Cochrane Punctures a Rumor.

City hall politicians are trying to spread the report that Robert K. Cochrane, who controls the Sixth ward, is not working sincerely for the Republican ticket. When Cochrane's name is mentioned they smile significantly and wink. One city employe declared openly the other day that Cochrane was simply pulling the wool over the eyes of the Republican party leaders and that in realty he favored the entire Citizens ticket. Mr. Cochrane was spoken to regarding his attitude and said:

"Such rumors should be given no attention. I am in the fight as I always am. My ward has never gone any way but Republican, and that is the way it will go this time. The Sixth ward has eight election districts. The Republican ticket will win six of them."

A number of unlicensed clubs and gambling houses have started business within the past month. Several city employes are running a club in East Diamond street and it is open every night. The Diamond is over-run with clubs where no questions are asked of persons seeking admittance. In the Woods Run district things are running wide open. There is no pretense at city hall of being ignorant of the conditions.

HUNTER RESISTS ARREST.

Puts Up Fierce Fight With Firemen, but Is Finally Subdued.

H. L. Small and Edward Dickson, members of No. 15 engine company, Penn avenue near Fifteenth street, arrested John C. Hunter of 1312 Wilson street last evening after a hard fight. Hunter had been a passenger on a Shady avenue car and it is said his actions alarmed several women who were on the car. The conductor interfered and was attacked. Hunter using a knife. When the engine house was reached the cap was stopped and the firemen was asked to aid in arresting him.

Hunter tried to get away, but Fireman Small overtook him at Penn avenue and Fourteenth street. Hunter was getting the better of Small when Dickson reached the spot. The men had a hard fight before they subdued Hunter and sent him to No. 2 police station. The conductor received a slight cut on the face and had his coat badly slashed.

"DEAF AND DUMB" BEGGAR QUICKLY RECOVERS VOICE

When a policeman spoke sharply to James Harris in Allegheny Saturday evening he suddenly regained his voice and hearing. He had been playing "deaf and dumb" and begging on the street. The policeman told him to quit or get out of the city. Then Harris' voice came back and the things he said made women hurry by. His fine was $10 and costs at the hearing yesterday morning. Another prisoner was John Zimmerman, who placed his hat on a fire plug at Ohio and Arch streets and indulged in pistol practice. A cell in Central station was all he hit. One dollar and costs for him.

Accuses Son of Chasing Father.

Joseph Kichey of 2013 Smallman street was arrested at 11 o'clock last night. Kichey lives with his father, Frank Kichey, and they had some trouble last night. The son, it is alleged, chased the father into the street with a knife. Lieut. Bostwick heard of the trouble and made the arrest. Kichey is 33 years old and his father is 63.

IS THE VICTIM OF MASKED MEN

HIS CONDITION IS SERIOUS

That highwaymen, holdup men and other ambitious exponents of the unmanly arts are making the best of their opportunities while the police are frantically endeavoring to obey the commands of their superiors to "get 10 votes each," is attested to by Harry Watson, aged 45, of 1400 Penn avenue, who is lying in a critical condition in Mercy hospital, and who told a startling story yesterday of a murderous attack made upon him at 9 o'clock Saturday night by three masked men on the Twenty-second street bridge.

According to Watson's story, after he regained consciousness in the hospital yesterday morning, he started to walk across the bridge to attend a meeting of Fort Pitt lodge, Knights of Pythias, of which he is a member. Near the Soho end of the bridge Watson says he was accosted by three masked men who demanded his money. He says he refused and a fight ensued, during which one of the men struck him on the head with an instrument of some kind, after which he remembered nothing until he revived in the hospital.

Watson, as told in yesterday's issue of The Gazette, dropped from the bridge into Second avenue, 60 feet below, crashing through a mass of live wires and in front of a moving street car, which was stopped before striking him. According to the police story Watson was almost unhurt and had fallen from the bridge because of intoxication.

A portion of this story was refuted at the hospital yesterday, where it was said that Watson will have to undergo a serious operation because of interior concussions, and that he bears a long gash across his head which might have been made by a weapon, and that it has not been determined whether or not his skull is fractured. Watson claims that he became unconscious immediately after being struck upon the head, and if he fell into the street, he was thrown over the bridge by his antagonists.

FLINN ROAD DECISION HELPS REPUBLICAN TICKET

Fusionists of Washington County Give Up Hope of Electing Their Candidates.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 5.—The decision of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, handed down yesterday, affirming the opinion of the Washington county court in the Flinn road controversy here, has immeasurably strengthened the Republican cause in the county. The Tax Payers' League, the initiative body in the organization of the citizens' movement here, brought suit several months ago against the county commissioners and the contractors of a Flinn road to prevent the payment of the contract money, alleging fraud and the illegal letting of contracts. Judge McIlvaine of Washington county dismissed the case, declaring no fraud and the case was appealed.

Since then the Republican party has made the improvement of roads according to the Flinn law the paramount issue in the present campaign and the affirmation of the higher tribunal has made the Republican leaders jubilant. The estimated majority following this step of the supreme court, made tonight by Republican leaders, is 3,000, without reckoning on the doubtful districts.

The Citizen-Democratic fusionists have tonight practically given up hope of winning, but are attempting to keep up a bold front by declaring in a public statement that their candidates will be elected by a majority of 1,500. It was stated here tonight that Boyd Crumrine, the Citizens' nominee for additional law judge, would announce tomorrow that he would withdraw and throw his support to Judge J. F. Taylor, the present incumbent and the Republican nominee. The Citizens have conceded a majority for Plummer in Washington county for state treasurer, Berry's chances for winning here being slim. The Republicans claim that the state ticket will carry in this county by at least 4,000, a fair "off year" Republican majority.

CHEER M'CLELLAN AS SACRED CALF IS BORN

Auspicious Event Marks Great Demonstration for New York's Mayor and His Administration.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—While a sacred calf, said to be a sure sign of good fortune, was being born in the animal quarters at the Hippodrome tonight, seven or eight thousand men and women were paying a great tribute to Mayor McClellan and his administration in the auditorium. At the end of an impassioned appeal to the voters, Corporation Counsel John J. Delaney, asked in ringing tones:

"The question is, has George B. McClellan given us a good administration?"

Instantly a shout rose to the roof, "yes," and the crowd sprang to its feet and waved 5,000 tiny American flags, while the orchestra burst into the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner." A huge picture of the mayor was lowered from the top of the scenes and was saluted by thunderous cheers.

CARD PLAYERS RIOT.

Dispute Among Italians Leads to Display of Cutlery.

A division of opinion on the law as laid down by Hoyle led to a riot during an Italian card party in Viola street, Thirty-sixth ward, yesterday afternoon. As a result several men were cut by stilettos, daggers, and other forms of cutlery. Eight were arrested and the card game was discontinued.

When the police arrived a dozen or more Italians were apparently engaged in a sword dance and weapons were being flashed liberally. There was a rush when the officers arrived. Those arrested were taken to the West End police station to be given hearings on charges of disorderly conduct this morning. Those cut were not seriously injured.

HAYNES APPOINTS HIMSELF BOSS

Attempts to Supplant Chairman of Citizens Organization in Twenty-Third Ward.

COMMITTEEMEN ARE OUSTED

The distinction of having two chairmen to boss the ward organization belongs exclusively to the Citizens party in the Twenty-third ward. Despite the extravagant claims made within the past week of the Citizens ticket carrying the ward with the help of the Baltimore & Ohio payroll, conditions are far from being lovely for the pledge-breakers.

On Saturday W. S. Haynes distributed circular letters throughout the Twenty-third ward proclaiming himself the chairman of the Citizens' ward committee, although never having been elected to this position. Haynes is attempting to supplant Herbert Watson, the regularly-elected chairman of the ward organization. Not only has he put himself at the head of the ward organization, but he has named an entirely new set of officers for more than half of the 15 district organizations in the ward, appointing men at the head of the district organizations to take the place of those who have been acting with and supporting Watson.

This move on the part of Haynes has created wide-spread dissension among the party workers in the ward, where the Citizens party leaders have been claiming they would roll up a big majority for their county ticket with the help of the large payroll vote employed at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad shops and yards. Haynes is not popular in the ward in his own party and Watson and his friends are not pleased with the prospect of Haynes usurping their places.

Haynes is said to be advertising that he is handling all the Citizens' money that will be spent in the ward, and this is the magnet that is expected to rally the Citizens party followers to his standard. The Republicans are particularly well pleased with the prominence that Haynes has assumed in the direction of political affairs, and feel confident it will help them immensely.

Haynes is a man of distinction in more ways than one. When the city offices were being filled by the present administration in 1903 he held the appointment of superintendent of the bureau of water assessments for 24 hours. After a conference of Mayor Hays and his newly-chosen cabinet, at which all the principal positions were filled, it was found that Haynes' name had in some mysterious manner gotten on the list of appointments. This was done without the knowledge or consent of Director Bigelow, who has jurisdiction over this bureau, and the director was wrathy when he heard that Haynes had had himself appointed superintendent.

Haynes' name was stricken off the list. He again came into prominence recently when Controller Larkin attempted to influence the action of the Orphans' central committee in the indorsement of a county ticket. Larkin tried to force Haynes into membership on the committee so that he might vote with Larkin for the indorsement of the Citizens ticket. The committee, however, refused to admit Haynes to membership and left Larkin with only two votes besides his own.

"BOODLE AND ITS CURE" IS DISCUSSED BY PREACHER

NEW CASTLE, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—"Boodle and Its Cure," was the subject of an address here this afternoon, by the Rev. Dr. Crayton S. Brooks of St. Louis, before a mass meeting of all the churches at the Park Christian church. Dr. Brooks is credited with having started reforms in Missouri that resulted in the election of Gov. Joseph W. Folk.

CAMPAIGN WHISKY MAY CAUSE A MURDER

MICHIGAN CITY, IND., Nov. 5.—In a fight today, among 200 Turks and Syrians, at a picnic, Barney Hipp was probably fatally injured and half a dozen other participants were wounded. The men had been drinking liquor furnished them by candidates for election to municipal offices.

SERVICES FOR THE DEAD.

Thousands of Roman Catholics Throng Millvale Churches and Cemeteries. Streets Bright With Uniforms.

Four thousand Polish, Hungarian and German Roman Catholics journeyed through Millvale yesterday afternoon to the St. Mary and St. Anthony cemeteries in Shaler township to celebrate All Souls day with memorial services for the dead. The gay uniforms of the military societies and their brass bands lent a touch of color to the multitude which filled the streets. Thousands crossed the Forty-third street bridge from the Lawrenceville district, and others came from Allegheny and Millvale. The street cars could not accommodate the crowd and many traveled on foot or in carriages.

Services were held in all the Roman Catholic churches in the afternoon. The St. Mary and St. Joseph cemeteries near Sharpsburg were not so crowded as many were prevented from attending on account of the rain. Special services were held in the St. Mary Roman Catholic church, Sharpsburg, in the afternoon, but the services at the cemetery, which were to have included the unveiling and dedication of a handsome marble group statue of the Virgin, in the burying plot, especially reserved for the priests of the Order of Holy Ghost, have been postponed until today on account of the rain.

Not Poison, but Hysteria.

Mrs. P. M. Rooney of 1927 Fifth avenue was removed to the Homeopathic hospital early yesterday morning. She was thought to have been poisoned, but it was found she was only suffering from hysteria. She was able to return home a few hours later.

Fire in an East End Store.

A blaze in the store of John Grosmund at 6335 Frankstown avenue was discovered at 2:40 a. m. yesterday. Some paper and excelsior under the stairway leading out of the store at the rear had become ignited. About $100 damage was done.

Legislation for the correction and adjustment of these wrongs was promised the people of this city nearly two years ago, and the promises must be kept; either that or those who obstruct and prevent their adjustment should be relieved of their public trust. —Controller Larkin, August 20, 1903.

JOHN B. LARKIN PROVES HIS NAME IS BUTTINSKI

Breaks Into a Conference in Berry's Room and Is as Welcome as an Orangeman at a Hibernian Picnic.

Long ago John B. Larkin admitted the B in his name stood for "Buttinski." Evidence of this was found Saturday in the private apartments of William H. Berry in the Monongahela house.

Berry came to the city Saturday morning and in the evening addressed a meeting in Old City hall. He was here under the auspices of the Democrats of the Guffey and Guthrie stripe.

Early Saturday he made an appointment to meet representatives of the Lincoln party in his rooms at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. W. H. Stevenson and Wesley R. Guffey kept the appointment. Soon the Bigelow Democrats learned of the conference and they tried in every way to break it up.

Finally Mr. Berry heard a loud rapping on his door. He opened it and in walked Larkin. The same Larkin, by the way, who obeyed the orders of Boss Bigelow and kept Berry off the Citizens ticket. Larkin helped himself to a seat and immediately started to spoil it. With an enemy in the camp the conference was brought to a speedy close. He was about as welcome as an Orangeman at a Hibernian picnic.

In the course of a few minutes the bell boy handed Mr. Berry the card of James A. Clark. The candidate for state treasurer looked at it for a time and then said to the boy:

"Show the fellow up. Then you tell that clerk downstairs that I told him early in the day I would not meet any one with whom I had not made an appointment."

The remark about "appointments" and the like did not move the man with "Buttinski" for a middle name. He had orders from Bigelow to interfere and he had to stick it out.

Larkin was to have made a speech at the Old City hall meeting Saturday night. He did not even sit on the stage with Berry.

CITIZENS LEADERS TRY TO INTIMIDATE VOTERS

Cause Disorder at the Thirteenth Ward Republican Headquarters and Have Police Raid the Place. Magistrate Moke Spoils Their Scheme.

With the aid of the police bureau the Citizens party adherents in the Thirteenth ward yesterday attempted to cripple the Republican organization of the ward by arresting eight Republican workers and locking them in No. 3 police station. Back of enthusiasm for the candidates of the Citizens-Democratic ticket in the ward is worrying the Citizens leaders and the workers in the ward were ordered to break the strength of the Republicans.

This order bore no fruit, but about midnight Saturday, while seven of the Republican workers were in the headquarters of the Fourteenth district, two young men, strangers to the ward leaders, entered the headquarters and began to sing. Twenty minutes later Police Inspector W. J. Boyle and Lieut. C. F. Ford, with a squad of police, went up to the Republican district headquarters in Ridge street, near Grant boulevard, and raided the place, taking the seven Republicans away in the patrol wagon. The two young men who had been sent there to raise a disturbance were not arrested.

While in the headquarters Inspector Boyle told Edward Mooney to tear down the posters bearing the names of the Republican candidates, and when Mooney refused, it is alleged Boyle jumped up on a chair and tore down six Republican posters and threw them on the floor and tramped on them. The Republicans were taken to No. 3 police station in Penn avenue near Twenty-sixth street, and locked up for the night. Blair Moore of 567 Grant boulevard, being charged with being the proprietor of a disorderly house. William Fay of Ridge street was notified about 6 o'clock that some of the ward workers were locked up and he went to the police station to get them out. When Inspector Boyle saw Fay he placed him under arrest, telling him he was wanted for keeping a disorderly house.

Inspector Boyle had carried out his orders from the Citizens leaders, but it developed later that Magistrate George A. Moke had not been let into the scheme, and when the Republicans were called for a hearing he discharged all but Moore and Fay, who were each ordered to pay $5 and costs. Dr. J. C. McNeil, president of the Thirteenth Ward Republican organization, and the men who were arrested, will today secure a transcript of the cases and appeal from Moke's decision. It was stated last night that an information will be sworn out against Inspector Boyle for malicious mischief.

Voters of the Thirteenth ward are very indignant at the attempt of the Citizens leaders to intimidate them, but because of Magistrate Moke a part of their scheme failed. Proprietors of alleged disorderly houses are usually fined $50 or $100 and costs, with the alternative of spending from 30 to 90 days in the workhouse. It is believed the Citizens leaders ordered the raid in order to get the Republican workers out of the way until after election.

PRESIDENT HAS TALK WITH PAUL MORTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, tonight called at the White House and spent an hour with the president. The object of the call was not made public, although it was surmised that the President desired information bearing on the insurance situation. Mr. Morton left the White House in time to take the midnight train to return to New York.

$2.00 eolienne, $1.00

Silk warp Chiffon Eolienne—44 inches wide.

Sheer rich fabric in beautiful shades—French Gray, Cadet, Mode, Helio, Castor, Brown, Rose, Reseda, Cream, Black.

For evening or party dresses, this beautiful soft clinging fabric at a Dollar a yard, affords opportunity of great importance and interest to women.

We were glad to take it all at a price, from the importer who felt that the money he had tied up in it had better be cashed in at a big discount than to let it lay in stock, since he had exhausted his rather limited trade relationship.

good goods, 25c

You can form no idea of what nice things are in this lot at a quarter, till you get a look at them.

Residue of an Eastern jobber's stock—188 pieces he had left after filling his retail orders for hundreds of cases—made this price to put the balance out of existence as far as his connection with them was concerned.

plaids

Have an immense variety—special Plaid department—Silk and Wool Plaids, All-Wool Plaids, Wool and Cotton Plaids, All-Cotton Ploids.

Prices, 10c to $1.25 a yard.

See the bright, clean, splendid Silk and Wool Plaids for Children's wear or Waists for woman at 50c —double-fold goods, 36 inches wide—so pretty they'll be a great delight to the many who admire Plaid effects.

SPEND MILLIONS ON THE SCHOOLS

Supt. Hamilton Reports on Expenditures and Results in Allegheny County.

PUPILS WANT TO EARN MONEY

Dr. Samuel Hamilton, superintendent of the public schools of Allegheny county, will issue his report in a day or two. It will interest the people of the county who have over $5,000,000 invested in school property and who spent last year over $2,050,000 in maintaining the schools. The figures for the year ended June 1, 1905, excluding Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport, tell this eloquent and significant story:

| | |
|---|---|
| Number of square miles | 758 |
| School districts | 119 |
| Townships | 66 |
| Boroughs | 49 |
| Independent district | 1 |
| School directors | 741 |
| Teachers employed | 1,514 |
| Teachers employed, men | 165 |
| Teachers employed, women | 1,349 |
| Teachers employed in borough schools | 947 |
| Teachers employed in township schools | 567 |
| Pupils enrolled | 63,592 |
| Pupils enrolled in townships | 24,676 |
| Pupils enrolled in boroughs | 38,826 |
| Schools in which vocal music is taught | 622 |
| Pupils who study vocal music | 29,708 |
| Special supervisors in music | 18 |
| High schools | 35 |
| High school teachers | 64 |
| Schools visited by superintendent | 573 |
| Educational meetings attended | 99 |
| Average term in months in townships | 8.10 |
| Average term in months in boroughs | 9.35 |
| Average term in months in county | 8.72 |
| Totalue of school property | $3,139,752 00 |
| Amount spent for educational purposes | 2,149,203 40 |
| Amount paid to teachers | 779,359 00 |

These figures are greater in certain cases than the totals under the same headsin any one of a number of entire states, so that this county, educationally as well as politically, might be termed the "state of Allegheny."

Praise and Blame Apportioned.

Concerning the progress of the year the somewhat doubtful qualifications of some of the directors and teachers, the superintendent speaks right out to the following purport:

Our schools have made excellent progress duringthe year. The intellectual and ethical results, as far as we can estimate them, have been good. And, if thorough organization, earnest co-operation and skilful effort are guarantees of quality and quantity in these results, our progress eftentionally has been at least as great as in any former year. It is true that some of our directors gave no more thought or attention to their schools than if the children were mere articles of merchandise; but upon the whole our boards are to be congratulated for their fidelity and cooperation, and our teachers for the earnestness and vigor of their efforts.

JAMES DICKSON, PH. D.,
Superintendent of Allegheny county schools from 1875 to 1881.

The professional zeal manifested by our teachers during the year has, upon the whole, been most commendable. We have many, of course, who are indifferent; others who, like the old Key, are "resting and rusting," still others who exhibit in a marked degree the advanced stages of professional disintegration, and still others at whose pedagogic funeral the mourners would be few. But upon the whole our teachers as a body were zealous, earnest, and in some cases enthusiastic.

The superintendent visited over 550 schools during the year and attended and spoke at nearly 100 educational meetings. This year, with the assistance of Prof. C. E. Dickey of Avalon, lately appointed for the purpose, almost every school in the county will be reached. It is understood the entire time of the assistant superintendent is to be given to school visitation during the term.

Children Want to Earn Money.

A dangerous tendency is referred to by Dr. Hamilton in the growing inclination of pupils to drop out of school and seek employment while under the age limit. This, he finds, is permitted through the carelessness of directors in enforcing the compulsory attendance law and through the mistaken desire of parents to have the children earn a pittance at the expense of their education. An amendment to the child labor law passed at the last session of the legislature may, he thinks, help to check this tendency as it is intended to safeguard the employment of children under 16 years of age.

"The fact remains, however," says the superintendent, "and it is greatly to be deplored, that so many pupils drop out in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades and so few remain to complete the work of the high school."

This exodus from the school is attributed to dissatisfaction with the school and to a desire to earn money. The cure prescribed for dissatisfaction is "better schools," more parental co-operation, and a more rigid enforcement of the compulsory and factory laws." No remedy is recommended for the evil of allowing children to quit school at a tender age in order to earn a little money because it seems to have the approval of parents and of "this commercial age."

As to Educational Shams.

Concerning educational shams the report says:

Something for nothing, or as much as possible for the least effort, is the ruling principle of this commercialism. Selfishness seems supreme. Its demands wealth, position, power, honor or scholarship, without giving for them honest equivalents. Get-rich-quick schemes, and get-educated-quick schemes are legion. They are exceeded in number only by those who patronize them. And superficial externality, in a thousand forms of beauty fair to the eye, hides a bare and bald interior of sham and moral emptiness.

The report contains as a frontispiece a full-page portrait of Dr. James Dickson, the only surviving ex-superintendent, who 25 years ago was the best known man in Allegheny county. He is living in well-earned retirement on his farm near Clinton and is said to be the first if not the only Allegheny county educator who became wealthy at the business.

The report is also replete with other interesting matter, including the names and addresses of the school directors and teachers and the salaries paid to the teachers.

NEW SHIPS FOR ANCHOR LINE.

One Like the Caledonia, but Larger, for the New York-Glasgow Service.

Henderson Bros., general agents for the Anchor line, are in receipt of a cable informing them that the owners have placed an order with D. & W. Henderson & Co. for a vessel similar in appearance to the Caledonia, with accommodation for 300 saloon, 300 second cabin and 1,000 steerage passengers—1,000 tons more capacity than the Caledonia and is to be ready for service between New York and Glasgow in February, 1907.

An order has also been placed with Barclay, Curle & Co. for a large steamship to be employed in the Anchor line service between Glasgow, Liverpool and Bombay. This vessel will have accommodations for about 100 saloon passengers and is expected to be ready for service the latter part of 1906.

BOTH SIDES GET READY FOR FRAY

BOTH LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—The sheriff of the county of Philadelphia has issued a proclamation giving notice to all persons that they must abstain from interfering with the election officers in the performance of their duties next Tuesday. The issuing of a proclamation of this character is unusual.

The proclamation quotes that portion of the election laws relating to the duties of election officers and warns all policemen, deputy sheriffs and constables not to enter polling places except to cast their ballots or when called upon to keep order or enforce the law. He calls upon and requires all citizens to render all aid and assistance to the deputy sheriffs appointed by the sheriff. James L. Miles, the sheriff, is the leader of the regular Republicans in the Thirteenth ward, and is chairman of the Republican city committee.

In the campaign just closed the Republican organization and the City party adherents have made counter charges of contemplated fraud and intimidation of voters and election officers. Col. Sheldon Potter, the director of public safety, who is a leader on the reform side, has instructed the police they must see the election laws are enforced; they must prevent fraudulent ballots from being cast, and they will be held responsible for every illegal vote found.

On the other hand, the Republican organization is charging that the police are in politics; that they will intimidate voters; will arrest Republican election officers on false charges, and in other ways exceed their authority. In this connection the organization has planned to have lawyers in every one of the 42 wards on election day, to look after the Republican election officers and Republican magistrates will be on hand to take bail in case Republican voters or watchers are arrested.

The City party has also arranged to furnish bail bonds for the immediate release of any workers who may be illegally arrested on election day at the instance of opponents. A corps of lawyers will also be on hand at central headquarters to answer legal queries and defend all party workers.

The committee of 70, which organized the City party, made the announcement tonight that it would promptly prosecute all persons committing fraud on election day, and that $10,000 had been set aside to be paid in rewards to those instrumental in securing the arrest and conviction of election offenders.

Chinese Port Is Opened.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Tokyo says that China has opened the port of Haichau to foreign trade.

The Death Roll.

Mrs. Emilia Baelz.

Mrs. Emilia Baelz, widow of Dr. C. Baelz, who was a prominent physician in Pittsburgh over 30 years ago, died yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Boothe, 1208 Murray Hill avenue. Mrs. Baelz was in her 88th year. The immediate cause of her death was pneumonia. She was ill only a week. She was born in England and came to the vicinity of Pittsburgh at an early age. Two children survive, Mrs. E. C. Baxter of Cleveland and Mrs. W. A. Boothe of Pittsburgh. Dr. Baelz died in 1873. He had an office in Fifth avenue, where the Carnegie building stands. Mrs. Baelz retained her mental and physical vigor to a marked degree up to the time of her death. She lived in Salem, O., until two years ago, when she came to Pittsburgh and made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Boothe. She was a member of St. Andrew's P. E. church. The interment will take place at Salem, O.

Mrs. Joseph S. Seaman.

Mrs. Hannah Alice Slater Seaman, wife of Joseph S. Seaman, president and general manager of the firm of Seaman-Sleeth Company, died last night at her home, 636 Clyde street, after several months' illness. Mrs. Seaman was born in 1840 and originally was then called First street, now First avenue, and was the daughter of William Slater, a former block and tackle builder of this city. Mrs. Seaman was an active member of the First Evangelical Lutheran church, Grant street, for 11 years, and had been president of the Ladies' Aid society of the church for the past 15 years. She was also identified with Passavant hospital and Orphan's home work. She leaves a husband, two sons, Charles B. and Joseph S. Seaman, Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. James H. Hammond.

The Hon. Gilbrath S. McFadden.

The Hon. Gilbrath S. McFadden, aged 80, died yesterday in Salem, Ore., at the home of his niece, Mrs. Alice Frizzell. Mr. McFadden was a resident of Moundsville, W. Va., and a native of Washington county, Pa. He went to California with the "Forty Niners," and became wealthy, later returning east and settling at Moundsville. He was at one time a member of the West Virginia state legislature. As a contractor he built, in 1895, the federal prison at Moundsville. He was the father of W. H. McFadden, vice president and general manager of Mackintosh, Hemphill & Co., of Pittsburgh. The funeral will take place at Moundsville at a date to be fixed later.

Mrs. Margaret A. Little.

Mrs. Margaret A. Little, aged 61, widow of Dr. Joseph H. Little, died at her home in Washington, Pa., yesterday afternoon after a short illness due to typhoid fever. Mrs. Little, who was a woman of wealth, was active in religious circles. She was a member of the Second Presbyterian church of Washington, the C. E. and Woman's auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. and other church organizations. Mrs. Little was born on the Wadsworth farm, near Castle Shannon, and moved to Washington county when a child. She is survived by a sister and two daughters, who reside in Colorado. Funeral services will be held in her late home on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ellen M. Boggs.

ROCHESTER, PA., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ellen M. Boggs, 59 years old, died today from burns received last Thursday when her clothing ignited while she was burning waste paper at an open grate. Besides her husband, Joseph Boggs, she leaves three daughters—Mrs. Carl Harper of West Bridgewater, Miss Florence and Miss Ida Boggs, at home. These brothers and sister also survive: Mrs. John Mellon, Brush Creek; John Wallace, Rochester; Robert Wallace, Economy township; William Wallace, Daugherty township.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Henry Gibson, aged 80, wife of Cashier W. W. Gibson of the City Savings bank of Alliance, O., died yesterday in Alliance.

John F. McClelland, aged 74 years, died yesterday in North Franklin township, Washington county. He was a native of the county and a wealthy farmer. He leaves a wife and five children.

Mrs. Ellen Cannon, wife of Peter J. Cannon of Lowellville, O., died at the hospital in New Castle, Pa., yesterday morning, from the effects of an operation. She was 28 years old and a member of the Roman Catholic church.

FREAK'S NAME IS "TOM AND JERRY"

MANY VISITORS AT PARKS

It seemed that it was just because yesterday's weather was the sort to beget colds, pneumonia, tonsilitis and kindred affections, that one of the chrysanthemum plants at the Phipps conservatory put out a freak bloom that looked like a rich, warming bowl of Tom and Jerry. And Supt. George W. Burke, who named the odd flower after the favorite winter beverage, remarked that it was strange that nature should be the first to imitate the bartender's mixture.

Twenty thousand people, the majority of whom came to the city on excursions from out of town, marveled at the peculiar freak creation. The "Tom and Jerry" chrysanthemum is of immense size and the blossom, which is of exceedingly fine texture, is cleaved in half as if by a knife. One side is light pink and the other is pale yellow. It is one of the strangest flowers that ever grew in the local conservatory.

Despite the unfavorable weather, made especially disagreeable in the parks by a chilly rain, there were so many patriotic visitors that the greenhouses, the art galleries and the Carnegie music hall were crowded from early morning until dark.

Chrysanthemums at Their Best.

Fortunately the crowd was not so large as to necessitate a line to be kept waiting for admission, but throughout the day the capacity of all the buildings was taxed. The chrysanthemums were at their best yesterday. For next Sunday's show it will be necessary to renew some of the collection with fresh plants from the propagating houses.

Country excursion crowds as a rule are not composed of ostentatious art critics, and the people who wandered through the galleries yesterday did not make comments on light, tone, color, atmosphere or technique. A picture was "pretty" or it was not. Praise for the portraits usually was said where the subject happened to be a beautiful woman. The bright green landscapes with the Italian blue skies and the deep clouds were received with demonstrative approbation and the marine scenes pleased everybody.

Childe Hassam's impressionistic dream, "June," which took the third prize, didn't have so many admirers. People from the country are not backward in saying that they don't like that sort of thing. They could not make out whether Hassam was trying to paint lilacs, chrysanthemums or ironweed, and the trio of nude figures was openly denounced.

Subject for Sewing Circles.

It is a safe waker that Mr. Hassam's ears will burn when the church sewing circles meet up in Clarion, Jefferson and Indiana counties this winter.

However, there were many persons in yesterday's visitors at the art galleries who know what they are talking about in their discussions of art and they struggled through the surging, rambling crowd in their efforts to quietly study the beauty of the pictures. "Evening in the Studio," the first prize winner, seems to be especially popular with art lovers. The others favored by the art jury are not so often praised.

Clarence Eddy presided at the organ in the 719th free recital in the music hall. His hearers paid him the compliment of sitting until the close and of paying respectful attention. It was in few instances that the seats were vacated between the numbers of the program. The sonata in C minor by Ralph L. Baldwin of Hartford, Conn., and dedicated to Mr. Eddy, was the feature of the program.

There were comparatively few people who had the fortitude to tramp across Highland park to the zoo, and in consequence the animals spent a day of lonesomeness.

Found Dead on Track.

MAN AND WOMAN END LIVES WITH POISON

Ill-Health and Despondency Causes Which Contribute to Two Sunday Suicides.

Two persons committed suicide in this city yesterday. Frank Burgess of 5511 Dauphin street took laudanum, and Mary Tyler of 32 State alley died at the West Penn hospital from arsenic poisoning. Burgess, who was a negro, had been despondent because of ill health. Early yesterday morning he took the poison. Dr. Ackson of 5201 Penn avenue worked with the negro for five hours, but was unable to save him. Burgess was employed as a teamster and was 31 years old.

May Tyler took some poison two days ago. She was taken to the West Penn hospital. It is thought she drank carbolic acid. She was found groaning in her room, but no bottle was found when the place was searched. She had been despondent and had threatened several times to take her life. She died without regaining consciousness.

John Geroswich, aged 33, of Ambridge, while walking on the tracks of the Ft. Wayne railroad near Woods run station, was run down and killed by a train yesterday afternoon.

Wirt Ross, aged 50, a negro coal miner, died at Mercy hospital last night from injuries received in a mine at Reissing on October 30 by a car falling on him. His back was broken.

Morton Fugger, aged 27, of Hampton township, was found dead on Creek road, about five miles from Etna, yesterday. He was to have come to Allegheny with a neighbor who, when Fugger failed to appear at the meeting place, instituted a search for him and found him lying by the roadside.

Michael Succo, aged 42, died in the Allegheny county jail early yesterday morning from delerium tremens. He was committed there on November 1 for 10 days by Burgess James Purcell of Braddock, on a charge of drunkenness.

Anna Havock, aged 1, of 1 Hampton avenue, McKees Rocks, died suddenly at the home of her parents Saturday night.

Three Persons Cremated.

DAYTON, O., Nov. 5.—Jacob Haugh, his wife and his son Jesse, were cremated in a fire which destroyed their cottage this morning. There is a considerable mystery concerning the origin of the fire, which the coroner is investigating.

Neither he nor any other man can restore the Citizens party to confidence while it has stolen goods in its pockets. There must be true repentance and that repentance must include restitution by the repeal of the boulevard, bank and water grabs. Until this is done the Citizens party cannot hope to enjoy the confidence of the voters of Pittsburgh.—John B. Larkin, July 25, 1904.

NOBODY IS EXEMPT.

A New Preparation Which Everyone Will Need Sooner or Later.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing they do for it is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which, in many cases, are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach, and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two tablets—give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common-sense medicine, and a common-sense treatment, and it will cure every time. Not only cure the disease, but cure the cause, does about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However—Mrs. E. M. Faith, of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says:

"I have taken all the Tablets I got of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel like a different person altogether. I don't doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time."

H. E. Willard, Ousiow, Ia., says: "Mr. White of Canton, was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of Dyspepsia, from which he suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself I wish you to send me a package by return mail."

Phil. Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your Dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

It will cost 50c to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them—that's the best way to decide.

Can't Do It

Heart troubles do not get better without help; if the cause is not removed the heart continues to get weaker.

They are the outgrowth of exhausted nerve force, and as the heart cannot stop to rest, as do other organs, it must continue until completely disabled, and —that's the end.

Or, the very first indication of heart weakness, you can stop all progress and effect a cure by the use of

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

It feeds, strengthens and builds up the nerves and muscles of the heart. "I had heart trouble for years, pains in side, short breath, palpitation, smothering spells. Every exertion caused sharp pains and weakness in the heart. Am now on the third bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and the result is wonderful. Pains are entirely gone, and I sleep good, have good appetite, and think Dr. Miles' Heart Cure the best medicine in the world."

WASH.-JEFF. TEAM DISAPPOINTMENT

SOME SATURDAY AFTERMATH

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 5.—Every effort will be made by the Washington and Jefferson coaches to get the local team into shape this week for the contest at Pittsburgh next Saturday with W. U. P. Saturday's hard game with the Ohio Medical university team has displayed several weak points in the Washington-Jefferson plan of attack and Head Coach Piekarski and his assistants will endeavor to remedy these during the week. That Piekarski is displeased with the work of Washington and Jefferson is indicated by the terse statement he made today in regard to the playing. He simply said: "The team played rotten ball." Piekarski says the Washington-Jefferson eleven should not have been scored upon at all and last night at the training house gave them a severe lecture, pointing out the weak points and telling them what they would have to do to get into shape for the W. U. P. contest.

Ohio Medics had an unusually strong team. They employed a varied style of attack which Washington and Jefferson toward the end of the struggle seemed unable to fathom. The left side of the line showed amazing weakness at critical times and it was here that the Columbus physicians managed to score. The practice all this week will be behind closed gates. There are rumors that the Washington-Jefferson team is overtrained, but this is denied. It is certain that the red and black did not play the best game they could yesterday and something is wrong somewhere. The work of the University of Pennsylvania men last week developed better playing in the back field, but the line showed the absence of Piekarski, who will do everything possible to get the men playing rightly this week.

Bridges, the former Allegheny college man, will appear at College field tomorrow and be a candidate for a tackle position. He has lots of weight, and if he proves good enough in speed should make a valuable addition to the local eleven. He was not in the contest Saturday, but will get into the playing at once and try hard for a place on the varsity. Coach Piekarski will not venture an opinion on the chances of Washington and Jefferson against Western University of Pennsylvania.

"Where is Mehl; what has become of Ritchey?" were two questions heard expressed by spectators at the W. U. P. game Saturday. Mehl is the fullback who did great work for W. U. P. last year, particularly in the State game, and Ritchey is the quarterback who came here from the University of Illinois. Both are good men, but they are not in the game. Mehl has not a superior on the team in advancing the ball, but he is not being played, and there are many who ask why. According to Dame Rumor, Mehl has incurred the displeasure of the coach and is being punished by being kept out of the game, while Ritchey is also in the same difficulty. It is asserted Ritchey made one play in the Cornell game that did not conform with the judgment of the coach and now there is a breach. There are many who pay their coin at the gate who should like to see them in action again.

With the game with W. and J. less than a week off, every effort will be made in the W. U. P. camp to whip the eleven into the best possible form to meet its rival collegians. The showing of the varsity in the Bethany game on Saturday showed considerable improvement since the last appearance. The varsity line, which was used in the first half against Bethany Saturday seemed to work as a unit and the team showed better speed in starting. Perry, the star end, was not in the last game on account of an injured ankle, but he and Marshall may be in condition to play tomorrow afternoon. Zieg is ready for work again, but will hardly appear in the line-up before the big game next Saturday. The Franklin and Marshall team, which will play here tomorrow, is lighter than W. U. P., yet it is said to have a faster man. After tomorrow's contest the coach will hold steady but light signal practice daily and the final line-up against W. and J. will depend largely on the showing against the F. and M. and in the three days of practice following.

The prevalence of good drop-kickers on the minor college teams and the lack of them in the big university eleven has become so marked as to attract considerable attention. The 1905 season so far has not produced a single drop-kicker of note.

The only possible exception to this is Schultz of Columbia, who saved Columbia from a defeat at the hands of Amherst by drop-kicking a goal in the last 30 seconds of play. But Schultz at best is only a third substitute. As a matter of fact, the big universities pay very little attention to drop-kicking.

With the minor colleges the reverse is the case. The most notable drop-kickers of the year in the east are Shuster of Lafayette, Crowell of Swarthmore, Norton of Annapolis, and Tooker of Princeton. The latter, however, has not kicked any field goals this year, but because of his 1904 reputation is expected to do so before the season ends.

Crowell, the Swarthmore captain, is one of the best drop-kickers the east has seen. In 1904 he kicked 13 field goals, and one of them from the 54-yard mark has never been excelled. In that year he kicked the only goal scored against Pennsylvania, and he repeated the trick this fall. Shuster of Lafayette is a close second, and in two games this year averaged three goals in each. Against Princeton he saved his team from a whitewash by kicking a goal from the 42-yard line.

Holy Cross outplayed Amherst in all points, winning 9 to 0. Capt. Hubbard of Amherst nearly precipitated a riot by kicking Hethernan of Holy Cross over the left eye just before the end of the game. Spectators surged around the Amherst team, threatening it, but a score of policemen escorted Hubbard off the field.

The Dartmouth team undoubtedly showed great strength and played a comparatively flawless game, but if the Tigers had not taken such an unexpected slump there was no likelihood that the visitors could have scored.

"Doc" Lowenthal, a brother of Coach Lowenthal of Illinois, who has been both Michigan and Chicago in action this season declares that Stagg's men will carry off the western championship honors.

If any one man was responsible for Penn's poor play it was Quarterback Stevenson. It was he who missed Fullback McAvoy when he came tearing through the Pennsylvania team for his 30-yard run and a touchdown, and it was he who had to be ruled out of the game in the second half for unnecessary roughness. His loss seemed to demoralize the Quakers, for Johnson, who succeeded him, failed to measure up to "Stevey's" good work.

Columbia will break away from Amherst. They do not get along well, because since Amherst beat the New York team on two occasions, the New Englanders have demanded all sorts of concessions, until finally they have become almost unbearable.

The Sterlings play the Oakland Collegians Tuesday. The following players are to report for practice this evening at 7:30 sharp: Houk, Murdoch, Boisson, Hartman brothers, Meuls, Roberts, Davidson, Spargo, Wallace, Tierney, Prosser, Tesh, Borland, Negley, Scott, Freeman and Capt. Wilburn. The Sterlings still have November 11 open. Address R. W. Wallace, Jr., 860 Peebles sreet, Wilkinsburg.

Hays is not the head of the government in Pittsburgh. As every person knows, one of the mayor's subordinates, E. M. Bigelow, is the head of the government, not only of the administrative branch, but of the legislative branch as well. The people have no confidence in the administration.—John B. ## KISKI'S CAPTAIN CAN KICK GOALS FROM FIELD

HARRY WILSON, Quarterback.

The Shadyside eleven has been trained by the coaches to watch Kumler, the Kiski captain, in tomorrow's game at Friendship park. Kumler is a young giant standing over six feet, weighs 185 pounds and is just 19 years old. The reason the Shadyside ends will be always on the alert to get behind the Kiski line when a kick is to be made, is that Kumler is one of the best kickers Kiski ever had, and he has been dropping goals from the field with frequency this year. The Shadyside ends are fast and they will need be to stop this young giant from booting the ball through the cross-bars.

Kumler did not drop any from the field in the game with Pittsburgh High school last year, as the up-country students outclassed the locals, but when Kiski gets within the Shadyside 40-yard line tomorrow an attempt at goal from the field may be expected.

Tomorrow's game will be the first Harry Wilson ever played in Pittsburgh. He is playing quarterback and the Kiski coaches say he is the find of the season. He captained last year's championship baseball team, playing shortstop.

JOHNSTOWN DRAWS THE MOST BALL PATRONS

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Although Johnstown carried off the honors for the paid attendance of the Tri-State league during the past season Harrisburg finished a close second. By counting its membership admissions it drew more people than any other club in the league. Besides the local club carried off the honors for banner days, as it is credited with more big days than all the other clubs put together. The annual financial report of the league has just been prepared and submitted to the auditors by President Creamer.

From the 5 per cent assessment levied against each club on its gate receipts, the sum of $5,117.12 was realized, showing that the gate receipts of the clubs in the league, exclusive of grandstand and season ticket patronage, was in the neighborhood of $105,000.

Added to this sum the season tickets of the various clubs and grandstand receipts must be considered, thus giving the total of estimated receipts almost $150,000. This shows a total attendance of over 600,000 people for the season in the eight cities.

Johnstown led in the gate receipt assessment for league expenses, as their 5 per cent share amounted to $1,056 61, while the Harrisburg club took second honors by paying into the league $840 20.

Williamsport headed off Altoona the last week with $752 73, against $762 36. Williamsport captured the flag and played its last six games at home with Harrisburg. York and Lancaster are next among the regular clubs, while Coatesville, Wilmington, Shamokin and Lebanon bring up the rear in the order named. Lancaster would have been in fifth place easily were it not for the fact that its Labor day games were transferred to Altoona, while York played at home, and to the further fact that Lancaster was away from home half of the last week, while York played its entire last week at home with the Wilmington team.

The expenses and salaries of the umpires for the entire season amounted to $4,722 02 and other incidental expenses of President Creamer and the officers ate up all of the league receipts.

The largest attendance at one game during the season was on May 23 at Williamsport, on the occasion of the Knights Templar conclave, when the paid admissions at the gate were in the neighborhood of 6,000.

YOUNGSTOWN TEAM PLAYED TO OVER $24,000

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Over $24,000 was taken in by the Ohio Works management during the summer.

Of this amount $6,000 was netted on the road and the remainder was the result of the patronage at South Side park. Such being the case the Ohio Works certainly must have made money this summer.

It has been stated that the Ohio Works lost several thousand dollars this year. If it did, then it is certain that a high-class team will never make any money in this city. The patronage at South Side park this year has been uniformly good throughout, all that could be expected of a city of Youngstown's size, it is certain that Youngstown outdrew almost any city on the circuit double, and such being the case, there is every reason to believe that money was made this season. Secretary Cook, who has charge of the finances of the local team, is now auditing his accounts for the year.

ROSS WILL CAPTAIN WILKINSBURG SEVEN

Dunning Ross will captain the hockey Wilkinsburg High school team in the Interscholastic Hockey league this season. Wilkinsburg promises to have another strong team despite the loss of all of last year's regular players with the exception of Clyde Orton, who will again play in the line. Bert Gleeger, captain last year, is now in Shadyside and will doubtless play on that team. Geider, the point, who with Thounhurst, cover point, formed a very strong defense, is at Mercersburg academy, where he will play this winter.

Among the acquisitions to all the New York clubs are several former college players and Canadian experts. "Bob" Leake, last year's Princeton captain; Souther, Harvard's former forward, and Von Bermuth, who played goal tender for Columbia two years ago are about to join one or the other of the clubs.

The hockey club of New York expects to have one of the strongest teams in the league, as every member will play again this season. Rupert Howard, last year's captain, and the fleetest and most aggressive forward of the four, has been re-elected captain.

THE FOX HUNTERS HAVE A DAY OF REST AT UPPERVILLE

UPPERVILLE, VA., Nov. 5.—Both the Middlesex and Grafton hounds today took a holiday in the American-English hound trials after the hard run yesterday, when hounds and horses from the Upperville neighborhood covered fully 50 miles. Tomorrow the Middlesex hounds will meet at Middleburg and the covers on Duffy's farm will be drawn. Mr. Smith, the master of the Grafton hounds, in celebration of his fortieth birthday, entertained the visiting sportsmen quartered at Middleburg and Upperville. Toasts were drunk to "Fox Hunting" and to "The Middlesex Pack," and A. Henry Higginson, master of Middlesex and Dr. Charles McEachran, master of the Montreal Hunts, responded.

The coming week when Middlesex and Grafton will hunt three days each, promises considerable interest, as a large and brilliant field will be out. As an aftermath to the hounds' trials, the Piedmont hunt will on Thanksgiving day give a race meet at Oakley, when steeplechases and races on the flat will be run for cups offered by the master and members of the Piedmont hunt.

HARVARD FEELS NO HOSTILITY TO PENN

Wearers of Crimson Say Boston Newspapers Have Not Represented True Sentiment.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 5.—With the Pennsylvania game only a week away Harvard football enthusiasts have been given plenty to think about during the past week. Their reflections have not been entirely aroused by the unusually interesting news which has emanated daily from Soldiers' field, but spring also from the controversy which, small thanks to the Boston newspapers, has occurred between the two famous old rivals.

That anger, suspicions and recriminations have been indulged in is a matter of deep regret to Crimson undergraduates. Yet they cannot but feel that these feelings reflect the sentiment of certain writers with a "good nose for news" rather than that of graduates and undergraduates of the two universities. Prof. White, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee, himself said that he thought the feeling expressed in the newspapers was largely that of the "town element" in Philadelphia and Boston. He refuses to believe that Pennsylvania feels harshly toward Harvard for Capt. Hurley's protest of Zilligen and Lanison.

"The protest," he said in his public statement, "implied no charge of bad faith and was one which ought to be discussed in an entirely friendly manner." And his added statement that there was absolutely no desire or intention on Harvard's part of withdrawing from the game certainly shows as amicable a feeling as could be desired. Behind this, of course, is an honest difference of opinion, such as is likely to arise between friends. Harvard thinks one way, Penn another. As long as they play together they probably always will disagree in something, be it big or little. But that, say Harvard men, is no reason why cordial relations cannot be maintained between the two.

CENTRAL LEAGUE RUMORS.

Nothing in Stories That Youngstown Refused Bid and Terre Haute Will Quit the Circuit.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—At the recent meeting of the Central league there was no hint at a change in the circuit and therefore the stories about Youngstown refusing an invitation to enter the league and of the Terre Haute franchise being transferred to Fort Wayne are baseless.

Terre Haute, with the smallest receipts, is more determined than ever before to make a good showing. The report that Terre Haute's team was to be transferred to Fort Wayne was based on the fact that President Heenan and Manager Hart of Fort Wayne had been associated in the ownership of the Grand Rapids club. There is nothing in the story.

It is understood here that Mautner is to drop out of baseball and go into business in Cleveland. What disposition he will make of his lease of the Fort Wayne park is not known.

Kerr is to manage Dayton and "Bade" Myers has signed for another season with Canton. Ganzel will, of course, manage his own Grand Rapids club, and there is a belief that Ban Johnson will heed the formal request of the Central league to induce Manager Griffith of the New York club to release Ganzel that he may play on his own team. Ganzel is willing to pay a fair price for the release. At last accounts Schriver had not signed with Wheeling. Hendricks signed with Springfield a month before the end of the season. Few players have been signed.

PRINCETON BASKETBALL.

Tigers Expect to Have Strong Team This Fall.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—The committee in charge of basketball at Princeton has decided to call out the candidates for the team within the next few weeks. Regardless of the material that the freshman class may contain, prospects for a fast five this winter are considered good. The following members are now in college: Capt. O. De G. Vanderbilt, R. A. Bard, H. C. Kahler, N. H. Bokum, W. E. McLean, D. M. Hooks, E. O. Horrell, P. Norton, E. R. Halliday, J. M. Watkins, T. S. Clarkand J. Havron.

All of these men have had considerable experience either on the first or second team, and Vanderbilt, guard; McLean, forward, and Clark, center, played in all the championship games last season. Halliday and Kahler also played in a number of games and Bard was the regular center on the team in 1903-4. W. Ely, Jr., forward, and R. E. Trone, guard, are the only members of last year's team who have been graduated. With a nucleus of three regular men and a number of good substitutes, together with the material in the incoming class, a first-class team should be developed.

The athletic executive committee has decided to award the privilege of wearing the class numerals to any member of the university basketball team who plays against either Yale or Harvard.

TEDDY, JR., IS NOW A REAL FOOTBALL HERO

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 5.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., is a college hero. He has won that title without "pull" or "influence." He has won it on the hardest of all battlefields—the gridiron—and under conditions that make his victory unusual. And today, not only his fellow-freshmen, but the whole college, is talking of him in terms of highest praise.

Against rivals who loom above him physically like so many Goliaths, Teddy, Jr., has "made" his freshman football team. He has made it as left end and is said to be the lightest player who ever held down a similar position on a crimson freshman eleven. His playing is a revelation, not only to his fellow-players, but to the coaches themselves. Three weeks ago he was not even thought of. When the team went to Groton—his old school—he was not even taken along as a substitute. He witnessed the game—but from the side lines, in citizen's clothes. Yet on last Saturday, when the 1900 youngsters played Worcester academy, Roosevelt, Jr., was found at left end on the Cambridge team.

How did he get there? Simply because he is a scrapper. "Roosevelt isn't heavy," said one of his admiring fellow-teammates, "but he's got all sorts of nerve. I never saw a fellow play harder than he does. He goes in for all he's worth and isn't afraid of anything." The coaches didn't pay any attention to him at first, because he was so small. Besides, he didn't look strong. But they soon learned. It doesn't always take weight and Roosevelt showed the bigger man so when he got up against him in the scrimmage. He's all sand and nerve, that boy, and, although he doesn't weigh more than 130 pounds, I believe he'll win his numerals this year."

To "win his numerals" a freshman must play on his eleven in the annual game with the freshman team of Yale. This is one of the highest honors a man can earn in his first year in college, and is only second to winning the varsity "H." But, although he takes a deal of hard work and skill, Teddy, Jr., intends to win the coveted prize. He gave an example of his "spirit" in the Worcester game last Saturday. The lightest man on his team, he played through all of the first and most of the second half of this battle and although he was knocked around a great deal, he more than held his own. He came out of the fight badly used up. His body was covered with bruises and his face bore marks of the struggle. The statement that he was "laid out," however, was unwarranted. Palmer went in in his place, simply because the coaches wished to save him for games to come.

This is Teddy's first year at regular football. In the last year at Groton he probably would have made the team had he been in school during the season. Instead he came too late to be tried out. His schoolmates all say that he was a gritty boy and had a great reputation for nerve, in spite of his apparent frailty.

Beagle Prizes Awarded.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—The field trials of the National Beagle club came to a close today when the last of the entries in class BB, for bitches, 13 inches and under, were tried, with the following result: Winner, Bessie B., S. Ascherman; second, Thornfield Queen, Gill and Cronmiller; third, Sister Mollie, Chetwood Smith; reserved, Hornpipe, Charles R. Stevenson. William G. Rockefeller's Rock Ridge Leo was awarded the prize offered for the best dog in the trials and Judge Post Jr.'s Musical that for best bitch. The weather was beautiful, but the scent not quite what it might have been.

YOUNG CORBETT BESTED BY NOVICE

Unks Russell Gives the Former Champion a Severe Beating in Six Rounds.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Barring his defeats by Battling Nelson, Young Corbett last night got the most severe punishment of his career at the hands of Unk Russell of this city, in the ring at the National A. C. It took Nelson once 11 and again 15 rounds to stop the former champion, but the way things looked at the end of the sixth round last night Corbett could scarcely have gone more than two or three rounds more, even if he remained another round.

At times Russell pounded Corbett all around the ring, getting in swing after swing on the Denverite's face. The latter was bleeding and groggy in every round after the third, but he showed his wonderful gameness by not only taking all the punishment Russell could inflict, but also by occasionally fighting back desperately in an attempt to get in one good blow which would turn the tide. Corbett never quite succeeded in doing this, for Russell obeyed the commands of his seconds and steadied himself, although on two occasions the former champion got in a wicked right hand swing which shook Unk up considerably.

Russell's showing was a surprising one. He is a comparative novice as compared with Corbett. Unk was scarcely heard of in ring circles one year ago. Since then, though, he has been rapidly coming to the front and has scored a number of knockouts. He has been noted for his rushing and wild swinging, and many thought that the latter would give Corbett a chance to get in a swing on Unk's jaw and end the bout at an early stage.

This is what Corbett tried to do and he merely laughed at the start at Unk's wildness. The latter, however, for once displayed a little science. He surprised even his best friends by occasionally getting in a straight left and his swings were not nearly as wild as usual. He also showed some head work and used his superior advantage of height and reach nicely. In addition, Unk dodged many of Corbett's swings, although on half a dozen occasions he forgot to guard his face and ran into right or left uppercuts which hurt him.

There were times when Russell showed his lack of experience, especially against such a ring general as Corbett, and failed to take advantage of his opportunities. This was particularly the case in the fourth round. Then Corbett was groggy and staggering around the ring. Russell looked to be a winner by a knockout, for he fairly poured swings against the Denver's face. Corbett could scarcely get his hands up even to guard his face, but while he was rocked several times by vicious blows, Russell could never get a blow on the right spot to score a knockout or even a knockdown.

At that stage Corbett was a pitiable sight, with the blood streaming down his face, but he gamely took his punishment and occasionally tried to get back. Whenever possible he clinched and held on to his young opponent, and thus managed to last out the round. After that Russell never got Corbett in quite such bad shape again, although the former champion was in very bad shape at the end of the sixth round.

Larry Temple was wanted by the New Douglas Athletic club of Chelsea, Mass., to meet Sam Langford tomorrow night, but the latter refused to take another chance with Temple, as the latter gave him an awful battle the last time they met. The Douglas club is the one that "Young Roosevelt" joined some time ago and he is a constant attendant at all the bouts that take place at that club.

Young Zeringer was wanted by the Nonpareil club to box in the semi-windup tonight, but Jimmy Mason will not let his boy appear at any more shows at South Sharon unless it is in the wind-up.

Jimmy Mason will attend the contest between Jimmy Dunn and Tommy Murphy tonight at South Sharon and try and get the winner to meet Joe Alton, the 122-pound champion of this city.

RELATIVES IN COMBAT.

Brothers and Brother-in-Law Disagree and Spoil Sunday Clothes.

Two brothers and their brother-in-law had a family jar in Mrs. Street yesterday afternoon, with the result that one brother was beaten into unconsciousness and the other two relatives were badly bruised. The argument took place in a muddy vacant lot, and each of the contestants spoiled his Sunday clothes.

Robert and Richard Kastu of Morgan street and Edward Pferdbich of East Pittsburgh were arrested for breaking the Sabbath and family ties. The police were told that a man was lying unconscious in the Plus street lot. A patrol wagon was sent out and Robert Kastu was brought in and revived. He told of the family trouble and the other two men were arrested. Pferdbich claimed to have been the peacemaker and his condition indicated that he got the usual reward.

DIES FROM HIS INJURIES RECEIVED IN BATH ROOM

WINSTEAD, CONN., Nov. 5.—Nathaniel B. Stevens, who was prominently identified with Democratic politics in this state, died tonight aged 83 years. Mr. Stevens' death was the result of an internal injury he received while about to take a bath six months ago. He slipped as he was getting into the tub. Mr. Stevens was born in Huntingdon, Pa., November 29, 1822.

Accuses Brother of Shooting.

James K. Cabbitt, aged 37, is in the Allegheny General hospital suffering from a gunshot wound in his right shoulder. He was brought from Parnassus, where he is employed as a laborer in a lumber yard. Cabbitt says his brother was drinking Saturday night and on his arrival home the two quarreled, Babbitt being shot. The wound is not a dangerous one.

REPORT ON STATE OF EQUITABLE

It Shows Enormous Assets, but Less Real Estate Than the Books Carry.

VOUCHERS VERY INCOMPLETE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Francis Hendricks, the state superintendent of insurance, today made public a supplementary report by R. H. Hunter, deputy commissioner of insurance, and Examiner Isaac Vanderpool, on the condition of the Equitable Life Assurance society at the close of business June 30, 1905. The report first discusses the real estate of the society and places the value of its office buildings in various cities at $26,366,366, or $1,938,634 less than the sum at which they are carried on the books of the society. It is explained by the report that this reduction is made on the basis of the earnings of the buildings, which yield 3 per cent on $26,366,366.

To the book value of real estate the society has acquired under foreclosure, the report adds, $23,739 07, making the total estimated value of such real estate $1,054,569 23. Of the loans on bonds and mortgage, the report says, they represent $83,724,223 16, and have an average earning of more than 4½ per cent, and "at no period of the society's existence has this class of investments been in a more satisfactory condition."

The loans made by the society on the security of policies assigned as collateral amount to $25,865,890 50, according to the report, and the bonds and stocks owned by the society have a par value of $195,-900,567, as against a book value of $219,-420,408 and a current market value on June 30, 1905, of $232,595,562.

Cash on Deposit.

Cash on deposit at the close of business June 30, 1905, aggregated $29,879,-552 72. Of this amount $8,822,319 82 was on deposit with the Equitable Trust Company of New York, $6,425,991 47 was deposited with the Mercantile Trust Company and $5,453,911 87 with the National Bank of Commerce in New York. Discussing the debit balances of agents, which are assigned to trust companies and aggregate $5,813,184 57, the report states they are not considered as admitted assets and are deducted from the cash on deposit, bringing the amount down to $24,066,367 85.

The report discusses at length a payment of $600,000 in the form of a check drawn by the society to the Mercantile Trust Company and dated February 4, 1904. As the books of the society did not show the consideration for this check, the report says it was necessary for the examiners to consult with the superintendent of banks and look into the accounts of the trust company. The records of the society showed the account involving the $600,000 check was closed to profit and loss on the society's books December 31, 1904, and it was learned the trust company credited on the G. V. Turner loan most of the money realized from this check. As this transaction and other transactions between the Equitable and the trust companies do not appear on the society's books, the report states the collaterals for such loans are not included in the report as an asset nor are the society's guarantees in such transactions charged against it as a liability.

Voucher Records Incomplete.

Of the society's records the report has this to say:

"In the investigation of other matters, where it became necessary to establish the title to certain securities, of which the society was at least the custodian, the incomplete and desultory nature of the voucher records or authorizations in writing, from which book entries connected with these transactions were ordered to be made, were so baffling as to render it practically impossible to ascertain the status of these securities as to ownership, until recourse was had to the sources entirely independent of the books or records of the society."

Computing the assets of the society after making deductions noted, the report states the admitted assets are $406,-795,063 and the total liabilities are estimated at the same amount. In arriving at the total of the liabilities, the total reserve, which includes the present value of outstanding annuities, is estimated at $338,886,123, and the reserve for unassigned surplus funds is placed at $52,008,-654 08. A table of interest rates shows the society realized the following rates on its assets in 1904:

On bonds and mortgages, 4.2 per cent; on stocks and bonds, 4.45; rent rate on real estate, 4.2; interest on mean assets, 4.39.

Exhibits Are Appended.

Appended to the report are exhibits which include a reproduction of the $600,-000 check of February 4 to the Mercantile Trust Company and copies of the guarantees officers of the Equitable entered into with the Mercantile Trust Company and other financial concerns in connection with the George V. Turner loan.

A table is given showing the bonds and stocks owned by the society. Copies are also shown of letters written to trust companies and banks by President Alexander and Vice President G. E. Tarbell of the Equitable guaranteeing the renewal interests of the agents of the society and offering on behalf of the society to take up notes given by agents with the renewal interests as security.

RETIRING FOREMAN GIVEN FINE FAREWELL TOKEN

Thomas Turner, formerly foreman for the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company, who will leave to take a new position at Harrisburg, was presented with a gold watch by his fellow employes when he said farewell to them on Saturday night. The presentation was made at the Hotel Upperman in Braddock, where the workmen gave a dinner, with their old foreman as the honor guest.

El Paso Opera House Burns.

EL PASO, TEX., Nov. 5.—The Myar opera house was destroyed by fire last night. Besides the playhouse and a hotel a number of stores were in the building. The total loss is $100,000.

Dies in a Mine.

GREENSBURG, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—John Haran, 42 years old, was found dead in the Udell mines of the Mt. Pleasant Coke Company last night. Heart disease was the cause.

WILL OPEN LAWRENCE CLUB'S ROOMS WITH A BRILLIANT RECEPTION

Hon. L. S. Hoyt, President. Dr. E. L. Boyles, House Committee. Hon. J. N. Martin, Vice President.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Leading all the society events of New Castle for the early winter season will be the reception for the members of the Lawrence club, given by the president, L. S. Hoyt, in the lavishly furnished new club rooms. The reception will take place on Thursday evening, November 9.

The new apartments of the club, occupying the first and second floors of the new Masonic temple on North street, are beautifully furnished throughout. Entering the foyer on the ground floor, and passing to the right, one sees the large general reception and lounging room. This is a handsome apartment, furnished in solid mahogany, with carpets and hangings of two-toned red. Immediately back of this room is the reading room in dark blue, and furnished in Antwerp style, while beside it is the card room, quaintly finished in brown. Back of these rooms, and occupying about one-fourth of the ground floor, is the ball room, decorated in old rose, with hangings to match. At each end of the floor is a balcony, one for the musicians and the other for spectators, communicating with the large general dining-room on the second floor.

The officers of the club are: President, L. S. Hoyt; vice president, the Hon. J. Norman Martin; secretary, Thomas W. Dickey; treasurer, Frank W. Smith; house committee, Dr. E. Lee Boyles, Edward Beadle and the general officers.

T. W. Dickey, Secretary. F. W. Smith, Treasurer. Edward Beadle, House Committee.

VOTE AND WORK FOR PARTY THAT BEFRIENDED YOU

Colored Pastor Gives Some Sound and Sincere Advice from the Pulpit to the Members of His Race.

"I said, a few Sundays ago, in preaching to the people of my race, that the Republican party was the grand old party to which the colored men ought to look up to. There never was a party, speaking of parties politically, which has done for us what the Republican party has done," declared the Rev. Dr. D. S. Scott from the pulpit of Antioch Baptist church, Thirty-seventh and Charlotta streets, last night. Dr. Scott is the retired pastor of Trinity Baptist church, and is filling the pulpit of Antioch church during the illness of its pastor. Continuing he said:

My friends, there are many people in the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county who will advise you to go against your own interest. Some people have been calling my attention to the claim that a minister has no right to discuss politics, and yet they cry for "a square and fair deal." I feel, as an American citizen and under the American flag, I have the right to advise members of my race who do not understand the political situation.

I want to say to you that never was public work given to you so readily and cordially as it was under the Republican municipal governments—today there are many places given to laboring men for which colored men would not dare to apply. What other party has done so much to elevate the negro race? Consider well the political situation and go and work for those who are willing to do the most for you and for the betterment of your race.

I believe that if a minister is qualified to give spiritual advice to his people, he can give advice regarding earthly affairs—every minister of the gospel ought to advise the people the way to go from evil to right and to their best interests. So, in conclusion, I want to advise you as a race to stick to the Republican party, which has done for you what no other organization has ever attempted to do, and I want you, on the 7th day of November, to cast your ballot in the interests of that party and its organization, for the interests of every candidate whom it has nominated for Allegheny county offices, and may God help you to think along these lines and bless you in this effort.

CASTRO MAKES CONCESSIONS.

Venezuelan President Is Willing to Meet France Half Way in Cable Company Dispute.

CARACAS, Nov. 5.—The Venezuelan government yesterday delivered to Mr. Russell, the American minister, a note reaffirming the willingness of the government to withdraw its note concerning M. Taigny, the French charge d'affaires at Caracas, if the French government likewise would recall its request that Venezuela withdraw that part of its note which gave notice that Venezuela would not treat further with M. Taigny until he apologized for his statement that the French Cable Company had been treated unjustly.

The note says the government will permit the French Cable Company to transmit cables from Caracas and coast offices, if the company will undertake to make a satisfactory arrangement with the government within eight weeks, and that, failing to do so, the government will proceed with the execution of the mandate closing the offices of the company.

FIRE KILLS ONE MAN, 70 COWS AND 10 HORSES

EVANSVILLE, IND., Nov. 5.—The dairy barn of Schaefer & Boeke was destroyed by fire today and Philip Wilkes was burned to death. Seventy cows and 10 horses were cremated.

READY FOR ILLEGAL VOTERS.

Superintendent of New York Elections Arms Police With Warrants Against 3,000 Suspects.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—That a vast amount of illegal registration, especially in the downtown sections of the city, has been discovered by the agents of State Superintendent of Elections Morgan, was stated today at Mr. Morgan's office. In some instances the same individuals appear to have registered more than a dozen times from different addresses.

The superintendent will obtain from the police magistrates tomorrow upwards of 1,000 warrants which will be served in the event of the persons named presenting themselves at the polls. In addition to these, he will furnish the police with "orders of arrest" lists containing the names of 2,000 persons more against whom there is evidence of illegal registration. The inspectors of elections will also be supplied with challenge lists containing from 5,000 to 6,000 names of persons whose right to vote is suspected.

BELATED FUNERAL OF BENNINGTON VICTIM

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Nov. 5.—The Roman Catholic church of Our Lady of Consolation, was filled to overflowing today upon the occasion of the funeral of Midshipman Joseph L. Gauthier, one of the victims of the boiler explosion on the Bennington, at San Diego, Cal., July 21.

Neither he nor any other man can restore the Citizens party to confidence while it has stolen goods in its pockets. There must be true repentance and that repentance must include restitution by the repeal of the boulevard, bank and water grabs. Until this is done the Citizens party cannot hope to enjoy the confidence of the voters of Pittsburgh.—John B. Larkin, July 25, 1904.

The Doctor Asks—

"Are your bowels regular?" He knows that daily action of the bowels is absolutely essential to health. Then keep your liver active and your bowels regular by taking small laxative doses of Ayer's Pills. Just one pill at bedtime is enough, just one.

"When a very small boy I remember how my people always kept Ayer's Pills in the house. It is now over twenty-five years since I first used Ayer's Family Medicines, and I would not know how to keep house without them."—Charles J. Bridong, Washington, D. C.

DR. IRVINE TAKES VOWS AS PRIEST OF GREEK CHURCH

Deposed Episcopal Clergyman Finds a Sanctuary and Work Among the English Speaking Members of the Russian Orthodox Body.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—With much ceremony, the Rev. Ingram N. W. Irvine of Philadelphia, formerly the rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Huntingdon, Pa., and unfrocked by Bishop Ethelbert Talbot, was today ordained as a priest of the Holy Orthodox Greek church in America, at the cathedral of St. Nicholas, by Archbishop Tikhon, head of the Russian church in this country.

Yesterday, Archbishop Tikhon, assisted by the clergy of the cathedral, ordained Dr. Irvine a deacon, and half an hour later he participated as deacon of the high mass, celebrated in the cathedral in honor of St. Mary's day, one of the principal saints days of the Russian church. Dr. Irvine, having been previously received as a communicant of the Greek church after he had been refused a rehearing of his case by the higher authorities of the Episcopal church, Archbishop Tikhon decided that, as he had come to the Greek church with the degree of doctor of divinity, his application for ordination as a priest could not be refused under the canonical law of the church.

The ceremony today began with the celebration of the third Sunday high mass and litany. Dr. Irvine made his appearance with the other clergy, clad in the white silken and gold embroidered cassock of a deacon of the church. Archbishop Tikhon was the celebrant of the mass.

After reading the oath, Dr. Irvine was led three times around the pulpit, kneeling to one corner with the other priests and kissing various ikons. After retiring within the chancel, Dr. Irvine came forward in the blue and white vestments of a Greek priest.

Archbishop Hotovitsky, first in the Slavonic and later in English, stated that Dr. Irvine had been ordained a priest of the church and asked for the prayers of all to bless him in his new work, especially the prayers of the English-speaking people. The newly ordained priest then made a short address in English, stating he had come to the Greek church taking as his special mission the unification of all churches, whether Protestant, Greek or Roman. To that end he said he should ever work and pray.

Dr. Irvine, it is said, will be attached as a priest to the cathedral and confine his work among the English-speaking members.

FRIENDS FEAR FOUL PLAY.

Hunter's Body Is Found in a Wood, Shot Through Heart, While His Gun Lies Nearby.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Although a coroner's jury decided that Ina McCullough, of Simpson's store, 12 miles southeast of Washington, came to his death by a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted by himself, some of the man's friends incline to the belief he met foul play. McCullough's body was found in a wood a short distance from his home this morning, death having resulted from a shot through the heart. McCullough went hunting yesterday morning alone. When he did not return last night a searching party was organized, and after an all-night hunt the body was found this morning, lying face downward. Death had evidently been instant. Friends of the dead man declare he was careful with a gun, and that the position of the body did not point to an accident.

Mrs. Carter's Engagement.

Immediately following her triumphs in New York where she has played to crowded houses for more than a year, Mrs. Leslie Carter will come direct to Pittsburgh for a limited engagement of two weeks, presenting two of her most notable impersonations. Mrs. Carter will present "Adrea" for the opening week of her Pittsburgh engagement, which has never until now been seen in this city. For the second and final week of her stay at the Belasco Mrs. Carter will be seen in her famous impersonation of "Zaza." The advance sale of seats for Mrs. Carter will open Thursday at 9 a. m.

PRINCE LOUIS IS GUEST OF HONOR

WILL LEAVE CAPITAL TODAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Rear Admiral Louis of Battenberg was today the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Assistant Secretary Oliver of the war department and Mrs. Oliver, and tonight was entertained at a dinner given by Walter Beaupre Townley, the counsellor of the British embassy, and Lady Townley. Both these affairs were informal and they were the only social features of consequence in the day's program. The remainder of the time was spent mostly at the embassy, where the prince is a guest of Ambassador and Lady Durand. During the afternoon, however, Prince Louis made several calls, among others at the home of Mrs. John P. Jackson, the relative of an officer of the American navy. The prince received a number of callers who desired to pay their respects in the course of the day.

At the luncheon given by the Olivers at which Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain, also was a guest of honor, the guests included the British ambassador and Lady Durand, the French ambassador and Madame Jusserand, Associate Justice Holmes of the supreme court of the United States, and Mrs. Holmes, Attorney General Moody, Mrs. Taft, the wife of the secretary of war, Mrs. John Davis and Miss Boardman of this city.

At the dinner tonight the guests were Prince Louis of Battenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, Miss Roosevelt, Capt. Ryan, the naval attache of the British embassy, and Mrs. Ryan, Capt. Kerr, the commander of one of the ships of Prince Louis' squadron, and Mrs. and Miss Townsend of Philadelphia. Following the dinner there was an "at-home" to the officers of Rear Admiral Louis' squadron now in Washington.

Tomorrow is the last day on which Prince Louis will be in Washington. A trip to Mt. Vernon in the morning will be the main feature. It will be made on the Dolphin and the prince will be accompanied, it is expected, by Secretary Root, Assistant Secretary of State Bacon, Ambassador Durand and Capt. Ryan. In the afternoon the prince will return to Annapolis to rejoin his squadron.

HIS WIG BECOMES HIM.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—For the first time since last winter, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller attended services in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church this morning. Mr. Rockefeller's gray wig, though hiding the strong contour of his head, gave a rather youthful appearance to his face.

At the close of the service Mrs. Rockefeller entered her carriage, but Mr. Rockefeller remained behind to converse with his friends for some time. Many of the male members of the congregation drifted to the subject of the campaign, and there was a strong sentiment disclosed among them for Hearst and Jerome. On these questions, however, Mr. Rockefeller refrained from giving any opinion.

BEATS HER BABE TO DEATH.

Children See Tragedy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Emma Coe, resident of a settlement on Halifax mountain, a spur of the Ramapos, in Bergen county, N. J., was locked up in Hackensack today on the charge of homicide.

Mrs. Coe is said to have become angered with a 9-months-old son, and beat the child upon the floor of her cabin until he was dead. The deed is said to have been committed in the presence of four children, from 6 to 17 years old, who told the neighbors, who in turn notified the authorities.

ANOTHER MONARCHY GRANTS AN ASSEMBLY

CETTINJE, MONTENEGRO, Nov. 5.—Prince Nicholas has issued a manifesto announcing that he has decided on his own initiative to grant to the people a representative assembly and therefore orders the holding of free elections for deputies on November 27. The first session of the new assembly will be held on December 19.

DOES SHE FLOAT?

After La Petite Marion has captivated the audience with her cute little songs and her clever dancing at "The Big Store's" cozy entertainment hall, and Janet has given the children transports of delight with the antics of his Royal Marionettes, then comes the crowning sensation—the most astounding act ever produced under the full glare of stage lights, that reveal all there is to see.

A comely young woman advances from the wings to the guileless looking blue plush upholstered couch in the center of the stage and sits down. De Kota, the wizard, makes certain passes with his hands and throws her into a hypnotic sleep. The yielding form is then gently placed in a full length reclining position, the long hair unloosened, the long train of her robe carefully folded over her feet and pinned, and the hands crossed over the breast.

De Kota then steps back of the couch and makes still other passes with his hands inward and upward over the motionless form. After a minute interval the young woman, still in a horizontal position, slowly rises from the sofa into mid-air, until fully six feet above the floor. Two attendants then remove the couch completely, De Kota retaining his position in the rear.

The magician next walks completely around the floating form, and taking one of the hoops that children like to trundle, passes it completely over the body of the young woman from foot to head and from head to foot in such a way as to convince the eye that neither wires above nor supports below sustain the 100 pounds of fair femininity in her aerial position.

The couch is then replaced, the passes repeated (this time outward and downward) and steadily the floating form settles back to its original position on the cushions. The hypnotic sleep is then broken and the audience slowly files out, discussing with animation the problem as to whether suspended gravity, the attractive force of a great electro-magnet hidden in the ceiling, some cleverly concealed support or an occult power exercised by the magician, is responsible for the phenomenon.

The 30-minute program of mystery, magic, music and mirth, including "Aga," will be given seven times daily at Kaufmann's this week, the first performances starting at 10, 11, 12, 1, 2, 3 and 4 o'clock.

Hays is not the head of the government in Pittsburgh. As every person knows, one of the mayor's subordinates, E. M. Bigelow, is the head of the government, not only of the administrative branch, but of the legislative branch as well. The people have no confidence in the administration.—John B. ## EXTENDING A GREETING TO OUR ROYAL NAVAL VISITOR

NATIONAL GUARD SHOWS UP WELL

Needs Longer Time in Camp, However, and Instruction in Military Courtesy.

COMPANY B'S IN THE LEAD

FRANKLIN, PA., Nov. 5.—Second brigade headquarters in this city has received the detailed reports of the inspection of the national guard during the July encampments. One of the most important features is the recommendation made by both the inspector general and Maj. George Bell, Jr., of the First infantry, U. S. A., that the camp period be extended several days. Inspector General Sweeney also takes the guard to task for its lack of military courtesy. He says:

> It is either not understood or not given proper consideration by the instructor, and without it a proper esprit de corps is impossible. Quite frequently it was observed the salute was omitted, and in many cases when given was slovenly rendered, while men gaped at the officers with expressions of surprise or total indifference. Respect to superiors is indispensible to discipline.
> The bearing of the men out of ranks is another matter that should receive the careful attention of the instructor. The soldier when in uniform is always representative of the state, and for something more than himself; all eyes are upon him, and he should carry himself in the most proper manner; his dress should at all time be neat and his conduct beyond reproach. To be a good soldier is to be a gentleman.

In closing the inspector general says the "private march is deserving of serious consideration at the hands of the authorities of the state, as it gives opportunity for development beyond the experience offered in a fixed camp, but he is of the opinion the highest results in the training of the national guard will be attained only when the state controls a camp site of sufficient area to admit of field operations of extended character. Then, too, an addition of but two or three days to the present camp period would increase the efficiency of the guard to a surprising degree, for the reason the men at large require four or five days to get into harness."

Local Commands Criticised.

Lewis A. Anshutz, major and quartermaster of the Second brigade, reports on the efficiency of the command separately. He pays a high compliment to the Sixteenth regiment. He praises Troop F and Sheridan troop for the manner in which they moved in and out of camp. The Eighteenth regiment is criticised for its lack of discipline, the details sent to load and unload cars refusing to work. The discipline of the Tenth regiment was excellent. The details of Battery B would have been good men had they been properly officered. In breaking camp all the officers but an inexperienced lieutenant disappeared. The discipline of the Fourteenth regiment was "very good." The Fifth regiment's discipline was good.

Maj. George Bell, Jr., of the First United States infantry, detailed to visit the second brigade camp, takes occasion to compliment Maj. Anshutz, the brigade quartermaster, whom he says, impressed him as an excellent quartermaster. Relative to the drills, Maj. Bell says:

> The lack of proper armories and drill sheds, and the limited time at disposal at home cannot be overcome in eight days by patriotism, intelligence or desire to excel. Just as the camp breaks up the men begin to show the effects of the hard work, and if 14 days were allowed instead of eight, results would be increased a hundred fold.
> The brigade worked hard, showed a marked improvement in drill at the close of the encampment, and, composed as it is of patriotic, intelligent men with a love of military life, needs only a short time for instruction to give an excellent account of itself against a foreign foe, as it has already done on numerous occasions at home on strike duty.

Sould Be Proud of Guard.

Maj. Bell also calls attention to the neglect of the men to salute the officers. He recommends that candidates for the position of captain and lieutenant first take an examination and only those who have passed be voted upon. In closing Maj. Bell says:

> Pennsylvania has cause to be proud of the work already done by the Second brigade when the law was powerless without the help of the National Guard, and today it is in excellent condition to respond to any call for help to enforce law and order; but the brigade is badly in need of armories, the hospital corps should have better equipment and the officers should receive their uniforms from the state. It is also believed by many that if the state paid to the enlisted men something for attendance at drills while at home it would enable many worthy men to join who cannot now spare the time, and would also enable a man to say to others that he was paid for his work.

Maj. Bell recommends that Pennsylvania troops encamp with those of other states and a brigade of regulars. "To excel it is necessary to know what others are doing," he says. According to the ratings given Company B leads the Tenth, Company E the Fourteenth, Company M the Sixteenth and Company B the Eighteenth.

Car Hits Carriage, Horse Runs Away.

While Louis Napoleon, owner of a general store at Moon run, was driving in East Carnegie, his carriage was struck by a city-bound Carnegie car. Napoleon was thrown out, but not seriously hurt, the carriage was wrecked and the horse ran away. In Emily avenue, Crafton, it became entangled between a house and the branches of a tree and was caught by a policeman.

Preacher Bags Schoolmaster.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 5.—(Special.) While the Rev. J. W. Beale, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Hyndman, Pa., was hunting yesterday with Robert L. Hinton, a school teacher of the same place, the minister accidentally shot Hinton in the leg. The latter was brought to the hospital here.

Search for New Territory Is Not Being Rewarded

With light developments in the lower southwest fields and a stationary credit balance market, there was little to interest operators and producers of high-grade crude. Important discoveries have had but small space in field operations for many months. At no time has there been an abandonment of the hope that new producing territory could be found and even now the search has not been allowed to go by default.

Under former conditions, when available producing territory was not so scarce, the recent advances in the credit balance market would have given an impetus to field work many times greater than is now in evidence. The old operating companies would have got busy and the outlook so promising for quick returns that the incentive would be strong enough to invite new capital and talent into the business. With the old-time operator at a loss to know where to look for new territory, the novice stands a smaller chance of finding an opening.

Development work has been conducted in a manner so thorough that there is no longer room for anything better or larger than congested pools. When one is discovered it calls out a large amount of new work only to find that it possesses neither appreciable length nor breadth. This has been the history of nearly all of the pools discovered during the year.

Fewer large wells have been found during the year than at any time since development work began in the lower southwest. In a few instances gushers were encountered, but the pool was small and as development work advanced the decline came and the production fell off rapidly. Almost as soon as the last producer in a new pool was completed, the first had dropped from gushers to ordinary pumpers. The discovery of a little new producing territory made the demand great and caused a rush to that particular locality. As a rule the leases were small and a number of operators and in order to protect lines twice the number of wells were drilled than would have been the case under other conditions.

In the entire lower southwest district there are not at this time more than two wells that can lay claim to a production of 100 or more barrels a day, respectively. This is an unusual condition for a country that has been famous for big wells. This state of affairs has not been brought about by any fault of the operator. The wells are as carefully handled, and since the advance in the market every means has been resorted to in order to make all produce the greatest amount. At no time in the past has shooting and cleaning been so generally practiced in all fields as at the present time. In the old fields and new pools the services of the well shooter is in great demand.

In spite of these efforts to increase, the production has been steadily declining and will continue to do so unless some new and prolific producing territory is discovered. The increase in development work in territory such as is now available, will not bring about a change. Wells that show an average new production of eight or ten barrels when first completed cannot be expected to produce more than half that amount at the expiration of two months. In Southeastern Ohio the new wells show even a smaller average in new production.

The reports from the lower southwest fields show there is a considerable increase in new work. Locations have been made in many of the old fields that have been inactive for many months. Some of the work contemplated is in advance of the old fields, but the greater part is well within defined limits.

The shallow sand districts in Wood, Pleasants, Tyler and Ritchie counties show the most new work starting and under way. It is inexpensive operating as compared with the deep sand territory, and, while the producing formations is less regular, there is not so great a difference in the average size of the wells when drilled in. For that reason the shallow sand territory holds out more inducements. Another is that the work started now can be completed before midwinter.

In Wirt and Gilmer counties there is a little experimental work starting. In the first named, the Burning Springs district, the least expensive to operate in West Virginia, there is a small amount of new work starting. Most of the wells get their production in the first or second Cow Run sand, and one that has an initial production of five barrels a day is considered a large producer for that territory. The average is less than three barrels and they are profitable at that.

The prospective extension to the southwest of the Yellow Creek district on the Little Kanawha river, Calhoun county, is now reaching the interesting stage. A month ago the South Penn company drilled in a second test well on the G. W. Silcott farm and secured a good producer. Two were started soon after and on the strength of the Silcott farm producer is now nearing completion and it will be interesting to watch the result. Should the new wells prove producers a new stretch of territory will look good for a distance of a mile and a half till it connects up with the old field.

The Wellsburg development in Brook county completed two new producers during the week, one a five-barrel and the other a 20-barrel well. This development has kept the talent guessing. Efforts have been made to extend the producing limits in almost every direction from the initial producers and the only satisfactory result has been a narrow streak extending to the northeast.

Operators on the Ohio side are putting forth more energy in development work. There is some wildcatting and more activity in the old developments. The Berea grit development, east of Woodsfield, in Monroe county, is the most active. Recently developments have been extending to the northwest. A dry hole was encountered in that direction during the past week. In other localities there is some scattered test work that may develop a new pool. Monroe county is about due with something of the kind.

Harrison county has some new work starting with a view to finding a new pool. At this time the Adams pool is furnishing the best producers. Jefferson county has not been deserted. A small amount of experimental work is starting in that county.

MORE OPTIMISTIC TONE IN LONDON MARKET

Fear of Great Sanguinary Struggle in Russia Passes Away and Brings Relief.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Nov. 5.—As was the case all over Europe, the week opened with a more hopeful feeling on the London stock exchange, owing to the expectation that the czar was about to publish a manifesto in which he would announce the granting of a constitution. The bears consequently rushed in to cover and Monday there was a decided improvement, but it did not last. There has been heavy selling again and continental operators have sold largely in London.

With the close of the week there appeared to be a somewhat better feeling, and opinion inclines to a more favorable view, without being too frankly optimistic. The feeling in the house is that with every day which passes the fear of a great sanguinary struggle in Russia between the government and the masses fades into the background, and it was this fear which was straining the nerves of the stock exchange and the bourses and holding business enterprise everywhere in check.

A few despondent voices are still to be heard, but they are far in the minority. At the same time it is not expected here that even with the Russian strike at an end there can be much increase in business for a while to come, for all prudent operators will want to know what is to be the next step before they engage in serious fresh risks.

Furthermore, the shadow of a pending general election is beginning to fall across the markets, for it is enough when such strong Unionism papers as the Daily Telegraph cry out against the worn and discredited government of Britain.

In the meantime, the home railway department continues to be one of the most active, purchasers being attracted by consistently good traffics and the probability of increased distributions, as the closing months of 1904 were a period of acute depression, so that comparisons from now on should continue to make a good showing.

Operators on this side have been puzzled over the stirring incidents which have taken place in American rails this past week. They have, for instance, found it difficult, if not impossible, to account for the sharp advances in Readings and Erie. The feature in the London market has been a strong demand for Missouri, Kansas & Texas stocks, the result of which being a rise of a 4⅜ in common and 3½ in preferred.

As compared with last week, the fine traffic increase recorded by the Grand Trunk yesterday was received with some scepticism, a few groans even being heard in the market when figures were announced.

MARKET IN GRAVE DANGER FROM OVER-CONFIDENCE

Until Money Situation Is Strengthened, Further Efforts to Boost Prices Are Fraught With Menace to the Speculators.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—There appears on the surface of things no warrantable reason in any way to modify the conclusion that the speculative securities market is likely to be subjected to some further severe tests of its stability, and that, too, at no very remote date. To attempt to forecast the outcome would be rash. Wall street has shown such wonderful strength upon each recent occasion when pressure has been applied, that a feeling of confidence has been engendered among the professional trading element. This constitutes a powerful defense against the ordinary or merely transitory occurrences of adverse nature to which all speculative markets are subjected.

That confidence is abounding upon the part of the pool and clique operators is unmistakable, and that there is justification for a hopeful feeling as to the industrial and commercial future is amply enough demonstrated in the highly satisfactory fundamental conditions. It is not altogether strange, either, that a recognition of the underlying conditions manifested in highly favorable corporation statements—that of the United States Steel Corporation, for instance—should have found due reflection in advancing security prices.

It is not confidence, but over-confidence; not speculative trading, but over-trading, against which Wall street has continually to be warned. Resisting, as the market has successfully, repeated assaults upon it; passing, as it has, unscathed, through many trying developments; coming up smiling, as it has, after every blow, it is not, perhaps, strange that the trading element has grown to regard the speculative fabric as impregnable to all assaults. In this belief the smaller fry have been encouraged by the "great operators," and by the coalesced banks, many of whom have openly appeared as the allies or employers of the manipulators, while numerous others have done what they could by placing available funds at the disposal of the gambling cliques.

It does not require any special qualifications for observance, or any highly developed or expert knowledge of finance or economics to reach the conclusion it would have been utterly impossible for Wall street to have experienced the wild and dangerous speculative movement of the last week unless those who had engineered it had received support from powerful banking and financial interests.

Speculative Wall street regards as an element of strength that it has certain speculative banking firms and speculative institutions on the side of the bull movement. In this, speculative Wall street is right, so long as all goes well the world over, but the element of strength might speedily be converted into the greatest element of weakness for the speculative public if anything goes so seriously wrong that confidence becomes much deteriorated and credit sharply contracts. Financial institutions which are in the habit of nursing a speculative market along, with one hand, stand with the other behind their backs, and a bludgeon grasped in it, to beat down when it threatens its creator.

If the real owners of banking funds—the merchants, investors and the like, demand their own, or demand the line of credit to which their deposits entitle them—and credits granted to speculators in Wall street on stock collateral contract with surprising rapidity—the speculative institutions have themselves to protect—their large dealers, their favored borrowers. The miscellaneous borrowers, the stock brokers, who place themselves at the mercy of these institutions, who have committed themselves heavily in the market, in stocks at high prices purchased with funds returnable on immediate notice, receive scant courtesy on such occasions. And then it sometimes happens a speculative market accounted strong, because cultivated by speculative institutions and speculative bankers, contains in that very participation the elements of its greatest weakness.

Surely it is overconfidence that is abounding, that prompts men to figure upon still greater activity and still higher prices in a security market. Until the money market is strengthened, it is but to invite disaster to continue reckless proceedings such as Wall street witnessed last week. Entirely aside from this weak banking position, all caution and all conservativeness was thrown to the winds in attempting to bull speculative stocks in the first week in November with such revolutionary developments and barbarous massacres in Russia, which, despite some concessions wrung from the czar through fear, seem not fully adjusted yet, and which clearly enough was reflected in the unusual action of the Imperial Bank of Germany in raising its minimum discount rate from 5 to 5½ per cent. Surely there must have been urgent necessity for this precipitate action, or it would not have been taken on Saturday, when the regular meeting day is Monday.

And with these disturbing elements abroad, not only has this city a weak banking position to contend with, but it hovers on the eve of a municipal campaign, which, whatever the outcome, shows at this time a powerful tendency to class alignment against class, and a movement so strong against the established order of things that cannot help but prove disquieting. It is unquestionable true that no intrinsic values would be destroyed should the municipal campaign end in the election of the candidate pledged to municipal ownership of public utilities. Each candidate in his party platform and in his public speeches has flirted with this theory of municipal control, and if the well-nigh impossible should ever come to pass, and these utilities be taken over by the cities of which we are all a part, at proper valuation, they would lose none of their real value, and probably not much in their efficiency, which is of none too high standard now.

But the effect on sentiment and the effect on speculative stock prices through such influence as might be exerted through credit, are other matters. We have the great prosperity of the country to fall back upon in any event, and that will stand commerce and industry in good part in the end, but it would avail very little in a weakened money and greatly disturbed speculative security market, should such develop now.

Probably Surveying Party.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Eleven engineers arrived here yesterday from Cumberland, Md., and are registered at a hotel here. It is believed they are surveyors sent here, following the movement for the construction of the Uniontown & Wheeling short line.

Allegheny Star Course Entertainment.

The second entertainment of the Allegheny Star Course will be given at 8:15 o'clock tonight in the Allegheny Carnegie music hall. The attraction will be the African Boy Choir.

Hays is not the head of the government in Pittsburgh. As every person knows, one of the mayor's subordinates, E. M. Bigelow, is the head of the government, not only of the administrative branch, but of the legislative branch as well. The people have no confidence in the administration.—John B. Larkin, Sept. 14, 1904.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES ARE IN GOOD DEMAND

Cheese Is High, but Traders Are Satisfied—Butter Market Is Unsatisfactory.

Trade on the market Saturday was very good, with a heavy demand in fruit and such articles of produce such as celery and potatoes. Cranberries, lettuce, cauliflower, apples and grapes advanced.

The butter market is quiet and generally unsatisfactory. The supply of strictly fancy fresh creamery is rather poor and there seems to be demand enough to absorb the offerings.

The present prices for cheese appear extreme, being higher than for many years at so early a period in the season. Still, with continued fair business, the majority of the trade appear to consider the situation healthy.

HAY AND GRAIN

The market for the week just closed has been strong and active, the demand being fully equal to the receipts. Oats closed strong, and while receipts have been large, the tracks are all cleaned up. Corn receipts are not equal to the demand, and hence all arrivals are quickly picked up. Millfeed is active and there is no change in prices. Straw receipts are very light and good stock brings top prices.

Bad Negroes With Big Guns.

In different parts of the city Saturday evening negroes occasioned excitement by flourishing revolvers. Jefferson Harris cleared Frankstown avenue in a jiffy when he exhibited a 44 caliber weapon. His courage oozed out when he appeared and he was fined $25 by Magistrate Negley yesterday morning. About the same time Paul Leonard threatened to shoot up the city near Fifth avenue and Atwood street. He drew a similar line.

LIVERPOOL PRICES WEAKEN WHEAT MARKET

Corn and Oats Hold Their Own but May Option Takes a Little Drop.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Lower prices for wheat at Liverpool had a weakening effect today on the market here. At the close wheat for May delivery was off 5c. Corn, oats and provisions are practically unchanged.

The wheat market was inclined to weakness the entire day. At the opening the May option was off ⅛@¼c to 92@92¼c, sold 92¼c to 93¼c. December was down ⅛@¼c to 88@88⅛c to 88¾c. The initial decline followed cablegrams telling of a weak feeling manifested in the wheat market at Liverpool. As a result the volume of trading for the day was small. Commission houses were the principal sellers early in the session. A leading bull was credited with moderate sales of the December delivery. Throughout the session prices fluctuated within a range of 1c. For May the lowest point of the day was reached at 89¼c. December sold off to 88½c. During the last few minutes of trading there was a slight spurt on the reported chartering of vessels here to ship to Buffalo 250,000 bushels of No. 2 red winter wheat. The market, however, closed easy, with May at 89¾@89¾c. Final quotations on December were at 88⅞c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 348,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,108,000 bushels, compared with 1,158,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 776 cars, against 884 cars last week and 786 cars a year ago.

Weakness of wheat had a depressing effect on the corn market early in the session. Slight declines occurred on moderate sellings by commission houses. Later, however, the loss was all regained on demand from bull leaders. A temporary lull in export demand was a bearish influence. Reports of damage by wet weather had a strengthening effect. The market closed steady, with prices at about the highest point of the day. December opened ⅛c lower at 45⅝c, sold between 46⅛c and 46¼c and closed at 46c. May ranged between 46¼c and 46⅝@46⅝c and closed at 46⅜c. Local receipts were 290 cars, with 42 cars of contract grade.

Sentiment in the oats pit was bearish as a result of the weakness of wheat. The volume of trading was very small, business being confined chiefly to pit traders. Cash and export demand showed signs of abatement. December opened ⅛@¼c lower at 30c, sold up to 30⅛c and closed at 30@30⅛c. Local receipts were 271 cars.

Provisions were easier on selling of lard by a leading packer. Predictions of a liberal run of hogs for next week caused somewhat of a bearish feeling among pit traders. At the close May pork was unchanged at $12.67½. Lard was off 2½c at $6.85. Ribs were down a shade at $6.72½.

EXILE GIVEN OVATION.

Paul Deroulede Returns to France and Will Probably Be Re-Elected to the Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Paul Deroulede, the founder of the League of Patriots, arrived in Paris this afternoon after an exile of six years. He was met at the station by a large crowd which gave him an enthusiastic welcome and escorted him through the city singing the "Marseillaise." Careful precautions had been taken to prevent disorder.

It is expected that M. Deroulede will be re-elected to the chamber of deputies and further that he will take an important part as a Nationalist in the proceedings of that body.

BOURSE IS IRREGULAR.

Monetary Situation Is Still Giving Rise to Uneasiness in the French Market.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(Special Cable.)—The bourse has been irregular under varying impulses given by the Russian news. The monetary situation is still giving rise to uneasiness, the open market discount rate being 3 per cent and money rather scarce.

The German bank rate increase had no effect here. The French rentes advance to over par is attributed to covering orders of the big bear account. Russian bonds are fairly well held.

No. 4

When the widow of the testator is made executrix it often happens that she has not the business training necessary to safely and judiciously settle the estate and she must depend upon a friend or agent to take the burden of responsibility. Usually she does not wish the position. If a member of the family is appointed there is always the possibility of bad feeling resulting.

This Company never delegates its work to untried or inefficient men. It always has the benefit of experienced officers and employes and is absolutely impartial in its management of estates.

ISRAEL'S GIFTS TO ALL NATIONS

WORLD AS A FOOTBALL FIELD

Under the theme "Forward," the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy delivered his first Sunday lecture in the fifth series conducted under the auspices of the Reform Congregation Rodelph Shalom, in Carnegie Music hall, Allegheny, yesterday morning. The hall was decorated with flowers and plants and the attendance was very large. These lectures are to continue each Sunday morning until May and are open to the general public.

Rabbi Levy devoted his talk yesterday morning to illustrating his contention that the Jew has been excelled in every branch of the world's work excepting religion. In conclusion, he likened the world to a football field. He took occasion to answer criticisms which have been launched against the Sunday movement, both within and without the ranks of Israel, and asking his congregation to throw its influence on the side of religion, said in part:

Endures All for Faith.

The service of Israel is religious. Born to a religious mission, consecrated to a religious end, having endured all, suffered all for the sake of religious opinion, the Jewish people could, by turning their backs on their fathers' faith, escape the awful demonstrations of malevolence and hate with which the world so frequently pays tribute to Israel's faithfulness. But there is within the Jewish people a sense of fidelity which more than ever in the hour of oppression and persecution manifests itself, and which in the day of evil rises superior to personal advantage and selfish motive. It is the triumph of the highest idealism over the rankest and the basest and the meanest brute force which marks the faithful adherents of Israel to his fathers' God.

Nor is this indeed surprising when we remember that while none will challenge the mental ability of the people of Israel, it is true that the intellectual superior of even the most masterful genius in Israel has always existed at some time or other, except in one direction.

Israel gave Antokolsky, the great sculptor, but the world gave a Canova, a Michael Angelo, a Praxiteles. Israel gave a Meyerbeer, but the world gave its Handel and its Bach and its Wagner. Israel has given poets and painters, artists and writers, scholars and statesmen, but I think it will be invariably found that the greatest master in the world's history in each of these directions was not of the house of Israel.

But in one sphere the Jew is supreme, in one realm the Jew is the master—the realm of religion. Here the world must come to Israel, here the world is Israel's debtor. For sacred literature, for inspired and inspiring exemplars, for master, teacher and prophet—for the very God worshiped throughout Christendom, the world must come to Israel. It was Israel's experience that revealed these to the world, and it is in the sphere of religion that Israel has rendered the world the most distinguished services.

Gifts to the World.

The world's greatest book, the Bible, is the Jews' book. The world's greatest prophets are the brethren of the Jew, sons of Israel's covenant. The revered man of Galilee, Christianity's master, was of the house of Israel. Take away from Christendom the contributions made by the people of Israel and chaos would take the place of civilization. This being so, we are under the greatest obligation to remain true to that view of religion that shall the most speedily introduce on earth the era of light, the day of blessed prediction, when truth will prevail and right be established and justice be done, and mercy be exercised among all.

Alas, that so many err in their view of religion. Alas, that so many should imagine that creed and dogma can, with God, take the place of manhood and character. Alas, that so many should still feel that hysteria and emotionalism are manifestations of the religious sentiment. For to this day there are millions who regard religion as some spiritual morphine, some moral sedative which may dull the racked nerve and render it insensible to the world's pain.

The world is not a hospital, nor is it a lovers' corner. It is a football field on which every element of aggression, craft, selfishness, brute force, interference are brought into play. We are in the contest to gain the goal or to make a touchdown, outwitting the neighbor, tripping the successful contestant, nay, worse, in which even positive infringements of the rules of the game are constantly noticed, in this era of open contract and free competition. Ours then, the duty to stand for that view of religion which demands justice, as the fundamental virtue on which the edifice of society is to be reared. Ours then, the duty to go forward in spite of consequence, without fear of captious critics, without regard for the world's cavilling—forward in the light, seeking the right, in the name of God, for the help of man.

RUSSIA RESPONSIBLE FOR CENTURY'S TRAGEDY

The tragedy of the century is being enacted in Russia. The Sunday Gazette tells all about it. The state, county and cities are stirred to leave the political situation. The Sunday Gazette lays before its readers all of the issues for which the contending parties are battling and relates the most recent incidents in the close of the campaign. The news of Pittsburgh was extensive and diversified on Saturday. Every iota of what occurred is found in the columns of Pittsburgh's great Sunday journal. It was, in a word, a gazeteer of information; a chronicler of fact; a budget of fun; a relator of fiction which would indeed be hard to duplicate. In searching for that which would please its thousands of Sunday readers The Sunday Gazette ransacked the universe and brought back to its readers just what they were waiting for.

MIGHTY CROWDS ATTEND SERVICES

Revival Draws to Theater and Church Audiences Which Tax Their Capacities.

CAUSES FOR UNITED ACTION

Despite the rain nearly 4,000 yesterday attended the second Sunday service conducted during the revival in progress among the Christian congregations of Western Pennsylvania. The main service was held in the Nixon theater and long before the hour set for the opening 500 people gathered in front of the building. An overflow meeting, held in the old Third Presbyterian church, filled that building as well.

The principal speaker in the theater was the Rev. Dr. Herbert L. Willett, professor of Semitic languages in the University of Chicago, who gave a presentation of why all churches should be united on the gospel. The Rev. John G. Slayter of the East End church presided, while the Rev. Fred M. Gordon of the Knoxville church led in the congregational singing.

In the old Third church the Rev. O. H. Phillips of Braddock presided; the Rev. W. T. Brooks of Ladoga, Ind., made the address, and his brother, the Rev. A. K. Brooks, led in the singing. Mrs. Princess Long, of Paris, Ky., as well as the Netz Sisters' quartet, sang at both places. Before the audience in the theater adjourned, the Rev. Dr. C. R. Scoville, one of the evangelists, asked those in the audience who belonged to other denominations to rise, and half the audience responded. Dr. Willett in his address said in part:

Climax of Evangelistic Effort.

This great gathering today is perhaps the most notable in the history of the Disciples of Christ. It marks the climax of a great evangelistic effort and the beginning of a new type of evangelism among this people. We are here as Disciples of Christ, and yet not as mere lovers of a denomination. We are seeking everywhere to make known our plea, not that we may increase our churches merely, but that we may emphasize the great principles of the gospel as we understand it to be needed and sought.

The different denominational movements in the history of the church have been in response to the work of the spirit of God in the hearts of His people. Each has stood for some neglected truth in the gospel. Luther proclaimed the open Bible and justification by faith. Calvin emphasized the sovereignty of God as over against papal authority and domination. The Church of England broke away from the rule of Rome while still maintaining the stately services to which it had been accustomed. Wesley advocated the revival of spiritual vision and the sense of responsibility in each individual. The Independents and Congregationalist pleaded for freedom from the tyranny of Archbishop Laud's proscriptive policy. The Baptists insisted upon obedience to the scriptures and liberty of conscience. Each of these came in its due time as the result of Providential leading, and each has contributed of itself to the enrichment of the entire church.

Similar is the work of the Disciples of Christ. When the devisive tendency had run its course and men were beginning to feel the mistake and sin of disunion, this people arose with its insistence upon the unity of all believers in Christ, and obedience to Christ alone on the part of all believers.

Has Had Phenomenal Growth.

The growth of this people has been nothing less than phenomenal, nor is this growth a matter for selfish or denominational congratulation. It is the index of that growing sentiment among Christians of all names that the matters of faith and obedience should be reduced to their lowest terms consistent with loyalty to Christ, and on these few essentials the church should be united.

The story of the Disciples is coincident with the growth of religious sentiment in all the churches. Religious progress generally takes one of three phases, and sometimes includes all three. These three phases are revolution, restoration and renewal, or otherwise phrased, protest, primitivism and progress. The first of these is illustrated in the effort of to get away from a condition regarded as undesirable.

Luther, Calvin and Knox snapped the cords that bound them to their church relationship. Similar was the spirit of protest abroad in the church during the past century. Against the loss of power, the proclamation of an absentee God, the sense of the remoteness of Christ, the neglect of the Bible, the advocacy of unscriptural methods of conversion, the assumption of a priestly order in the church, and the divisions that have sprung up among the people of God, there was necessity of a vigorous and urgent protest. If the Disciples of Christ were foremost in this revolutionary effort it was perhaps because they were freer and more sensitive to the dangers involved.

What Disciples Stand For.

The three things for which the Disciples have stood are the evangelical veities of all believers, the lordship and saviourhood of Jesus. His authority, His redemptive work and His exampleship. This was the primitive faith. Men believed in Him and not in a creed or system. The primitive ordinances were held as alone essential to Christian life. Baptism was the open declaration of faith in Him, that form of obedience which set the believer in the ranks of defenders of the faith. The Lord's Supper was the feast of memory and love, practiced weekly by the apostles and left as a loving service for future generations of the saints. The beauty and simplicity of these practices have made them precious in the life of the church.

God turns a leaf in human history every now and then; notably every 2,000 years a great leaf has been turned in the history of the kingdom of God. After two millenniums came Abraham, then two more, and Jesus appeared. May we not hope that the third great epoch may soon be ushered in and another leaf turned on which shall be read: "The people of God are one." Even in India today Christians are united so far as they are Christians in deed. Then once the issue is set in the midst, and the church sees naught but Him alone, then this day of fruitfulness and power will dawn.

CHURCH IS REOPENED.

Mt. Washington Methodist Episcopal church, which has twice been visited by fire in two years, was reopened yesterday and the third organ to which Andrew Carnegie has contributed within four years was dedicated.

In March, 1903, the church was totally destroyed by fire and last January a fire of suspicious origin again destroyed a large portion of the building, and totally consumed a handsome pipe organ. Yesterday morning the church, which has been rebuilt, was formally reopened, and a new organ dedicated by the Rev. Dr. C. W. Smith, editor of the Christian Advocate. In the afternoon the pastor, the Rev. Dr. L. S. Wilkinson, presided at a fraternal meeting, during which addresses were made by former pastors and neighboring clergymen. In the evening the sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. James Mechem, presiding elder of the Pittsburgh district.

TO GIVE POPULAR TALKS.

Series of Interesting Addresses to Be Held in Church.

A series of popular talks has been arranged to take place in the McCandless Avenue Presbyterian church this week, beginning this evening when the pastor, the Rev. D. H. McKee, will speak on "Silas Marner."

Tomorrow evening the Rev. Dr. W. F. Brown will deliver an address, "Roaming in Rome;" Wednesday evening Dr. Henry D. Fulton will discuss "How to Keep Well." Thursday evening the Rev. Dr. S. B. McCormick, chancellor of the Western University, will talk on "The Ideal Citizen," and Friday evening an address on "Things Worth While" will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. S. A. Martin, president of the Pennsylvania College for Women. No admission will be charged.

Irwin Reformed Church Reopens.

IRWIN, PA., Nov. 5.—(Special.)—The Reformed church today reopened, following the completion of a large annex to be used especially for Sunday school purposes, and renovation of the whole interior. In the new Sunday school room there are two memorial windows, one the gift of William Eiseman, in memory of his aunt, Miss Lucinda Gross, and one from Miss Rebecca Bowser, in memory of her mother, Mrs. Mary McCready Bowser.

NO REFORM POSSIBLE UNTIL WOMAN VOTES

"There will never come permanent municipal reform until woman is permitted to vote. Not because she has higher ideals than man, but because she is an integral part of the nation," was the declaration made by the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Blodgett to his congregation in the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, last evening, during his sermon on "The Young American in Politics."

His text was taken from Ex. xviii:21, "Moreover, thou shalt provide out of all the people, able men—such as fear God; men of truth, hating unjust gain," and he said in part:

Men of this type are needed in office today. The young American will put him there. The American is the highest type of man and the nation must be the highest type in the galaxy of nations, and if it is, there must be purity in men and parties and in the enactment and administration of laws. The symmetrical young American is religious—he is patriotic. Patriotism and piety go well together. We need to take religion into business and politics, and business and politics into religion.

Politics, correctly interpreted, is the science of government—not of getting office. A good politician is a man that is honest and not selfish. There are some things the young American will be called upon to combat because they are not American. The saloon is one. It is the product of the old world.

The parochial school is not American. You must not conflict the Christian college with this. The public school must be protected. No one should be permitted to teach in the public school who has not been educated there. The parochial school aims first to make good churchmen and not citizens.

Then came the Russo-Japanese war, during which China remained quiescent. As an indication that the Chinese are a peace-loving people, several intelligent men, in reply to my inquiries, said: "We are quite satisfied to keep out of this row between Japan and Russia. We 'scrapped' enough in the Boxer year to do us for a while."

Japan's repeated victories received the applause of China. Before the war had closed Japanese merchants and travelers were welcomed everywhere in China. At the earnest invitation of many governors, well educated Japanese were employed as provincial capitals as confidential but un-official advisers in matters of education, agriculture, mining and international relations.

I venture a personal opinion that through these bureaus of information were obtained many hints which led up to the anti-American boycott. For this Japan must not be held responsible, for she is not bound to maintain a censorship over the opinions of her subjects, if the truth concerning our injustice toward Chinese immigrants thus leaked out we have only ourselves to blame.

The strides made by Christianity in China during the past four years have been phenomenal. In the province of Shantung it is safe to say that 3,000 converts have been added to the rolls of the Protestant churches within a year, making a total of 18,000 members in spite of the reverses of the year 1900. Thirty-four years ago there were none. The presbytery which I represent has a membership of over 4,000, including 22 organized churches of which 12 are self-supporting and are under the care of well-educated Chinese pastors.

By virtue of the fact that Christianity has thus far had a monopoly of higher education, governors and magistrates are compelled to seek aid, in their newly-founded colleges, from the ranks of the Christian graduates of our mission colleges. The great provincial colleges founded by the governors of Shantung and Shansi have many Chinese Christian professors on their teaching staffs, and have several, at their head, a Christian American educator and an English missionary to give direction to the institutions.

TO BUILD BIG SAW MILL.

Baltimore & Ohio Awards Contract for One at Glenwood—Other Improvements Are Planned.

Among improvements planned by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for the near future is a big saw mill at Glenwood, which will cost $14,000. The contract for its erection was recently awarded to W. A. Liller of Keyser, W. Va. Other contracts which have just been awarded by the company are as follows:

To W. J. Marson & Co., Akron, O., signal towers, coal and oil houses at Flushing tunnel, Ravenna, Loweliville, Nova and Kent, O.; to J. Walsh & Son, Baltimore, two signal towers at Washington, one for each of the "Y" connections; they are to be two stories, the first of brick and the second of copper facing, and they with those in Ohio, will cost about $40,000; Holbert & Spedden, Fairmount, W. Va., four-stall engine house and ash pit at Bridgeport, O., $10,000; Niedermeier & Restle, Youngstown, O., four-stall engine house, ash pit, coal tiople and turn-table, at Haselton, O., $15,000.

FOOTBALL AND CHRISTIANITY.

Referee of Yale-Columbia Game Points Godly Moral from Players' Efforts to Reach Goal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(Special.)—Dr. J. C. McCracken, a former captain of the football team of the University of Pennsylvania, who was referee of the Yale-Columbia game last Saturday, applied the principles of the great game to the Christian life at this afternoon's prayer meeting of the Harlem branch of the Y. M. C. A. in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street.

"Football is the greatest game ever invented," said Dr. McCracken. "In the fight of the players to reach goal we have an illustration of the fight every man has to make to lead a good and truly successful life."

WILL RESUME SMOOT CASE.

Senator Burrows Says the Committee is Willing to Hear New Testimony When Congress Meets.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Senator Burrows of Michigan, the chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, who has arrived in Washington for the coming session of congress, said tonight that he expected to have the case of Senator Reed Smoot of Utah disposed of before the term ends. Senator Smoot's seat is being contested on the ground that he is a member of the Mormon hierarchy.

A great mass of testimony was taken at the last session of congress and it was generally understood that each side had completed its case. Senator Burrows said that if it is desired to present further testimony the committee is willing to hear it. He stated that the committee will consider the case immediately after the reorganization of the senate committees incident to the meeting of a new congress and the filling of the vacancy caused by the retirement of Senator McComas of Maryland.

CONDITIONS IN CHINA SINCE BOXER TROUBLE

Missionary Who Went Through Riots Tells of the Reaction Which Has Followed.

The Rev. Frank H. Chaliant, a missionary stationed in Shantung province, China, who is here on a furlough, and who narrowly escaped death while in China during the Boxer uprising, delivered an address in the Forty-third Street Presbyterian church yesterday morning on "Conditions in China Since the Boxer Outbreak." He told of the causes leading to the outbreak and the counteraction that has set in since the uprising was put down, and said in part:

Boxerism, whatever may have been its incipient cause, had its culmination in a fanatical crusade against all encroachment of foreign influence in China—political, commercial, social and religious. Foreign legations at Pekin, mercantile and engineering enterprises, buildings of foreign architecture, whether belonging to aliens or to wealthy Chinese; foreign merchandise, missionary plants and even the imperial railways and telegraph lines, were considered by the Boxers as fit objects of attack.

After this storm had subsided a reaction set in, characterized by an unprecedented demand for western education and general enlightenment. The presses of Shanghai and elsewhere, both mission and commercial, have been unable to supply the demand throughout the empire for books and tracts on science, travel, political economy and religion.

The prestige of the foreign resident rose to such a premium that the utmost precautions have been necessary on the part of missionaries to prevent the mercenary and unworthy class from flocking into the churches. Even Boxer sympathizers were among the number, many of whom, after a long probation, proved themselves sincere in their new course of pro-Christian conduct.

Then came the Russo-Japanese war, during which China remained quiescent. As an indication that the Chinese are a peace-loving people, several intelligent men, in reply to my inquiries, said: "We are quite satisfied to keep out of this row between Japan and Russia. We 'scrapped' enough in the Boxer year to do us for a while."

Japan's repeated victories received the applause of China. Before the war had closed Japanese merchants and travelers were welcomed everywhere in China. At the earnest invitation of many governors, well educated Japanese were employed as provincial capitals as confidential but un-official advisers in matters of education, agriculture, mining and international relations.

ASSUME PASTORATES.

Two New Clergymen Occupy Local Pulpits as Regular Ministers.

Two new ministers assumed local pulpits yesterday. The Rev. Dr. Samuel Callen, late of Waterloo, Ia., preached morning and evening in the Fourth Presbyterian church, Evaline street, the pulpit from which the Rev. Dr. William P. Schrom recently resigned after a 19 years' pastorate.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Boston of Steubenville, who was called to the pulpit of the Park Avenue Presbyterian church, assumed that pastorate yesterday. He succeeds the Rev. H. B. Hummell, who resigned because of failing health. Both new pastors were received by large congregations.

CROUPLENE

The physicians and druggists marvel when told of the curative properties of N. C. Crouplene—certainly it is the 20th century wonder.

Let us illustrate: Child awakens with a severe attack of croup. A dose of N. C. Crouplene is given, and the little one is immediately relieved, quicker than it takes to write it. Then it is so harmless. A pure vegetable compound, not only cures and prevents croup, but strengthens and imparts good health to your children.

There are no healthier children on earth than those who take Crouplene.

Mothers, try one small bottle. Every mother who has given us a testimonial always says, "We would not be one night without it."

Thousands of bottles sold. We have never heard of its having once failed.

Croup is a dangerous disease. If not quickly attended to, leads to serious results.

Don't put it off—get it now. You want it handy when you need it.

N. C. Crouplene is prepared by Registered Pharmacists, who, after a thorough examination by the State Pharmaceutical Examining Board, were granted a certificate giving them the right to practice their profession.

OFFICIAL—ALLEGHENY.

(No. 139.)

AN ORDINANCE—Granting unto the O'Hara Street Railway Company, the municipal consent to construct and operate its line of street railway along and over the Pittsburgh and Freeport road in the township of O'Hara, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, along and in front of the Allegheny City Poor farm.

Whereas, The O'Hara Street Railway Company is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the construction and operation of a line of street railway upon certain streets and highways in said commonwealth; and

Whereas, The city of Allegheny is the owner of a certain property abutting on the said Pittsburgh and Freeport road, situate in the township of O'Hara, Allegheny county, commonly known as the Allegheny City Poor farm; and

Whereas, The said O'Hara Street Railway Company desires to procure the consent from the said city of Allegheny, for the construction and operation of its line along and over the said Pittsburgh and Freeport road along and in front of the said Allegheny City Poor farm; now therefore

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the said city of Allegheny in select and common council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same, That the O'Hara Street Railway Company is hereby granted the consent of the said city of Allegheny to construct and operate its line of street railway over the said Pittsburgh and Freeport road along and in front of the said Allegheny City Poor farm property, as situate in the township of O'Hara, county of Allegheny, and state of Pennsylvania, together with the necessary turnouts, switches and the usual poles, wires, rail connections and other things necessary and required to operate said street railway.

Sec. 2. The said street railway company in the construction of its line of street railway along and in front of the said Allegheny City Poor farm property, shall use rails weighing not less than seventy-three pounds to the yard, the said rails to be girder rails of the Johnston pattern, permitting the use of the same by ordinary vehicles, and shall pave said roadway between the tracks and one foot on each side thereof, with a vitrified paving brick, and macadamize the balance of the said road to the extent occupied by it for eight feet on each side of the paved portion of said roadway, and thereafter maintain and keep in good order and repair, its said track or tracks and the brick paving to the extent of one foot on the outside of the outside rails, so long as it uses and occupies the said portion of such highway.

Sec. 3. The said street railway company shall remove all snow and other debris from the portion of said road occupied by it, at its own cost and expense, and place no snow or other debris outside of the tracks of the said company, on a portion of said roadway.

Sec. 4. The O'Hara Street Railway Company shall commence work on its said road within one year and complete the same within two years from the date of this ordinance.

Ordained and enacted into a law in councils this the 26th day of October, A. D. 1905.

JOHN C. OLIVER,
President Pro Tem. of Select Council.

Attest:
LAFAYETTE WILLS, City Clerk.
SAMUEL McELROY,
President Common Council.

ROBERT DILWORTH, City Clerk.
Mayor's Office, City of Allegheny, Pa., October 28, A. D. 1905. The above ordinance examined and approved.

JAMES G. WYMAN,
Mayor.
